"FIGHTING BOB" EVANS RETIRES FROM SERVICE

IMPORTANT EVENTS IN LIFE OF ADMIRAL EVANS

Born in Floyd county, Virginia, August 18, 1846.

Educated in public schools of Washington, D. C.

Appointed to Naval Academy September 20, 1860; graduated in 1863.

Made ensign October 1, 1863; lieutenant, July 25, 1866; lieutenant commander, July 1878; captain, June 27, 1893; rear admiral, February 11, 1901.

Participated in attack on Fort Fisher January 15, 1865.

Earned his title of "Fighting Bob" during the year 1891, when he was in command of the Yorktown at Valparaiso, Chili.

During the war with Spain he was commander of the Iowa, taking active part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet, July 3, 1898.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—The name of as gallant and efficient an officer as ever wore the American naval uniform was removed from the active list today when Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, known the world over as "Fighting Bob," was retired for age. Admiral Evans took the great Atlantic battleship fleet around Cape Horn last winter, and his official career virtually ended with the arrival of the fleet at San Francisco. Since that time he has been on leave of absence and has been sojourning at various health resorts in an effort to conquer a bad attack of rheumatism, an ailment from which he has suffered a number of years.

With the single exception of Admiral Dewey "Fighting Bob" Evans was undoubtedly the best known and most popular officer the American navy has known since the heroes of the civil war period passed from active life. Admiral Evans in recent years has been known as the reliable man of the navy, for there was always assurance that he would discharge his duty with courage and patriotism, tact and diplomacy should his mission become a delicate one. Throughout his career he was adored by his men, and he also knew how to hold the favor of Washington.

Admiral Evans began fighting in the civil war, when he was still in his teens, and completed his record of actual hostilities by the great work he did with the battleship Iowa at Santiago. In the interval and since that time he rendered his country every kind of service.

Evans went to the Annapolis Academy in 1860, and a year later came the outbreak of the civil war. The mother of Robley demanded that he resign from the United States service and fight for the South. His brother had espoused the cause of the confederacy. But Robley decided in favor of Washington, and announced his determination to stand by the Union. It was a decision that cost him many heart-burnings, for it was many years before his mother forgave him.

His brother fought gallantly for the South and was twice wounded. He did not share his mother's indignation at the young naval officer, and the two brothers never wavered in their friendship, despite the divergence of their political views.

Evans' active service began in the West Indies, where he commanded a yacht sent to search for Confederate privateers. He was first under fire at Fort Fisher, and was wounded in the attack upon that stronghold. It was at first decided that both of his legs would have to be amputated, which would, of course, have ended his naval career, but even then Evans had that swiftness of action which was later to bring him distinction. As soon as the doctors had communicated to him their decision to take off his legs, he drew his revolver and announced that he would blow off the head of the first man who dared approach him. Adopting new measures, the physicians worked with him and managed to restore him to health with both legs intact.

In 1891 Evans increased his fame by his conduct in Valparaiso harbor. He was in charge of the little gunboat

REAR ADMIRAL EVANS.

Yorktown, during the trying period when the least slip might have precipitated war between the two countries, a conflict that would have entailed serious consequences, since it was no secret that Great Britain at that time sympathized with the South Americans. In the teeth of the protests of the Chilean government Commodore Evans took on his boat the refugees from the American legation, and when the natives threatened reprisals he announced that at the first hint of attack he would bombard the city. The world admired his spunk, and Washington learned that in "Fighting Bob" it had a man who could be trusted in any crisis.

PARKER PASSED THROUGH EUGENE LAST NIGHT

Judge Alton B. Parker passed through here on the early morning train from California to Portland, but there was not a soul to wake him up to give him a bouquet in Eugene. Indeed, so silent and unpretentious was his passing through that the local Southern Pacific officers this morning did not know that an ex-candidate for the presidency of the United States had been rolled over the rails during the night. Judge Parker speaks tonight in Portland on the political issues of the present day. He is a strong supporter of Bryan, who seems to have won every faction of his party to his cause with the exception of Hearst.

DEEP CRACKS FROM ECZEMA

Could Lay Slate-Pencil in One—Hands in Dreadful State—Disease Defied Remedies and Prescriptions—Suffered Seven Years.

FOUND A PERMANENT CURE IN CUTICURA

"I had eczema on my hands for about seven years and during that time I had used several so-called remedies, together with physicians' and druggists' prescriptions. The disease was so bad on my hands that I could lay a slate-pencil in one of the cracks and a rule placed across the hand would not touch the pencil. I used ——, ——, —— Skin Lotion, —— Remedy and others externally but I did not use any internal remedy, and while some gave partial relief, none relieved as much as did the first box of Cuticura Ointment. I made a purchase of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and my hands were perfectly cured after two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of soap were used. I now keep them on hand for sunburn, etc., and use Cuticura Soap for shaving. I could write a great deal more in reference to my cure but do not want to take more of your time. William H. Dean, Newark, Del., Mar. 28, 1907."

CHILD SUFFERED
With Sores on Legs. Cured in Two Weeks by Cuticura.

"My little daughter suffered with sores on her legs all last summer. Her feet were sore, too, and she couldn't wear her shoes. I think she was poisoned by running through weeds but the doctor said it was eczema. I tried several remedies but failed to find a cure. Then I sent for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her in two weeks. I find Cuticura the best I ever tried for any kind of sore and I hope I shall never be without it. Mrs. Gertie Laughlin, Ivydale, W. Va., Apr. 25, 1907."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood.
