Young Men

and Men Who Know

It is with pleasure that we announce the arrival of

L. System Clothes

Heretofore there has been an unsupplied demand for something different and exclusive in clothes. This demand will be met by L. Systems, for their clothes are made so tasty and nobby, and for the fellow who appreciates the extreme in style insofar as is consistent with good taste and refinement.

"OUR GUARANTEE"

That every consumer of "L. Clothes" is at liberty, personally, to return to the "L. System Clothes Shop" or established agency any garment which, for any reason whatsoever fails to give the satisfaction expected or desired, and we will make good without question.

We Show 37 Different Styles

Four of which are shown in this ad. Each style is distinctly different, yet all have that snappy dip and hang that characterizes them from ordinary "so-called" "College Clothes," and that distinguishes the fellow who wears "L. System" from the one who does not.

Beautiful Colorings
Browns, olive, tan, elephant and moose, and fox and fawn shades. Priced—

LOOKING FOR BIG TRACT OF FRUIT LAND

MINNESOTA MAN MAY LOCATE NUMBER OF FAMILIES HERE AND THEY WILL RAISE FRUIT

C. S. Fowler, of Minneapolis, arrived here last night for the purpose of looking the county over with a view to securing a large tract of land on which a number of families from Minnesota may locate. He is looking especially for fruit land. He was shown about the city today and was much impressed with Eugene as a substantial and prosperous city. He remarked about the uniformly splendid business buildings and said Eugene excelled any other city he has visited in the West in that regard. There are other cities that have nicer buildings, but Eugene's business blocks, he said, are uniform, with very few shacks and unsightly buildings sandwiched in between the good buildings, as are found in most of the cities of the entire country. Mr. Fowler had heard extensively of the Hood River Valley, the Rogue river valley and of Eugene. He stopped at Hood River on his way here, but found nothing that would suit the people for whom he is working. The price of land is too high, and he has been informed that it is just as high in the Rogue river valley. As far as he has inquired here, he finds the price of Lane county fruit land very reasonable. He has been shown some of the products of the orchards here, and is enthusiastic over the possibilities of fruit culture in this vicinity.

NOTES FROM THE LABOR WORLD

The American Brotherhood of Cement Workers will hold its convention at Milwaukee, Wis., September 2.

The annual convention of the International Association of Machinists will be held at Denver, Col., on September 7.

There is a movement under way to organize a building trades section of the American Federation of Labor in Fargo, N. D.

The International Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators of America has increased its membership more than 6000 since April 1.

The American section of the boot and shoe workers' international body now has more than $100,000 in its emergency fund, deposited and bearing interest.

In Harrisburg, Pa., a city ordinance has been passed prohibiting the employment of foreign labor on any municipal work undertaken in the future.

The only industries employing children in large number are the glass, shirt, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes and the textile industries throughout the country.

The officials of the International Brass Molders' Union, which was organized in October, 1908, report that their membership has now reached 10,000 in this country. The union has established a sick benefit fund and also a death and burial fund.

The first annual report and balance sheet of the National Union of Journalists shows that the union, which twelve months ago had not one formally constituted branch, has now a large number in England and Wales, which embraces a membership of over 1000.

State Coal Mine Inspector Young, of Wyoming, has recommended to the governor of that state that the Hanna mine be sealed forever as a tomb for the forty-nine miners buried there in an accident last May.

The inspector says the management violated the laws governing the protection of underground workmen.

The fourteen cases brought in the circuit court at Jefferson City, Mo., last spring against the Missouri Pacific Railway Company by J. G. Slate, prosecuting attorney, for violation of the eight-hour telegraphers' law, were dismissed by the prosecutors because the supreme court had recently declared the law unconstitutional.

Printers are greatly interested in a movement to exhibit photographs and literature of the Union Printers' Home and Tuberculosis Sanitarium Annex at Colorado Springs, Colo., at the world's coming tuberculosis congress, which will be held in Washington, D. C., during the latter part of next month, and which promises to be of great importance.

CITY NEWS

The circus grounds will be on the Kincaid tract next to the football field.

The frame work for the concrete walls of the Cherry block is being erected.

The present rain has put a stop to harvesting and outside building operations.

The art glass windows are being placed in the new Presbyterian church building.

The band will give its weekly concert in front of the theatre tonight instead of in the city park.

S. P. Sladden yesterday completed the surveys for a large number of new lots in his addition in the north-western part of the city.

The date of the dedication of the new Presbyterian church is September 27. The two large arc glass windows are being placed in position. They were secured at a cost of $1,000.

In the circuit court case of C. F. Hawkins vs. J. H. and Jennie Vincent, to recover money, the plaintiff today filed a motion for a dismissal, the amount due the plaintiff having been paid.

The fire and water committee of the city council is considering the best place to move the arc light at the depot where it will do the most good. In its present location it sheds little light upon the new depot platform.

Mrs. Charles Fitch, who lives about ten miles west of Eugene, went to Oregon City today to attend the funeral of Blanche, the little two-year old daughter of William Lattin, who died there Wednesday.

Rev. C. A. Wooley fell down the stairway at his home in Fairmount Wednesday night and was severely injured. His back was wrenched and he sustained several bruises that will confine him to the house for some time. Dr. DeBar attended the injuries.

Grants Pass Outlook: J. C. Riggs has received his house plans from his architect, Free Thomas, at Eugene, and expects soon to start his building in Lincoln Park. It will be a two-story seven-room house, with an extra screen dining room and screen room on second story.

C. F. Cunningham, new manager of the Cottage Grove electric plant, will go to Vancouver, Wash., to take charge of the gas plant and electric road now being built there by the Welch interests. Mr. Cunningham made many friends while manager of the plant here and they will be glad to hear of his promotion.

Work on the interior of the first story of the new I. O. O. F. block is being rushed so that the Berger-Bean Hardware Company may occupy it by the first of October. A huge balcony is being built nearly around the entire building. The brick work on the fourth story of the building is stopped temporarily on account of the rain.

When it is hot enough to roast a monkey made of brass. When pavements dull reflect the sun. As might a looking glass, we wonder who invented clothes. And if it was the case that the inventor had it in for all the human race.

In winter when it's ten below the chilly zero line. A forty dollar overcoat. We hardly would decline. But in the good old summer time, when strong ambition lags, why do we have to drag about so many worthless tags?

Did Custom, arbitrary dame, not hold us in her grip. Not make us know day and night. And have us on the tip. We might perhaps use common sense. In wrapping up our shape. And dress more like our ancestor, One Mr. Fawcett's Ape.

At times we get the faintest hint. Of what the wise might do. If they could throw Dame Fashion down. And dress in peabuck. We'd give in persons less advanced. A few electric shocks. And dress ourselves in comfort if we had to pawn our socks.

Some Other Times. "Do you use glasses?" "Not so early in the day, thank you."

Judged by a Name. "Doctor, can't you do something for me? I have been sick for some time." "What are your symptoms?" "I have a constant pain in my lower, playing his hand over his nuptial vest to designate the spot. "That isn't your liver, man; that's your stomach."

"I thought it must be my liver, because that is where I live."

The Common Spot. "I have old Mumps where I can do what I please with him." "Learn one of the secrets of his early life?" "Not as common as that." "Hypnotism?" "Much simpler." "What is the recipe?" "Asked him to be the end man in a number of secret shows."
