WAS DELIRIOUS WITH ECZEMA

On Chest, Back, and Head—Pain, Heat, and Tingling Were Excruciating—Nerves in Exhausted Condition—Sleep Badly Broken.

CURE BY CUTICURA SEEMED LIKE MAGIC

"Words cannot express the gratitude I feel for what Cuticura Remedies have done for my daughter, Adelaide. She is fifteen years of age, and had never had anything the matter with her skin until four months ago, when an eruption broke out on her chest. The first symptom was a redness, and then followed thickening and blisters, which would break and run matter. I took her to a doctor, and he pronounced it to be eczema of a very bad form. He treated her, but instead of being checked, the disease spread. It showed itself on her back, and then quickly spread upwards until the whole of her head was affected, and all her hair had to be cut off. The pain she suffered was excruciating, and what with that and the heat and tingling her life was almost unbearable. She became run down in health, and at times was very feverish, languid, and drowsy, and occasionally she was delirious. Her nerves were in such a low state that she could not bear to be left alone. In spite of the cold weather she would insist on having her bedroom window open, and would lean out on the window-sill. She did not have a proper hour's sleep for many nights. The second doctor we tried afforded her just as little relief as the first, and I really do not know what we should have done if we had not read how Cuticura cured a similar case. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills, and before the Ointment was three-quarters finished every trace of the disease was gone. It really seemed like magic. Her hair is coming on nicely, and I still apply the Cuticura Ointment as I find it increases the growth wonderfully. Mrs. T. W. Hyde, 1, Ongar Place, Brentwood, Essex, England, Mar. 8, 1907."

FOREST SERVICE HAS 4 LAUNCHES ON THE COAST

A. E. Cohoon, supervisor of the Siuslaw Forest Reserve, has three gasoline launches in operation and another under construction for the convenience of the service. One launch is on the Umpqua, another on the Siuslaw, and a third on the Alsea river. The fourth launch is being built for Smith river, a branch of the Umpqua inlet, which is navigable for twelve miles.

All of these streams have a number of miles of navigable water, usually just as far as the tide reaches, on the main trunk and its branches. The Umpqua river of itself runs back nearly thirty miles, the Siuslaw over twenty, while the Alsea extends back into the interior perhaps fifteen.

The government has been put to considerable expense by not having launches at the service of the rangers. One time Mr. Cohoon had to wait a whole day to cross one of the streams. By the rules governing the boats, they can only be used for government purposes, not for pleasure or business. At any time when a traveller or settler can be aided when in trouble by the launches and the man or men in control, the instructions are that they shall be put at the service of the unfortunate.

In fact, this is one of the principles of the whole service, and the settlers frequently find themselves indebted to the rangers who look after the interests of the government.

Takes Ocean Ride

This week Wilbur J. Stillwell, a ranger who for a long time was a follower of the sea, took a launch from Florence to Alsea, where it was wanted. For some time Supervisor Cohoon wanted the craft at Alsea but no schooner happened to be entering both ports on the same trip, and he had about given up the idea of taking the craft over.

One day he happened to mention the matter to Stillwell, who volunteered to take the craft over on its own bottom. Cohoon objected, for the launch is only twenty feet long, considering such a project hazardous. The seaman insisted on doing it, on his own responsibility, stating that there was no danger in particular. He went to Florence last week and carried out his plan, much to the astonishment of the sea-faring population of Florence.
