 WEDNESDAY, JULY 22, 1908
JUST EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY LAW.

In the drinkerium of a Chicago hotel, blackguarding the high-balls and the peek-a-boo things worn by the women present, until a burly house detective came along and threw her out on the street. But at that she wasn't satisfied—she was mad because they did not arrest her.

Foxy lemon-handers, whose relatives of a Younkers girl, who had her arrested as she was about to elope with a stranger, on the ground that she was too pretty to be allowed to marry outside of the town.

And now they are saying that Senator Guggenheim of Colorado, owes his political success to a mascot; the same sort that has made other Senators, and that is vulgarly known as money.

Keep on pulling together—it's making a city of Eugene mighty fast. And pull hardest and longest, if necessary for a gravity water system with its source in the snow-capped Cascades.

The Chautauqua which can make a date for a smiling competition, with Taft and Bryan for the smilers, will have coin to barrel up.

The Lighter Side

No Compensation Necessary.
 I know a young fellow who went to work in a railroad office downtown, and the first week he was there the "boss" caught him kissing the typewriter. He glared at him and shouted: "Say, Howard, do I pay you for kissing my typewriter?" "No, sir," answered the boy, "You don't have to pay me. I'll do it for nothing."

Lucky in One Way.
 "The late Valerian Gibayedoff," said a Chicago art editor, "was one of the first American newspaper sketch artists. On that account he leaves behind him a famous name. As Gibayedoff said himself, the last time I visited him in Paris, his fame was due not to his great artistic skill, but to his luck in coming first."

"And he added with a laugh that it was always lucky to come early and avoid the rush, instancing the case of a restaurant on the Boulevard in the Latin quarter where a young poet had a large tureen of soup spilled over his coat one evening."

"The waiter, in response to the savage outcries of the poet, said good-naturedly:
 "Oh, well, you needn't alarm yourself, sir. There's no harm done. Our soup never stains after half-past 7."

"O'Brien—the doctor sez what I hev is 'insomny'."
 "O'Toole—Oh, shure. O'hev had that throibic messel, and there's only wan cure for it."
 "O'Brien—What's that? What d'ye do?"
 "O'Toole—Jusst go to sleep and furgit all about it."

The Right Place.
 A number of representatives were facetiously discussing the resources of the state of Missouri one afternoon, when McCall of Massachusetts observed to Mr. Lloyd of the first named state:
 "Lloyd, I am told that Missouri stands at the head in raising mules."
 "It seems to me," retorted Lloyd, "that is the only safe place to stand in the circumstances."

A gentleman who discovered that he was standing on a lady's train, had the presence of mind to remark:
 "Though I may not have the power to draw an angel from the skies, I have pinned one to the earth."

Try to live right and don't worry about how you are going to die—you'll die all right.

Clergyman—You can, however, comfort yourself with the thought that you made your husband happy while he lived.
 Widow—Yes, indeed! Dear Jack was in heaven until he died.—Judge.

No small store ever got to be a big one without, at some critical time, having advertised "more than it could afford."
 A store's advertising is a part of its "public service."
 It saves time of shdu hrdn rd!
 It saves the time of the shopper, and promotes thrift and carefulness in buying.
