

ern. If Harriman goes to work building new railroads in Oregon that is where ground will be broken first. It is the key to the entire situation, opening up the best section of Oregon, as well as reducing the expense of traffic between Portland and San Francisco by eliminating the grade of the Siskiyou.

Eugene is moving cityward at a pace that is unprecedented in the history of Oregon towns. In fact, its new and modern buildings, street cars and paved streets make it a real little city now in the 10,000 population class.

Speaking of Mr. Bryan's intention to "place Hearst on the grill," it seems pertinent to ask when the gentleman has been off it?

Of course, Charles P. Taft will have an important part in the campaign—his check book is the open-all-night bank, and he can use a fountain pen in his sleep.

The way to get good water in Eugene is to go to the mountains for it—bear that in mind always.

THIS IS MY 44TH BIRTHDAY

Luis F. Corea
Luis Felipe Corea, who has represented the republic of Nicaragua as minister plenipotentiary to the United States for nearly ten years, was born in Granada, Nicaragua, August 25, 1864. His family was prominent in the official life of the republic and he received a liberal education at the National College of Granada and the Central University of Guatemala. After graduating from the last named institution he remained there several years as a member of the faculty. In 1898 he entered the diplomatic service and soon displayed capabilities of a marked character. In addition to his studies in law and diplomacy he has given much attention to various branches of science and has been honored with membership in a number of the leading scientific societies both in America and Europe.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The incoming freshman class of the University of California has already established two new records—that of enrollment and percentage of male students in the class. The latest returns show 694 freshmen enrolled. This far exceeds in numbers any class which has ever entered the university. In 1905 605 were enrolled, and last year 609 and these were considered record classes. Four hundred and seventy-one men are among the 694 enrolled, or 68 per cent.
A 13-year-old girl, Leota Young, of Willamette Falls, swam across the Willamette Saturday afternoon in 20 minutes. She selected a point about two miles above Oregon City, and accompanied by her father in a boat, swam it without any difficulty. The river at this point is about half a mile wide.

For Sore Feet.

"I have found Buclen's Aenica Salve to be the proper thing to use for sore feet, as well as for healing burns, sores, cuts, and all manner of abrasions," writes Mr. W. Stone, of East Portland, Maine. It is the proper thing, too, for piles. Try it! Sold under guarantee at W. A. Kuykendall's drug store, 25c.

Politics and Politicians

William Yancey Carter, a prominent farmer of Hart county, has been nominated for governor of Georgia by the independent party.

Mark Smith, the blind attorney from Arizona, has been nominated for Congress by the Democrats of that territory.

Obadiah Gardner, the Democratic candidate for governor of Maine, offers to retire in six months after his election if he does not keep his promise to enforce all the laws.

The presidential campaign of the People's party is to be conducted from general headquarters soon to be opened by the National committee at St. Louis.

Judson Harmon, the nominee for governor, and ex-Governor James E. Campbell will be the chief speakers at the formal opening of the Ohio Democratic campaign, which is to take place at Mansfield late in September.

Friends of Congressman Gilbert N. Haughey, of the Fourth Iowa district, have started a campaign for him as a compromise candidate for United States senator to succeed the late William B. Allison.

The Democrats of Blackford county, Indiana, have formed what they term the Thirty-Cent League, an organization which purports to make a canvass of the farmers, laboring men and others for thirty-cent subscriptions to the Democratic campaign fund.

Prior to 1824 no record of the so-called "popular vote" for president of the United States was made. But from 1824 to 1894 the popular vote increased from 352,052 to 13,510,798. The vote of the nation in 1824 was less than the vote of Kansas in 1904.

George N. Tillman, who has been nominated for governor of Tennessee by the so-called Evans-Sanders wing of the Republican party of that state, was a candidate for the same office in 1896, on which occasion he polled nearly 150,000 votes against "Bob" Taylor.

The Democrats believe they have a chance to carry California for Bryan. The state was carried for Cleveland in 1892 by 44 votes, but one of the ten electoral votes was cast for Harrison. In the three succeeding presidential campaigns the state was carried by the Republicans.

Believing Illinois to be a doubtful state, the Democratic campaign committee will put some of its foremost speakers on the stump there. Among those to be heard are Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York; Governor John A. Johnson, of Minnesota; Senator Gore, of Oklahoma; Governor Folk, of Missouri, and Senator Culberson, of Texas.

Gifford Pinchot, who is believed to be slated for a cabinet position in the event of Taft's election, is chief forester of the Department of Agriculture and one of the leaders in the movement for the conservation of the nation's natural resources. In 1892 he began the first systematic forestry work in the United States at Billmore, N. C.

The state of Washington will hold a general primary early next month for the selection of candidates for governor and other state officers, for judges of the supreme court and members of congress. The voters also will express their preference for United States senator to succeed Senator Levl Ankeny.

Bishop Alexander Walters, president of the National Afro-American council, has expressed his preference for William J. Bryan, and urges the negroes throughout the country to vote the Democratic ticket at the November election. The basis of his grievance against the Republican party is the failure of congress to pass a bill to have lynchers tried in the federal courts.

Heart to Heart Talks. BY EDWIN A. NYE. Copyright, 1908, by Edwin A. Nye.

WHISKY DID IT.

"I was drunk. God knows I didn't mean to harm a hair of my wife's head."

That was the confession of young M. E. Davis of Des Moines, Ia., in pleading guilty to the murder of his wife.

Young Davis was a bright, handsome, capable and popular druggist who, while crazy drunk, shot his wife and afterward seriously wounded the physician who was called to attend her.

The wife died a few days after the shooting, leaving an infant son. Davis pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to Fort Madison prison for eighteen years.

"I was drunk." That tells the story. M. E. Davis sober was an affable friend, an affectionate husband and father. M. E. Davis plus whisky was the senseless wretch who turned his gun against the one above all others whom he loved and cherished.

"I was drunk." That was no excuse to plead before the bar of justice save in mitigation of the offense, else any man might go and get drunk and kill with impunity.

"I didn't mean to harm a hair of my wife's head." Of course he did not. It was not Davis, but whisky, that pointed the gun. But the law held Davis, not the whisky, responsible. When Davis was arrested whisky was not arrested; when he was tried before judge and jury whisky was not tried; when he was sent to prison whisky was let go scot free.

Whisky is a coward. It assumes none of the responsibility which it creates. It gets men into trouble and leaves them there. It can make difficulties, but it cannot solve problems. It can put men's brains in a tangle, but it cannot make their paths straight. It is not only a coward; it is a liar and a thief besides.

"I was drunk." That confession constitutes an indictment of strong drink. Whisky palsies the enlaced hand of toil. It frightens the roses from the cheeks of loving wives. It throws shadows over the hearts of innocent children. It sears conscience, ruins judgment and kills innocence. It turns the heart of a man against his best friend. It is not only a coward, a thief and a liar; it is a murderer.

"I was drunk." That confession of young Davis is an epitome of all the tragedies of all the night-beer-boozes.

Advertisements, Like Clocks, Should Keep Running

A store's advertisements tell the people what is "doing" at that store—what is new, what is inviting, why today is a good time to visit the store. People look for the ads to tell them these things just as naturally as they would look at a clock to tell the time.

Sometimes a clock does not run—sometimes a store's ad does not run. A "run-down" clock or ad are about equally unsatisfactory, unserviceable, misleading.

Curious thing about it is that a merchant who would think it absurd to have a run-down or out-of-repair clock will, sometimes, deliberately let his ad stop running. It's not wise, nor good business, nor defensible on any known grounds—but it is sometimes done.
