BUYERS AND HOW TO GET THEM

In this city every day now we see at are strangers to most of us, at are not familiar in Eugene.

A London dispatch states that a fashionable milliner, whose name is as well known in New York as in Paris and London, last week invited her clients to see a display of hats especially designed for Ascot.

The Baltimore Sun suggests that if the hat problem continues to grow in importance, the government will have to have a secretary of millinery.

The Guard has given the earliest and most complete reports of the democratic national convention, just as it did when the republicans were in session at Chicago.

Any way, both tickets are an improvement this year in not being weighted down with a money-bag candidate on the tail end.

The Salt Lake Herald wants to know why base ball is so popular with the people. The query is answered by a wise newspaper man with the suggestion that it may be because there is always a possibility of the crowd killing the umpire.

"Nothing succeeds like success" goes in politics as well as in everything else—it's human to slobber on the winner and to "cuss" the loser.

Anna Gould's fortune isn't what it was before "hubby" No. 1 made numerous dents in it, but as it still pro-beginning of Mr. Lincoln's first administration, when there were alive Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan. Van Buren and Tyler died in 1862, so that when Johnson took office there were but three ex-presidents. At the beginning of Mr. Cleveland's administration Hayes, Arthur and Grant were enjoying their retirement. Since that time the number has steadily decreased. Only ten presidents have survived their retirement from office longer than Mr. Cleveland. Millard Fillmore was an ex-president for twenty-one years, Madison and John Quincy Adams for nineteen, Van Buren for twenty-one. Mr. Cleveland's death leaves no ex-president—a situation that has arisen twice before, on the deaths of Washington in 1799 and of Johnson in 1875. During Mr. Cleveland's second term there was but one ex-president, Mr. Harrison.

Government experts say we waste 200,000,000 tons of coal every year on account of careless and improper mining methods. Much coal is left as pillars to support the roof of mines, and the upper beds are more useless because the lower strata are mined first. We leave, in short, almost 50 per cent of the coal underground. In British Columbia, on the contrary, it is stated that almost 98 per cent of the coal is mined out, because proper methods are used.

The mine-owners of this country should realize that their methods are ruinous to themselves, besides helping to deplete the nation's supply of fuel.

John Mitchell showed his good sense by declining a vice-presidential nomination. However, it is no new thing for Mitchell to show himself to be more level-headed than his advisers. That's why he ranks head and shoulders above other so-called labor leaders.

Pendleton's postoffice receipts for the past three months were $4759.70—about $2000 less than Eugene's. In point of postal business Eugene is the third city in the state, and it is moving up to second place with long strides.

Eugene is to have another market day next month. If these days could be made a regular monthly institution they would be of benefit to the farmers and draw trade to the city from a much larger area of territory.

To say the least, those Central American revolutionists are very inconsiderate to be getting busy just as the base ball season is reaching the interesting stage and the presidential campaign is about to open.

In grading circles the opinion is unanimous that the Ohio bank cashier who was caught swiping $9 should get a life-sentence and then some.

Bryan has been beaten twice for president and Kern twice for governor. Both are trying out the vaunted third-time charm.

After all is said and done, the crown for real martyrs in the cause of reform should go to women who marry—some men.

It is somewhat of a relief to the newspapermen, if no one else, to have the last of the national convention over.

The difference between the human spellbinder and the phonograph is that you can dodge the former, so he only speaks at stated times and places.

It does look fit a dime museum— but it wouldn't do to tell its father so.

ROBERT WATCHORN, IMMIGRATION EXPERT.

Robert Watchorn, who probably will become the head of the bureau for the exclusion of alien anarchists, is regarded as America's leading expert on immigration matters. During his recent visit to Italy he gave close study to the conditions which admit the lawless element to this country.

duces $1000 a day, "hubby" number 2 thinks they'll be able to scrape long somehow, and should the worst come, it will only be a matter of dropping an "e" to get at the usual thing.

John Mitchell showed his good sense by declining a vice-presidential nomination. However, it is no new thing for Mitchell to show himself to be more level-headed than his advisers. That's why he ranks head and shoulders above other so-called labor leaders.

while the latter is thrust upon you at any old place you may chance to stop for a rest.

If the greatest man is he that confers the most happiness, as many believe, the name of the late Joel Chandler Harris ("Uncle Remus") is engraved high up on the roster of the great.

Seeing the wheels go-round is about the most enjoyable show the recalled factory and mill workmen have been up against for some time. May the show have a record run and attendance.

The Eastern newspapers do not take kindly to Mr. Bryan's nomination, but we suspect that the three-time candidate is not worrying much about it.

Now, that Loeb has contracted the habit of handing out jobs, we shall not be surprised at anything that carries an Oyster Bay date line.

Br'er Bryan will have to buck up some in the numerous line, or the Taft jokes will be monopolizing all the smiles.

A LITTLE CARE NOW AND THEN.

is all that is required to keep your machine or wagon in fine running order. We will be glad to look over your rig and keep them in fine condition at a small cost. If you need repairs be sure you come to us, as we know how.

FORM ONE - MORE HABIT

YOU HAVE probably not yet formed enough "habits". It is likely that you would find the "ad-answering habit" a dividend-paying one—and one that would never lure you far away from the best thrift-created ever devised.

A habit is usually formed through yielding to natural inclination. The ad-answering habit will have to be cultivated—perhaps against present inclination, and through an effort of will.

You are not in the habit of saying "impossible," are you?
