KEEP PULLING TOGETHER FOR GREATER EUGENE

The extension of business men from Portland was a success, market was a great crowd, and the Fourth of July celebration was a success. These events were all pulled off in quick succession, requiring much labor and entailing considerable expense.

All this is the result of pulling together—of cultivating a local spirit of progress. Property as a result has been enhanced in value, and business has increased in spite of the slump in many lines caused by the financial fluctuation.

Without taking sides in the discussion of whether the hoodlum is more useful to society than the poet. It may be remarked that he manages to get hold of a lot more money.

Tom Watson thinks his luck is changing. He picked winners in two successive Georgia state elections but has not yet announced his choice for this year in the national field.

The Mexican military authorities are active on the theory that it is cheaper to shoot all prisoners captured than to feed them; also that the only good rebel is a dead rebel.

Well, suppose Taft has been a wholesale resigner? It's better to be a chronic resigner of office than to have to be resigned to the failure of getting one, isn't it?

It's easier, and pleasanter, to drift in the shade, and getting out in the sunshine and pulling like blazes is more likely to get you somewhere; also something.

Exclusiveness can scarcely be carried further than a Massachusetts woman who travels in an air-tight glass case to avoid breathing common air carries it.

president. This party will not cut much ice this year, but look out for them in four years from now. At the rate the prohibition idea is gaining ground, we would not be much surprised to see that party riding into power on the crest of a popular wave at that time.

Japan takes its place with the other nations of the world, so far as the United States is concerned. The peace treaty prepared by Secretary of State Root and representatives of the mikado's government has been signed by the president of the United States and the Japanese emperor, and will become operative upon being ratified by the American congress and the lawmakers of Japan.

While somebody was looking the other way, Congressman John Wesley Gaines got an amendment adopted that took some $60,000 a year away from the express companies, and when John Wesley went up for re-nomination he got it in the neck. Was it a case of cause and effect, or did it just "happen"?

Wonder if the $10,000,444 office building, 62 stories—969 feet—high, which is to be erected in New York, is not a scheme on the part of rich manufacturers to provide themselves with offices outside of the state's jurisdiction?

Anniston, Alabama, must be an extraordinarily healthy town, even if it is not listed among the health resorts. Three of its doctors are candidates for mayor. That ought to split up the undertaker vote.

In answer to the lady magazine who asks, "Why do men love old clothes?" we beg leave to say that we have known of their being loved because their owners could not get new ones.

When the fat-fryers start out for business, will they be confronted by "Let us alone" placards or open check books is a question that is beginning to loom up in certain quarters.

Heart to Heart Talks.

TO YOUNG MEN. Jan Kubelik, the violinist, has insured his left hand for $250,000. His left hand is worth that much to him, and more. Were he to lose that left hand or to suffer permanent disability by accident or disease there would be an end to his violin playing.

Just so Theodore Thomas might have insured his ears for a large sum, the marvellously sensitive drums of those ears detecting instantly the slightest discord in his great orchestra.

And so Burne-Jones could well afford to insure his eyes. Without them he could not paint a "Vampire." Those eyes take in subjective beauty and charm and make them objective. Those eyes are better educated and therefore more valuable eyes than ordinary eyes.

The world is asking of every young man today not so much "What do you know?" as "WHAT CAN YOU DO?" Can you do some one thing better than your fellows—play a violin, conduct an orchestra, paint a picture, write a book, run a locomotive, make the plans for a house or build one, till a farm, manage a store, plead a cause, diagnose a case?

The men here mentioned, you say, were born to their tasks. Possibly. But one thing is certain—they made hands, eyes, ears, valuable by ceaseless, conscientious labor.

You cannot make yourself a valuable asset by the rubbing of an Aladdin's lamp.

All the Virginia Hot Springs hotel proprietors are rooting Tafters just now, whatever they may be when voting time rolls around.

LAND FRAUD CASES (Oregonian.) The acquittal of James H. Boor is not surprising. It was, indeed, expected. The testimony failed to sustain the gravamen of the indictment.

Did not want to miss anything. Barber: "Say rum, sir?" Farmer Graball: "Don't keer 's do? Jest a sup er so."

COUNCIL WILL OPEN WATER BOND BIDS

Tonight the city council meets for the purpose of opening bids on the city's water bonds. So far City Recorder Durbin has received only one bid, but he says the mayor may have a number more of which will be opened till the council is in session.
