PORTLAND MARKET REPORT.
Improvement in industrial conditions has already been an aid to the market for raw materials and prices are showing an upward tendency. For wools the tone is considerably improved over what it was the first of the season. In this market a further advance of 1/2c a pound is being offered and paid by buyers. Purchasers are in the market for everything offered, while a short time ago during the first days of the season, they scarcely cared whether they bought or not, the price being scarcely an object.

Their butting into the market for liberal supplies is the true indication of a resumption of bullish conditions. For Willamette valley wools the trade is offering as high as 13c a pound and several sales have of late been made at this figure.

Improvement in Mohair.
With the improved tone in the wool situation the tone is being helped somewhat in mohair and several fair-sized lots have recently changed hands around 15c a pound that were held back by producers at the start of the season because of their inability to secure more than 18c. According to dealers only a small amount of mohair was really sold during the regular sales, the transactions in most instances being merely bluffs. They declare that some of the largest lots supposed to have been included in the early pool sales are now being offered.

Brief Market Notes.
Olives show an advance of 10c a gallon in bulk, owing to the reports of a very small crop in California. A year ago the crop was heavy, but for the previous two years a very light production was shown.

Cantaloupes are lower, with prices on the large crates ruling from $2 to $2.75.

There is a slight increase of arrivals of local cabbage. Market lower, quality the best.

Chittim bark is inclined to show a somewhat firmer tone than heretofore, several cars being sold by local dealers yesterday to eastern manufacturers. Buying price steady at 4c.

Portland Livestock Market.
With small arrivals of hogs for the day that branch of the local livestock market is holding steady and China fats are being quoted as high as $5.75 @ $6. There is but a nominal call for stockers and feeders and the advice of sellers is not to ship.

While quite liberal arrivals were shown in the medium steers cattle market today, steers remain at previous quotations. For the market is easier and the price is down 25c to $3.50 @ 3.75. Run of sheep in the yards was liberal during the 24 hours, a total of 1,165 head being received compared with 582 a year ago, 900 two years ago, and none three years ago this date.

A year ago today all lines were easy at the general decline of 25c, which took effect the previous day. Official yard values today:
Hogs—Best stuff, $6.25; Chiffa fats, $5.75 @ 6; stockers and feeders—(—).
Cattle—Fancy eastern Oregon steers, $4; medium, $3.50 @ 3.75; best cows, $3.75 @ 3.25; bulis and stags, $2 @ 2.50.
Sheep—Best wethers, $3.75; spring lambs, weighing 75 pounds, $4.50 @ 4.75; mixed, $3 @ 3.50.

Hop Market Outlook.
Herman Klaber does not think there is much chance of good prices in the hop market this fall as the production, even with the decrease is likely to exceed the requirements of the brewing trade.

"Estimates of the decrease in the American consumption of beer in 1908," he said, "range from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 barrels. This means that the consumption of hops in the United States will be reduced to nearly 200,000 bales. In addition to that the brewers are carrying a very heavy surplus, as they have been able to buy at the lowest prices on record. A good many brewers are going into the 1908 crop with enough hops to last them fully half a year, and many will not require any hops at all. The prohibition sentiment having become so strong, brewers are pursuing a hand-to-mouth policy in their buying, not knowing their position, and the chances are they will not buy more until they actually require them. "The prospects are anything but cheerful and I can see no improvement in sight, especially if the growers go ahead with their yards and try to produce all the hops they can. The only salvation for the farmer and his 1908 crop is the chance of a failure in England, but the latest reports from abroad are that they will have a normal yield per acre."

Poultry Market a Shade Firmer.
There is a little better feeling in the poultry market, but prices have not been advanced yet, as receipts continue large.

Receipts of eggs steadily decrease, but the demands are backward and prices are barely steady.

There were heavy arrivals of cheese yesterday from Tillamook and the market has a week aspect.

No new developments are reported in the butter trade.

Reduction in English Hop Acreage.
A cable received from London yesterday said that the British government's hop acreage bulletin showed 4500 acres of hop land plowed up since the 1907 harvest. This brings the present acreage in England to about 40,000 acres.

Portland Quotations.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Eugene, Oregon, June 22, '08.
We, the undersigned physicians of Eugene, being conversant with the use of anti-toxine in the treatment of asthma, submit for the information of the public the following statement:

The use of diptheria anti-toxine in asthma began about three years ago. The discovery of its value came about by giving the remedy to asthmatics who were also affected with diptheria. Upon recovery from diptheria, after injection with anti-toxine it was found that they were cured of asthma. Since that time the remedy has been used in hundreds of cases of asthma all over the world.

At the last meeting of the Oregon State Medical society, at Seaside, a prominent physician of Oregon read a paper on the treatment of asthma by anti-toxine wherein he cited 60 cases that he had treated without a fatality and with almost uniformly good results. In the discussion that followed a dozen or more cases were reported by prominent physicians of the state, with the same result and without a single fatality. Since that time many physicians all over the state have been using anti-toxin in the treatment of asthma, and usually with good results. It is now in common use by physicians everywhere for said disease, and the results seem to justify the treatment.

We feel that Dr. DeBar deserves no censure for the unfortunate result in the Vickers case, as in our opinion he used an authorized remedy in a manner sanctioned by a widespread professional experience.

It should be remembered that in the use of anesthetics and other most valuable remedies an occasional fatality results. Notwithstanding this, these remedies are in constant use by the most enlightened and most conservative physicians the world over.
