TAFT AND BRYAN FOR CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY

The Literary Digest says the solicitude of Messrs. Taft and Bryan for the success of a bill to compel publicity of campaign contributions prompts several editors to rise and remark that the desired publicity can very easily be secured by these gentlemen themselves, if they are the candidates, without any act of congress, by a word to their campaign managers. And the editors of the New York Post, World and Sun suggest that if they feel that way about it, they might make a good beginning by telling how much their campaigns for the nominations have cost—something that the people would like to know.

It all began with a telegram from Mr. Bryan to Mr. Taft a few weeks ago suggesting that as leading candidates in our respective parties we join in asking congress to pass a bill requiring publicaion of campaign contributions prior to election." In reply Mr. Taft sent Mr. Bryan a copy of a letter he had written on April 30 to Senator Burrows, chairman of the senate committee on privileges and elections, in which he declares himself very "strongly in favor of the passage of the bill in question," stating his belief "that it would tend greatly to the absence of corruption in politics if the expenditures for nomination and election of all candidates, and all contributions received and expenditures made by political committees could be made public, both in regard to state and national politics." Whereat Mr. Bryan declares himself very much "gratified."

Congress failed to pass the bill, however, and the matter is left as before. It is now up to the candidates themselves.

All the country towns throughout the state are figuring on celebrating on the Glorious Fourth of July. After the smoke and noise and enthusiasm are over there will be the usual injuries and fatalities to chronicle. But Young America demands it and we must celebrate, no matter what the consequences may be. Perhaps the lesson in patriotism is worth it, but sometimes we have our serious doubts.

We are not quite clear just how many battleships Admiral Evans really wants. One account says forty-eight and another nineteen. It is more than likely that he is asking for plenty. However, it is congress that has the say in the matter, and that honorable body has passed on the subject, for the present at least. We will get two—no more, no less.

Andrew Carnegie places [illegible] at the head of all our metals. Then he drags out copper as the next. This will be news to a great many of us who have been laboring under the delusion all along that gold was the stuff. Thus it is that another popular belief has been knocked [illegible] smithereens.

Wu Ting Fang said, in a [illegible] commencement address, that there are many points of similarity in the Chinese and the American character, and he wasn't speaking humorously either. Strange that close observation of the Chinamen who have come among us has never revealed any of them.

Louisiana also seems disposed to put the shackles on the race-track gamblers. One branch of the legislature has passed an anti-gambling bill by a vote of 57 to 20, and it is said to be certain to go through the [illegible]. After a while all the [illegible] will be driven into the [illegible] corner.

They call those big lumbering [illegible] that are dragged along in processions "floats," and it generally takes from four to six dray horses to keep them moving. Seems as if "drags" would be a more appropriate name.

We trust that the newly incorporated "Eliminators" [illegible] of New York to provide an ideal [illegible] New York to provide an ideal life through smoothing [illegible] allowed—it seems to be.

Pittsburg society girls [illegible] more modest or less [illegible] they have been painted. A [illegible] of them refused to wear the new "sheath" gowns in an amateur theatrical performance.

Right now, before the campaign opens, is the time for both parties to take steps to protect the innocent public by establishing a joint commission for the conservation of hot air.

Fairbanks declines to take second place. Perhaps he is aware that the White House O. K. has not been stamped upon the tender of the place.

Why does it always rain on clean-up day?

Mississippi chivalry can go no further than the action of the feudist when he refused to shoot back when he discovered that his mortal wound had been inflicted by a lady feudist.

Reduced to every-day English, Colonel Watterson's political working motto is: "Let's all get together and try to lick the other fellows before we start to knifing each other."

Some men don't know a good thing when they see it. The mayor of Tampico, Mexico's most popular bathing resort, has barred American bathing suits.

So far as we know Joe Cannon has not congratulated Frank Hitchcock, though he must have looked with envy on some of Frank's autocratic stunts.

Those Republican delegates at Chicago are hearing some new things, anyway. For instance, the Lord's prayer repeated by the chaplain.

Uncle Sam having gone extensively into the real estate business in Asia, the Liberians cannot see why he should not do as much in Africa.

There is no doubt about the disappointment of the "allies" but they would have a hard time convincing anybody that they were surprised.

Anyway, the preachers at the Chicago convention understand the gravity of the situation. Their prayers are unusually long and fervent.

While the rubbish of the town is being cleaned up, don't overlook the billboard at the depot.

MANY PHONES OUT AT PENDLETON

Owing to the fact that the saloons of Pendleton are to go out of business on July 1, about forty telephones have been ordered-out at that time. When Eugene went "dry" two years ago ninety telephines were taken out, but within six weeks the company had gained back that number and within two months over 120 new phones had been installed in Eugene, so Manager Marston is not alarmed at the prospect and expects to gain back more phones than are lost within a few months after prohibition goes into effect.—East Oregonian.

FRANKLIN ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.)

Franklin, June 17.—Everything is progressing nicely out in our country now.

Several people from this place attended the Monroe picnic and all report a fine time. If you want to have a good time go to Monroe.

Mrs. Frank Kirk has been on the sick list for some time, but is reported somewhat better.

Loma Fields has been at Franklin looking for a job of work. We all wish him success.

Dolph Lingo says he has visited Smithfield for the past two months and says he will continue, as prospects are good.

Harry Keeler has been on the sick list for the past few days.

Miss Millie Kirk, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Lemley, has returned to her home at Heppner.

Arthur Shove has bought him a new horse and is breaking it to work to the buggy. Wonder what this all means.

The Christian church has organized an Endeavor at this place.

Miss Anna Mounts, who intended to visit friends at Salem Friday, has had to put her visit off for a few weeks.

Misses Ada Smith, Lena Richardson and Mr. Tony Bryant visited Miss Elsie Lemley Sunday.

BIDS WANTED

Separate bids wanted for brick work, iron work, plastering, cement work, plumbing, wiring and all exterior mill work for the I. O. O. F. building on or before the 20th of June, 1908.

Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of John Hunzicker, Eugene, Oregon.

Each bidder will be required to furnish a bond of at least fifty per cent of his bid.

By order of building committee. j20
