

GRAND ARMY VETERANS HEADED FOR TOLEDO

Toledo, O., Aug. 20.—One week hence the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic will be trooping into Toledo for their annual national encampment. The opinion is expressed that the encampment this year will be the most significant, the most interesting and one of the best attended reunions ever held by the veterans of the civil war. And so, indeed, it will be if present plans, now nearing completion, are carried out in detail.

The whole city will be handsomely dressed for the occasion. Flags and bunting will cover the building fronts along Summit, Huron, Erie and other leading streets. The many handsome public buildings, for which Toledo is noted, will be artistically decorated and at night they will be ablaze with hundreds of electric lights. At prominent street intersections several handsome arches are being erected.

One of the notable events in connection with the encampment will be the dedication of the monument on the site of Fort Meigs, a few miles from the city. The Ohio National Guard will join with the veterans in the ceremonies incident to the dedication. Governors Swanson, of Virginia; Hanly, of Indiana; Warner, of Michigan; Willson, of Kentucky, and Harris of Ohio, have accepted invitations to attend the event.

The parade, which is the big spectacular event of the annual encampment, will take place Wednesday, September 2. The executive committee has received returns indicating that 35,000 veterans will take part. The department of Illinois will lead the march and the department of Ohio, the entertaining hosts, will bring up in the rear. A dozen or more places where refreshments will be served free to the marchers will be stationed along the route, and will be looked after by an army of competent volunteers. A floral shower and a "living flag" by 3500 school children will be features of the pageant. The floral committee has adopted the rose as the official flower of the encampment, and a color scheme of red and yellow, the colors of the Grand Army of the Republic, will be carried. Every building, large or small, over the entire route of the parade, will be decorated, some with great elaboration. The county court house, an imposing structure, will be magnificently trimmed from base to dome. The trolley pole of every car in the city will have a flag floating thereon, and all motor cars will be handsomely trimmed with silken banners and with the official yellow of the G. A. R.

Three camp fires are announced for encampment week. Among the speakers will be Commander-in-Chief Charles G. Burton and some of his predecessors in office—Van Sant of Minnesota, Fallows of Indiana, Warner of Missouri, Stewart of Pennsylvania, Brown of Ohio, Gobin of Pennsylvania, and Rastleer, of Missouri. During the week of the encampment there will be held, as usual, the annual meetings of the various organizations affiliated with the Grand Army of the Republic. These will include the Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters of Veterans and the Society of ex-Prisoners of War.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS GOOD GRIDIRON PROSPECTS

LOCAL BOYS HAVE MOST OF OLD TEAM AS WELL AS NEW MATERIAL — BURTON CAPTAIN, KNOX MANAGER

Eugene high school football enthusiasts are already talking of the prospects of their team, and are looking forward to the season with considerable confidence in the prowess of their gridiron representatives. Most of the old team will be back, and not only will they be as good as last year, but they will be matured in size and strength, as well as experience. Besides a number of new men are expected to enter high school who are good material.

Milt Burton is captain and Frank Knox manager. Jenkins, last season's fullback, will be on hand to fill his position, and Knox will probably fill his position at right half. Left half is empty, but Wayne Hurd, who will enter high school again this fall, will try for the position. He has had experience and is said to be a shifty player.

Principal Hug will probably look after most of the coaching.

LAUNCH IN HOME WON'T COME OUT

According to a story which has just reached this city, a man by the name of Post, at Triangle Lake, recently built a launch for use on the lake in a room of his new house, which he was constructing at the same time. When both were finished, he started the launch through the door to take its first dip in the lake, but lo! it was a foot wider than the door. Unable to determine which he wanted to do, tear apart the launch or break down a portion of the well built wall, the launch still remains in the room waiting to take its first plunge.

DESCRIPTION OF THE MAP CHARTS

THESE map charts are printed on heavy linen paper, and varnished, mounted with brass for wall purposes. They are large, 28x40 inches in size, and the three sheets of which they are composed contain enough information to fill a good sized volume.

The first sheet will have a splendid map of Oregon, brought down to date, showing even the new county of Hood River, and around the margins are the pictures of all the rulers of the world.

The second page has a map of the United States and the colonies, bordered with useful information.

The third sheet is devoted to maps of foreign countries, and on the reverse side has hemisphere maps, showing also pictures of the great Atlantic battle-ship fleet with its world's tour diagrammed. On the reverse side of the first and second sheets are census reports, and a vast quantity of other information that make the charts and maps a veritable atlas and encyclopedia combined.

There should be a late map of Oregon, the United States, and the world, in every home in Lane County, and we expect to give away 3,000 of them our subscribers in the next 90 days.

The guarantee of the great publishing house of the Rand-McNally Co. is back of these maps for accuracy and reliability of the information they give
