

Summer WILL SOON Be Over

And there will be no demand for light-weight goods. Like all other sensible merchants we reduce the prices on seasonable goods as the season wanes because we want to clean them all up to make room for fall and winter stocks. You will, therefore, find many real bargains in our store--suits and furnishings for summer wear and that will be just what you want for early fall. We carry the famous hand-tailored line of Michaels, Stern & Co. clothing, every suit of which is correct as to style, pattern and workmanship. There are none better; few lines equal to them.

Light weight Underwear and all kinds of furnishings for the summer season.

If you would dress well and comfortably, come in and let us show you what we have.

You don't have to buy unless you find what suits you.

ITALIAN LOVER WREAKS AN AWFUL VENGEANCE

Rome, Aug. 11.—For tearing out his former sweetheart's tongue because she had broken her promise to remain faithful while he saved enough to support her, a traveling dentist named Francesco Vergani has been dragged to death by a horse to which he was tied by the bystanders who witnessed his vengeance. Vergani, when a youth of nineteen, fell in love several years ago with Eloise Ferrari, a girl a year his junior, and the daughter of a prosperous farmer of Ravigo Province. The girl liked him, but her parents objected that he was too young and poor to wed. Hoping to make a fortune in America, the young man took passage for New York, after making his sweetheart promise to accept no husband until he returned to claim her. The two took their vows of faithfulness in the village church, repeating together as they concluded, "May I be stricken dumb if I violate the oath I have taken."

Fortune was slower in coming to him in America than Vergani had hoped, and it was eight years before he considered himself able to support the woman of his choice in the fashion in which he thought she was entitled.

He had found employment, in the meantime, with an itinerant dentist, who, taking a fancy to the young Italian, finally made him his partner, equipped him with a smattering of dentistry, and enabled him to accumulate enough to make him, in Italy, a comparatively rich man.

Corresponding through a mutual friend, Vergani had heard regularly from his betrothed during the first six years of his exile. Then the letters suddenly ceased. The young man worried and anxious, but still confident that the girl remained true to him. He was confident, too, that had anything befallen her, his friend would have informed him.

Just as he was preparing to return home, however, he learned, a month ago in Boston, that she had married a well-to-do miller in her native village.

His love turned to hatred, Vergani hastened at once to Italy, bought one of the stage coaches from which itinerant dentistry is practiced in this country, and drove to Monselice, a village near Padua, where he arrived during fair time, gathered a crowd and performed a number of small operations, meanwhile questioning his patrons regarding his former fiancée.

As he had expected, it was not long before she and her husband appeared in the group about his coach. Himself unrecognizable in the long beard he wore, he beckoned to the woman, who, encouraged by her husband, agreed to a trial of a powder with which he had been polishing the teeth of several of the villagers.

Catching up a pair of forceps as she opened her lips, he seized and tore out a large part of her tongue, while the crowd looked on, frozen with horror. Then, as the agonized husband dashed forward and caught his fainting wife in his arms, a rush was made for the coach. The crowd's first instinct was plainly to tear him to pieces. As they tore him from the coach, however, someone shouted: "Tie him to his horse and let it drag him."

The suggestion met with instant approval. One of the horses was unfastened from the coach, Vergani was bound to its tail, and the animal, already frightened and rearing, was lashed to a gallop. The victim of the mob's vengeance was dragged nearly two miles before the runaway animal was stopped. Vergani was then almost beyond recognition. The object of his vengeance probably will not recover.

HAIRMAN IS AWAY FROM THE BUSY WORLD

Klamath Falls, Or., Aug. 10.—E. H. Harriman has gone into exile and today Pelican lodge is shut out from communication with the general public. Mr. Harriman made an excellent impression while here and the members of the chamber of commerce and others found him a most approachable man.

Mr. Harriman showed a keen interest in affairs in the Klamath country, especially in the kind of horses raised here. He spoke in the courthouse park to a large number of people, and judging from his reception Klamath county feels kindly toward him.

Mr. Harriman said that Klamath Falls will have railroad transportation early in the spring of 1909, and the news was good, coming from the head of the Southern Pacific and O. R. & N. systems.

BOB POOLE ON RAMPAGE AND FINED $20

AFTER HAVING BEEN PLACED IN JAIL HE CAME NEAR GETTING OUT BY PUNCHING A HOLE THROUGH ROOF

Bob Poole, a painter, was arrested last evening by Officers Albert and Arthur Baker, for disorderly conduct, and after spending the night in jail he was fined $20 in the police court this morning. Poole, who lives near the Bakers out in the southwestern part of the city, became drunk and was creating a disturbance. The officers threatened to arrest him if he did not be quiet, whereupon Poole secured an axe and dared the officers to arrest him. They did it, however, without any trouble, and brought him down town and locked him up in the city jail. He came near making his escape and would have gained his liberty had not Fred Callison, one of the night policemen, discovered his attempts in time. Poole had punched a hole through the ceiling of the jail and was in the act of punching a hole through the thin shingle roof when he was discovered. Callison went up to the meeting of the city council, which was in session then, and told Chief of Police Farrington of the occurrence. The chief went down and locked the prisoner in one of the iron cells. He pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct this morning and was assessed $20, which was paid.

MAN BLOWS HIS HEAD OFF NEAR NEWPORT

Newport, Or., Aug. 10.—Joe Ludwig, of Toledo, Or., was found just outside of his cabin at Otter rock at 8:30 this morning with the top of his head blown off. A gun lay beside him and it is supposed that he committed suicide, as he had been acting strangely for some time.

The deceased was a well-known character in this vicinity. He was industrious to a fault, and had little to say to anybody. There is no good reason for his act that anybody knows of apart from the fact that his was a lonely life.

HOME FROM TRIP TO CRATER LAKE

Hon. T. G. Hendricks and family, Joe Luckey and Ray Goodrich have returned home from their trip to Crater Lake, Klamath county and to Crater Lake, Oregon's great scenic wonder. They went by way of Klamath Falls, stopping there a day, and returned by the same route, although a majority of those who go by that route return by way of Medford and vice versa. The Rogue river route by way of Medford being almost as scenic as on the other side of the mountains. The party caught lots of fish and enjoyed their trip immensely.

UPPER MCKENZIE ITEMS FROM ALBANY

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McIlwain returned last evening from an outing up the McKenzie, with headquarters at McKenzie Bridge, where they had a fine time fishing and hunting. Mr. McIlwain did some diversified shooting, getting a deer, a bear and a big wolf, the terror of the deer. The wolf gets a deer and stays with him until finished, which takes about a week.

There are about 75 campers at Belknap Springs. Z. H. Rudd, of this city, made a catch of a 12-pound Dolly Varden, one of the best catches of the season, a daisy.

D. Busard had hardly pitched his tent when he disappeared at break-neck speed. Learning that he was a grandfather was the cause. He is now back for his outing.

Mr. McIlwain, who recently sold his fine residence and all of his lots, is now after some more, and when secured will build a fine residence, continuing to have faith in Albany.—Democrat.

THREE CURES OF SEVERE ECZEMA

Michigan Woman Tells of Her Brother's Terrible Suffering with the Disease—Grandchild and Another Baby also Permanently Cured.

CUTICURA REMEDIES PROVED INVALUABLE

"My brother had eczema three different summers. About the same time each summer it came out between his shoulders and down his back, and he said his suffering was terrible. He used different kinds of medicines that were said to be good for that disease, but nothing seemed to do him much good. When it came on the third summer, he bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and gave it a faithful trial. Soon he began to feel better and he cured himself entirely with Cuticura and has never been bothered with eczema since. He also used Cuticura to cure a bunch over his eye and a terrible corn which was so bad that he could not wear his shoe. A lady in Indiana heard of how my daughter, Mrs. Miller, had cured her little son of terrible eczema by the Cuticura Remedies. This lady's little one had the eczema so badly that they thought they would lose it. She used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and it cured her child entirely, and the disease never came back. Mrs. Sarah E. Lutz, 67 Peckham St., Coldwater, Mich., Aug. 15 and Sept. 2, 1907."
