Princeton, June 26.—Without eulogy, sermon or song, with the simple burial service of the Presbyterian church, Grover Cleveland will be buried late this afternoon in Princeton cemetery beside the ivy covered grave of his daughter, Ruth. Although President Roosevelt will be in attendance, as well as Governor Fort of New Jersey, Governor Hughes of New York, Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia, and other distinguished personages, they will not attend in an official capacity but as friends of the late ex-president. The active pall-bearers have been chosen by Mrs. Cleveland without regard to official distinction but from Mr. Cleveland's own friends and neighbors of recent years, and include the following: Mayor George B. McClellan, of New York; Commodore E. C. Bendlet, Dr. Richard Watson Gilmer, Dr. John H. Finley, Prof. Paul Van Dyke, of Princeton, graduate seminar; Prof. John Grier Hibbin and Prof. Andrew F. West, of Princeton; Paul Morton, former secretary of the navy; Prof. Howard and Bayard Stockton, trustees of Princeton University.

Only Mrs. Cleveland, her children, father and Richard, and the relatives will surround the bier. Four clergymen will officiate.

Many beautiful floral tributes are being received and letters of sympathy and telegrams in large numbers.

Cleveland, June 26.—Congressman James S. Sherman's condition is much improved. If he continues to improve, he will be permitted to leave the hospital for home next Wednesday.

After a conference with Mr. Sherman this evening, Dr. Allen, Dr. Stone and myself believe Mr. Sherman will be sufficiently recovered from his attack to leave the hospital for his home on Monday of next week.

His temperature is now 99.4 and pulse 72, respiration 20—practically normal.

The patient did not suffer from the heat of the day Tuesday, at 7 p. m. the entire night was cool and refreshing. The possibility of an immediate operation has passed.

The doctors still adhere to the opinion that the Congressman should undergo an operation for gallstones as soon as he regains his strength, as the only means to effect an absolute cure.

ALBANY GETS NEXT CONVENTION OF TEACHERS

Albany was chosen this morning for the meeting place of the Western Oregon Teachers' Association next year, at the invitation of the teachers of Linn county and the Albany Commercial Club, through their representative, Superintendent A. M. Sanders of the Albany schools. In giving the invitation, Prof. Sanders said: "Albany expects to treat the teachers as well as the people of Eugene have done, for no better treatment can be accorded. Eugene and Albany are sister cities, and Albany, as the smaller, wants everything that the larger has."

Officers of the association were elected as follows by acclamation: President W. W. Wiley of Tillamook, First Vice-President Superintendent E. T. Moores of Salem, second Vice-President Dr. H. D. Sheldon University of Oregon; Secretary L. A. Wiley, Portland; Treasurer Margaret J. Cosper, Salem. As a resident member of the executive committee, W. L. Jackson, superintendent of Linn county, was elected.

A resolution was also voted upon to raise the membership dues from fifty cents to one dollar. The method will be by ballot.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $200. It was referred to the auditing committee, as Miss Cosper, the treasurer had to leave suddenly for California. The report is not in full, there being other moneys on hand.

Superintendent R. F. Robinson of Multnomah county, delivered his annual address. He said that the first problem is how to increase the irreducible school fund. The number of pupils are increasing with great rapidity, and the fund grows little. A special committee headed by Dr. Sheldon is investigating the best means.

"The State of Oregon," he continued, "has a well articulated system of school now. We have boards and committees to make plans and to arrange means. It remains for the teachers to execute. This is strictly the teacher's problem."

Along another line the retiring president spoke of the need of extending the high schools system. The high school covers a period when the child is in need of some higher education, and still needs his home life, and should by all means remain at home.

In cities there are now trade schools, elementary agriculture, manual training departments and other advanced methods, but in the rural districts there are none of these. The problem of the high schools covering this field is to extend itself to country districts. Another problem that was discussed was what is termed the moral problem, Robinson thought that the basis of this question depended upon the reading matter the pupil read. He appealed to the teachers to by all means look after and find what the scholars read, and as far as possible to improve this field. He said, too, that children often needed direction in play, and that in cities men whose sole duties to direct the children in their pleasure time are being employed. Above all things the teacher must enter into the life of the children.

He also touched upon adult education, speaking of the University work in its correspondence schools, and approving of the methods and efforts.

Dr. Henry D. Sheldon read the findings of the committee for the report on Finance. He showed that 29 per cent of the school districts of Oregon have four months of school or less, affecting somewhere between 6,000 and 10,000 children. In continuing along the same line he said that it was safe to assume from the facts before him, that half of the rural schools had not tax levies which were of service to them in running their districts. In a general way he showed how a state tax was superior to any other for education purposes and in summarizing he presented three recommendations which were adopted.

First.—That independent districts should not be utilized any more for the unit in taxation.

Second.—That every child in the state should have at least six months schooling.

Third.—That a committee should be appointed to get the findings before the people through the press.
