Heart to Heart Talks.

IT IS THE RUST.
The idle machine is liable to injury no less than the machine that is in active use.

The idle machine grows rusty. Air and dampness do damage no less than wear and tear. Very soon the coating formed by the corrosion covers the bright metal. The parts become stiff. The machine has suffered injury though it has been subjected to no usage.

What is true of the machine is true of humanity.

For instance— You neglect to exercise the working parts of your body. You indulge them in idleness. They cease to be strengthened by use. They grow flabby. The working force is lessened. Neglect of continued exercise of the parts causes the entire machine of your body to run stiffly. It is the rust.

Or— You neglect to exercise the working parts of your brain machinery. Mental corrosion follows. The rust of idleness covers the parts. There is only one way to keep your mind bright. It is the way to keep the machine bright—the way of use, of employment, of exercise.

You neglect to use the moral force that is in you. There is a weakening somewhere. The moral machine begins to let down. Moral corrosion comes. Soon the parts are rusted. And so of society or government—associated humanity.

Note this: Neglect of his citizenship by the citizen weakens the working forces of government. When the caucus or the primary or the convention or the ballot box, each a working part of government, is regarded as of small importance the rust collects. Dissuse causes the machinery to work poorly. It breaks down at some point. It is the rust.

And so of the moral forces of society—dissuse of them brings the rust. Let us therefore keep our bodies from friction by systematic exercise. Our minds bright by using them. Our souls clean by working them. And, as for society, let us help to keep its working machinery bright and free from the rust that corrodes and degrades.

TRY THIS FOR DESSERT

Dissolve one package of any flavored JELL-O in one pint of boiling water. When partly congealed beat until light one cup whipped cream and three crushed macaroons. Whip all together thoroughly and pour into a mold or bowl. When cool it will jelly and may be served with whipped cream or any good pudding sauce. The JELL-O costs 10 cents per package and can be obtained at any good grocer's.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE OF GOOD HORSE SENSE

See how quietly he stands while being shod. He knows he is having a good job done. We do all kinds of horse shoeing and our charges are reasonable always. How can a horse do a good day's work poorly shod? Let us fix yours up now.

This time it is in York, Pa. If he is caught he should be made to eat the candy.

When it comes to expensive friends this West Virginia man who has just celebrated his second silver wedding anniversary is about the limit.

They are slowly but surely forcing their way into every field of endeavor. A Virginia girl has just been jugged for forging a check.

THE MAN BEHIND THE PLOW.

There's been a lot to say about the man behind the gun. And folks have praised him highly for the noble work he's done; He won a lot of honor for the land where men are free— It was him that sent the Spaniards kiting back across the sea. But he's had his day of glory, had his little spree, and now There's another to be mentioned— he's the man behind the plough.

A battleship's a wonder and an army is mighty grand, And warrin's a profession only heroes understand; There's something sort o' thrillin' in a flag that's wavin' high, An' it makes you want to holler when the boys go marchin' by; But when the shootin's over and the fightin's done, somehow We find they're still dependin' on the man behind the plow.

They sing about the glories of the man behind the gun, And the books are full of stories of the wonders he has done; The world has been made over by the fearless ones that fight; Lands that use to be in darkness they have opened up to light; When God's children snarl the soldier has to settle up the row, And folks haven't time for thinkin' of the man behind the plow.

In all the pomp and splendor of an army on parade, And through all the awful darkness that the smoke of battle made; In the halls where jewels glitter and where shoutin' men debate; In the palaces where rulers deal out honors to the great, There is not a single person who'd be doin' business now, Or have medals if it wasn't for the man behind the plow.

We're a buildin' mighty cities and we're gainin' lofty heights; We're a-winnin' lots of glory and we're settin' things to rights; We're a showin' all creation how the world's affairs should run; Future men will gaze in wonder at the things that we have done, And they'll overlook the fellow, just the same as we do now, Who's the whole concerns foundation—that's the man behind the plow.

S. E. KISER.

THE SAME OLD STANDBY.

The old-fashioned circus—the barn-raised circus—the circus that's billed as the "greatest of shows"; The dust and the din and the benches that jerk us Each time that the peanut man stands on our toes, The clowns and the freaks and the fakers that work us, The pink lemonade with the lemon skin ring, The rancid peanuts, but hurrah for the circus! The old-fashioned circus that greets us each spring!

WANT TO LIVE IN CITY.

(Albany Democrat.) A couple of men bought property in Eugene this week, paying $4,000 and $2,500 for residences, one after being in Albany. They took that city because of its paved streets and electric cars. People are hunting for that kind of a city.

the limits of the district to be included. It is really up to the property owners to do this, as the council will in the main be governed by their expressed wishes. We would not advocate overdoing the work, but there is no doubt that what has been done has greatly increased property values, more than repaying the property owners for the money expended. The point we wish to make is that this year's paving work will probably be all that will be done in Eugene for some time to come, as the paving company will not return next year or the year after for the sake of a contract covering a few blocks when it will cost them $4500 to ship their plant out and back again, including the work of dismantling and setting it up again. If there are any streets upon which there is doubt as to the wishes of the property owners, they should come to a conclusion without delay, either to pave them yet this year, or let the work go over for an indefinite period, probably for several years, or until such time as a considerable quantity can be gotten together so that contractors will find it an object to bid upon it.

Now that the Prohibitionists and Democracy and all the other great political parties have their dark horses duly paraded before the public in a solid phalanx, so to speak, let us get in and do a few stunts for the general weal of the country, before the regular autumn trip up Salt River. For with the best that can be done there'll be a full passenger list and the usual wailing by those who expected to be called and were not. It is really a bad feature of our system of government that all of us cannot be office holders. But for some reason it has been provided that some of the people must remain private citizens in order to be in a position to pay taxes for the support of those holding office.

The Salem Statesman says: "L. E. Bean, of Eugene, was among the visitors at the cherry fair yesterday. He is a candidate for speaker of the house at the next session of the legislature, and Hal Patton, who took him in charge while in town, facetiously accused him of taking advantage of the fair to make political hay while putting up a bluff as an admirer of the cherry men." Mr. Bean's selection for speaker would give splendid satisfaction in Lane county, and the "law-makers" could not make a wiser selection.

The Americans are not much as "knockers," but they have excelled all others in the hammer throw of the great Olympic games in the stadium in England, and judging from the dispatches, they have taken about all the other prizes for stunts of skill, endurance and valor that are worth the trouble to carry home. America leads the world in all things and it is a great privilege to be a free and enlightened citizen of this glorious country.

Pendleton, the most enterprising town in Eastern Oregon, will issue bonds for the purpose of bringing in water from the Blue Mountains. Gravity water systems are being installed in every live city, and Eugene at the present time is simply getting in line with the progress of the times in her efforts to secure a pure and adequate water supply.

Of course when Mr. Fairbanks, as the official representative of Uncle Sam, meets the Prince of Wales, on board the battleship Indomitable, at Quebec, he will waive his known preference for buttermilk, which is not, we believe, included in the list of royal beverages.

It must have been noticed by the observant that few editors are injured in automobile accidents. We should be delighted to say that this was owing to their superior wisdom if candor did not compel us to say that it is more likely owing to their lack of the price.

When a man reaches the stage of believing in the possibility of regulation, by law or otherwise, of what women shall wear, it's up to his friends, if he has any, to get him into the foolish house with as little noise as possible.

Don't ask fool questions, such as "Is it hot enough for you?" during dog days. The general tendency of modern juries leans strongly toward a justifiable homicide verdict in such cases.

It's the open season for the fellow who asks: "It is hot enough for you?" It makes no difference how you kill him, just so the job is surely done.

We presume that Mr. Bryan finds all the exercise he considers necessary in work on his farm, as his press agents never represent him as engaging in golf or tennis.

The human fiend who sends a girl poisoned candy has bobbed up again.
