WIRE FENCES
 KEEP OUT ALL BUT BEAR
 SHEEP ARE UNMOLESTED INSIDE OF PROPERLY FENCED RANGES—GRIZZLIES GO THROUGH EASILY—THE ADVANTAGES

Fencing the range to protect sheep from the attacks of predatory animals has met with excellent results in the Wallawa National Forest. Or the problem was to find a strong fence that would make the sheep secure, even without the care of a herder.

The chosen fence, which is built of woven wire with barbed wire on the top, has kept out all minor animals such as wild cats, lynxes and coyotes, but has not withstood the attacks of the grizzlies, which are apparently able to pass through it with little trouble.

Sheep numbering 200 head were placed in the enclosure, with their lambs upon June 20th and have been allowed to graze at their free will with no attention whatever from any herder. They have done splendidly and as far as the observation of those in charge of the experiment goes, a given area grazed by sheep under such conditions will carry more sheep per acre than one grazed under the charge of a herder.

Tracks along the fence show that predatory animals come to the fence constantly and follow it around, but, with the exception of the bears, do not seem able to enter.

The hunter employed by the service for hunting predatory animals in the vicinity of this enclosure has killed no less than six large grizzlies this season, besides numerous other animals of the predatory class.

The results of this experiment are so satisfactory thus far that private individuals are profiting by it. J. W. Emmons, of Troy, Oregon, has a large area of private land fenced with a special wire fence in which he has this season lambed a herd of 670 ewes without a herder's care and with very little attention and great success. Mr. Emmons is extending his fence, for he finds that it pays.

Careful record will be kept of the weights of lambs raised inside this fence with a view of comparing them with the same grade of lambs raised outside the fence on the same class of range, so that any gains or losses in weight and growth may be determined.

MOUNTAIN ATMOSPHERE CLEARED BY RAIN
 Reports from the mountains east of here state that all the little slashings and forest fires have been extinguished. The atmosphere of the mountains is said to be clear of smoke, and as soon as the storm passes the most delightful period of the season will be enjoyed by hunters and campers.

TEDDY WIELDS BIG STICK ON FEDERAL OFFICIAL
 Buffalo, Aug. 27.—A special dispatch from Batavia gives the text of a telegram received by Archie Sanders, internal revenue collector, from Oyster Bay, as follows:
 "I am informed that notwithstanding my telegram of August 20 you are still actively engaged in manipulating local politics. I wish you to distinctly understand that you cannot do this, as I shall retain no one in the service who does not strictly comply with the rules of the department and my orders in regard to factional contests within the party. If you do not comply with these orders wire your resignation at once. Wire answer."

 To this Sanders is said to have replied:
 "Telegram received. Conditions complied with."

KNOWN HOP BUYER VIEWS OF WELLS
 James Hayes, the Junction hop buyer, was in Eugene yesterday getting samples from the yards near this city. He stated that the Lane county hops would be lighter than last year, but did not know about the quality, for so many yards have not been cultivated that a general average is hard to ascertain. He will be through this section at a later time.

WILL GIVE BIG STREET PARADE
BARNUM & BAILEY GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH REVIVES OLD FEATURES
 When the Barnum & Bailey greatest show on earth visits Eugene on Saturday, August 29, it will be with the street parade re-established after four years' omission. It will be a parade vastly superior to any ever given in America, being entirely the origination and execution of European artists, designers and property builders.

It is the policy of the management never to repeat itself, and some seasons ago, when it seemed as if it had exhibited everything new under the sun, the parade was dropped until such a time as more original ideas might be created and new wonders sought out from remote lands. For two years day and night artists, artisans, designers and property builders have been toiling at the foreign work shops of the circus, Stock-on-Trent, England, building the parade which this season is delighting the public.

Not in its slightest detail does this parade resemble anything ever seen on the streets before. It fairly glitters with newness, and the million dollars invested in it shows itself in gorgeous floats of burnished gold, made by Oriental workmen, tapestry and throne rugs from Persia and Turkey, costumes made in France, lace, scarfs, flags and banners from Chinese looms, mythological statuary from Italian studios, band and orchestra wagons of bronze and animal dens built in Germany. War engines of savage lands and wealthy nations, the graven idols and images of heathen tribes, the crude vehicles of barbarian chieftains and the carriages of state of potentates are displayed.

Every type of man is seen in his native dress, and a great menagerie of recently found animals is shown in open cages. The parade is three times the length of former street parades.
