The floor of the new depot is being laid. The work of building the cement platform is retarded on account of the rain.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hooker are preparing to move back to Eugene from Brownsville. Mr. Hooker is now in splendid health.

A good-sized crowd attended the band concert in the park last night. The rain had ceased for several hours and the air was quite warm.

A marriage license was today issued to James L. Osburn, aged 35 years, of Cherriville, Kas., and Mrs. Mattie M. Platt, aged 33, of Eugene.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. McCulloch at 382 East Fourteenth street Monday, June 22, at 3 p. m., to make arrangements to take part in the parade on July 4.

H. M. Bowers and a party of S. P. engineers, accompanied by N. L. Fitzhenry, left this morning for Hazel Dell to join Rankin's crew of surveyors already in the field.

The fifteen-minute schedule on the street car line was resumed today at noon, much to the satisfaction of the public. The cars leave the depot and the east ends of the line on the quarter hour.

A carload of the government geodetic survey outfit arrived in Eugene from the north yesterday. A crew of surveyors, J. P. Harrison in charge, will work in this vicinity for several weeks to come.

Jos Huddleston, of the Mohawk valley, today began suit in the circuit court against J. F. Spores to quiet title to 9.42 acres of land in section 34, township 16, south of range 2 west. Walton & Ness are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

The Campbell & Walker hopyard, a mile above Eugene, will not be worked for hops this season, but instead the thirty acres are being planted to potatoes, a row for each row of hops. Ten acres of this ground the year previous to planting the hopyard produced 2700 bushels of potatoes.

V. Robovsky today showed up a copy of his Austrian newspaper, which states that Jans Kubelik, the great violinist, who is an Austrian, and who appeared in a concert in Eugene last January, is now in Australia, being at Sydney on the 13th inst. T. H. Drum, a recent arrival from Red Wing, Minn., has concluded to locate here, being very much impressed with the city and surrounding country. He came to Oregon a few days ago with a number of men from Minnesota, and first landed at Salem. Mr. Drum said he told his friends that he was sorry he bought his ticket farther south than Salem, as he was very well satisfied with that city, but coming on up to Eugene, he was better pleased than ever and decided to remain here. He will send for his family. The little rain of today didn't scare him out, as it does some Easterners who arrive during the rainy season.

John Minto, of Salem, is visiting in Eugene. At the age of 86 he is enthusiastic in his interest in all progressive and educational lines. He is charmed with the advancement of Eugene in comfort and beauty, and appreciates the record made by Lane county in the recent elections. He presented his photograph to the U. of O. library, an excellent one, taken ten years ago. While waiting in the library to speak with Professor Young, he was offered the morning papers, but declined them and took from his pocket a small volume of Kipling's stories, saying that he is a great lover of reader and has for many years read for two hours a day something entertaining, just for company.

Tea is not infallible; moneyback makes amends. We are not, in the least, uneasy about the money.

THE OTHER FISH.

Perhaps it's consolation to all from whom the night has been a wide, expansive take and never get a bite. While bait is being wasted, to have this present thought--There's just as good fish in the sea as ever have been caught.

To meet a pretty maiden and fall in love with her is just as fine a thing as can to any man occur. But if he cannot win her, what charm to bear about the very fine fish in the sea that haven't been pulled out!

That line of consolation is good enough for those who from an airy distance can analyze their woes. But, getting down to cases, they want it understood that they are not out looking for something just as good.

Those who have been casehardened by going through the mill may think that any damsel who smiles would fill the bill. The disappointed lover. He doesn't care how many fine fish the sea contains.

The Despised Office.

If in carelessly glancing out of the window you happen to notice a small man clinging to the top of a conspicuous hill waving a lantern and ringing a bell and meanwhile shouting at the top of his voice, you may safely conclude that he is some prominent but modest citizen who is trying to get away from the vice presidency.

The way that office pursues some terrified men is simply awful. Do what they will--buy cigars for prospective delegates, furnish their pictures to newspaper correspondents, with brief and thrilling sketches of their self-made careers, or establish press bureaus--they cannot evade the pursuer.

It is true they do not always use the best of judgment in their precipitate flight, often stumbling right into the trap laid for them by their own salaried henchmen, and, taking all things into consideration, it is a wonder so few of them get caught.
