We refer to a man who lives here and keeps his family in Portland because he cannot find a house for them in Eugene. This is bad for him and bad for Eugene. The real estate men tell us they cannot supply half the demand for houses. We will furnish the Lumber, Lath and Shingles if some one will get busy and build a few more houses to rent.

LANE NEEDS GOATS TO CLEAR BRUSH

DOUGLAS COUNTY MAN EXPRESSES HIS VIEWS ON SHEEP VS. GOATS—LATTER ARE GREAT BRUSH RAZERS

"Goats can be made a profitable industry in many parts of Lane county," a Douglas county man remarked after he had visited the hilly sections of this county. "There is no animal that cleans up the brush so well, and Lane county in the coast district particularly needs to get rid of the brush."

"In Douglas county many land owners find the raising of mohair far more profitable than wool, for not only do the goats clean up the brush, but they produce a valuable product. There are a few in Lane county, I understand, but the raising of the animals has not been made such a specialty as in Douglas county, where the rancher in the hilly districts does not know what to do without them."

"Of course, I don't know how bad the varmints are here," continued the raiser, "but I see no reason why they should be harder on goats than on sheep. You people in Lane county find plenty of money in raising wool. I don't really know whether goats hold off coyotes any better than sheep or not. There are a good many tales told that they do, but lots of kids get caught by poachers and coyotes, though I believe that the raised goats are better able to meet an emergency than the ordinary ewe or ram."

AT THE GRAND.

The feature picture at The Grand tomorrow night is the "Little Chimney Sweeps." The description follows: A wealthy family and a friend are dining when the little son, by request, renders Joselyn's "Berceuse" on the violin. The husband soon after departs, whereupon the guest seizes the woman's hand and declares his passion for her. Being rebuked, he glides out with a cruel smile on his face. Next, in a secluded spot the villain concocts a vile plot with footpads, with the result that the little boy is kidnapped. Returning to the mansion, the villain witnesses the terrible grief of the bereaved mother and is avenged for the slight put upon him. Meanwhile, the boy has become a wall and chimney sweep and endures many hardships. On passing a beautiful house one day the lad and his companion came upon a beggar playing a violin. Reminded that he can perform upon the instrument, the lad takes from the beggar's hand and renders the "Berceuse." At once a window in the mansion is thrown open by a woman who recognizes the melody. Rushing out to the gate she clasps her darling boy in her arms. Then follows the arrest of the villain and his punishment, thus ending one of the greatest series ever taken by a picture machine.

There are seven other pictures, and two illustrated songs on the bill. The entire program will be found in another column. Two performances every evening at 8 and 9 o'clock.

Excellent Health Advice.

Mrs. M. M. Davison, of No. 379 Olifford Ave., San Jose, Cal., says: "The worth of Electric Bitters as a general family remedy for headaches, dizziness and torpor of the liver, and constipation is so pronounced that I am prompted to say a word in its favor, for the benefit of those seeking relief from such afflictions. There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of."

CITY'S TEST CASE IS IN JUDGES HANDS

The test case as to the legality of the bonds voted by the people last fall is now on before Judge Harris, the decision to be handed down next week. Yesterday afternoon Attorneys Williams & Bean, for the city, filed their complaint. The attorneys for the Willamette Valley Company followed the action with a demurrer, and it was at once taken before the circuit court and argued. Judge Harris, in taking the case under advisement, said that he would render his verdict next week.

HOPPICKERS AT WORK AT HARRISBURG

Harrisburg, Or., Aug. 25.—Hoppicking in this section commenced yesterday with full crews of pickers. The growers report that they can gather and dry their early hops by the time the later varieties are ripe, and if at that time the market does not justify picking they will leave the late hops on the vines. The yield is estimated to be less than one-half last year's crop. However, it is the general prediction that the quality will be the best ever grown in this hop district.

Seibert, in their store at the corner of Olive and West Fifth streets, and will continue to conduct the establishment on the same high standard that has been its reputation in the past.
