Advertisements, Like Clocks, Should Keep Running

A store's advertisements tell the people what is "doing" at that store—what is new, what is inviting, why today is a good time to visit the store. People look for the ads to tell them these things just as naturally as they would look at a clock to tell the time. Sometimes a clock does not run—sometimes a store's ad does not run. A "run-down" clock or ad are about equally unsatisfactory. unserviceable, misleading. Curious thing about it is that a merchant who would think it absurd to have a run-down or out-of-repair clock will, sometimes, deliberately let his ad stop running. It's not wise, nor good business, nor defensible on any known grounds—but it is sometimes done.

SERVICE AT WORK ON NEW TRAIL

The men in the district of the forest service and Supervisor A. E. Carlson are now working on the trail along the main ridge of the Cascade range to join the Siuslaw country to the Alaska region. The Waldport road is almost finished. The importance of the trail is great, for there is no connecting link between the two settlements and other minor ones along the coast. All the little villages are inhabited by dairy men, who turn off their product in cheese. The trail is being so graded and surveyed that the country can at any time by a little additional work transform it into a county road perfectly fit for wagon traffic.

RANGERS KEEP DOWN FIRES IN LANE COUNTY

C. R. Seltz, superintendent of the Cascade government forests in the county states that the fire situation has never been bad, though a few small outbreaks have occurred. At all times the rangers have had control, and there has been but little serious destruction of timber.

GOVERNMENT WATCHES ITS FORESTS MORE CLOSELY

With the extension of the forest service the government is becoming more strict, and will whenever possible confiscate all products of its forests being appropriated by settlers. Chittim bark peelers have orders to keep off the reserves, though much peeling is still done on government land.

United States Inspector Stephen M. Norton seized chittim bark valued at $175 last week on Big Elk creek, near Corvallis. The bark was peeled by Derrick Brothers a couple of years ago and the government claims it on the ground that it was taken from trees on government land.

Excellent Health Advice.

Mrs. M. M. Davison, of No. 379 Gifford Ave., San Jose, Cal., says: "The worth of Electric Bitters as a general family remedy for headache, biliousness and torpor of the liver and bowels is so pronounced that I am prompted to say a word in its favor, for the benefit of those seeking relief from such afflictions. There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of." Sold under guarantee at Kuykendall's drug store. 50c.

Politics and Politicians

Governor Corris, of Ohio, Governor Hughes, of New York, and Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, will be the principal speakers at the formal opening of the Ohio Republican campaign in Youngstown, next month.

Seven aspirants are contesting for the seat of the late United States Senator Lattimer, of South Carolina. Former Governor John Gary Evans who has been a regular candidate for the senate since he cleared his term as governor in 1896, appears to be running strong in the present race.

The canvass for the Republican nomination for the governorship of Connecticut between Congressman Liley and Lieutenant-Governor Lake has been enlivened of late by personal attacks on the former of a spirited sort not seen in the Nutmeg State since the famous McLean-Warner canvass of 1900.

Joseph L. Bristow, the choice of the Republicans of Kansas to succeed Chester L. Long in the senate, is nationally known for his work as fourth assistant postmaster general from 1897 to 1905. He had charge of the investigation of the Cuban postal frauds and the reorganization of the Cuban postal service in 1900.

Michael C. O'Neill is said to be slated for the nomination by the independence party for governor of Massachusetts. Mr. O'Neill was a delegate-at-large to the recent convention of the party in Chicago. The independence party is believed to be stronger in Massachusetts than in any other state. In the campaign last year the party's candidate polled more votes than did the Democratic candidate.

State Senator McNeill, of Bridgeport, is the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in Connecticut and can doubtless have it if he wishes. Prior to the recent convention in Denver the name of Senator McNeill was prominently mentioned in connection with the vice presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket. He is a warm friend and supporter of William J. Bryan.

William Strother Cowherd, who has been nominated by the Democrats for governor of Missouri, has practiced law in Kansas City since 1882, in which year he was graduated from the University of Missouri Law School. He represented the Fifth Missouri district in congress from 1897 to 1905 and was mayor of Kansas City from 1892 to 1894. While in congress he was chairman of the Democratic National congressional committee. He was born in Missouri in 1860.

William Hayward, the new secretary of the Republican National committee, and who is to have charge of the presidential campaign in the West, is but thirty-one years old. He has the distinction of being the youngest brigadier-general in his native state, Nebraska, and the youngest state chairman in the country. He is a son of the late M. L. Hayward, who was elected to the United States senate from Nebraska in 1902, and died on the day he was to take his seat.

Lawton T. Hemans, of Mason, will probably be chosen as the Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan. Mr. Hemans is described as a real orator, a student, a writer of history, a lawyer and a politician. As a member of the state legislature and delegate to the constitutional convention, he made a good record and attached to himself many influential friends who are prominent in Michigan affairs. Whichever one of the three aspirants for the Republican nomination is named it is predicted that Mr. Hemans will give him a close race.

THIS IS MY 50TH BIRTHDAY

Robert Chalmers, chairman of the board of inland revenue in the British government, was born August 18, 1858, in Aberdeen. He was educated at the city of London school and Oxford college, Oxford, obtaining a first class in classical moderation in 1878 and a second in natural science in 1881. He won first place in the competition for the civil service in 1882, and was secretary to the Indian currency commission in 1898 and treasurer in 1901, which important position he continued to hold until a year ago, when he was appointed to succeed Sir Henry Pringle in the chairmanship of the board of inland revenue. Mr. Chalmers is the author of "A History of Currency in the British Colonies," and a translation of the "Jataka" from Pali.

It is to be hoped that the reports of the illness of Secretary of State Benson are exaggerated. No man in public life in this state has more warm friends than he, and none more richly deserves them. A quiet, unassuming man who has been faithful to his trust in many public positions, courteous and obliging to all alike, he owes his advancement to the large personal following that such qualities are sure to attract.

Yesterday's Portland Journal contained a splendid descriptive half page devoted to Eugene and its attractions as a home city. There were pictures of the homes of Hon. R. A. Booth, Judge G. R. Chrisman, Frank E. Dunn and M. F. Griggs, a view of East Eleventh street and a boating scene on the millrace. The article will help Eugene and is appreciated by our people.

C. W. Bethel, of Lincoln county, Washington, is entitled to the medal as the most considerate man. He placed big signs on the fence around his orchard, reading: "Cherries all gone. No use to tear your pants in climbing through the barbed wire until the pears are ripe." Says he remembers when he was a boy.

Union labor wedding invitations will, we suppose, be the proper thing now. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, introduced the innovation by insisting upon having the union label on his wedding invitations. Maybe the Wives' Union will be along in due time.

Those St. Louis women who have organized under the name of the "Good Luck" corporation, to furnish rice and old shoes for weddings, should have called themselves a "bunch of nuisance promoters," if they wished to be rightly named.

Now that N. C. O'Brien, United States minister to Paraguay and Uruguay, is being thanked for having prevented war between Brazil and Argentina, it seems to be time to revise the old idea that an Irishman loves a scrap above all things.

If some effective way of muzzling, or editing the speeches of several of the loud-mouthed anti-Taft negro preachers of Washington is not found, Mr. Bryan may be reminded of the adage, "Deliver me from my fool friends."

From the number of marriages on short acquaintance recently recorded in the newspapers, it seems safe to say that we have frenzied matrimony in our midst. We have had frenzied divorce for some time.

Tom Lawson has been advertising again—not presidential chairs, but the same old give-me-your-coin game under a new name. Tom hasn't the slightest doubt that one is horn every minute.

Maybe the weekly paper to be started and edited by Senator La Follette will not be named the Radical, but we have a hunch that its policy will fit that name like a glove. Yes, What?

Mr. Bryan wants it understood that burials will not pay spellbinders, printers, brass bands and other necessary campaign expenses. And he is dead right, boys. Dig up or shut up.

No labor strike can hope to succeed without public sympathy, and no surer way to alienate public sympathy could possibly be found than shooting up passenger trains.

Frank Hitchcock is very cautious, but a foxy reporter scored a "scoop" by adroitly leading him into the admission that he had been in Vermont.

Eugene's house furniture seems to be growing more genuine daily.
