JUDGE HARRIS
DECLARES WATER
BONDS VALID
In the friendly suit brought recently in the circuit court by the city council to determine the legality of the $300,000 water bonds recently voted by the people of Eugene, Judge Harris, of the circuit court, late yesterday afternoon handed down his decision. He confirmed the validity of the proceedings. The next step to be taken will be the appeal to the supreme court.
The point was that in amending the city charter, the two distinct sections, 108 and 112, were mentioned, and Attorney Wood, of Chicago, who acted for the bond buyers, contended the voter had no alternative, but could only vote yes or no on both amendments, and therefore the purposes were not distinctly set forth and should be voted in two distinct and separate propositions.
Judge Harris held that under the amendment to the constitution the legislature had no power to change the charter of any municipality, but it was left to the voters of the city to make any such changes, and that the voters had the same rights and privileges as legislators in making any such amendment or change. In very many bills in the legislature several sections of a bill or charter may be mentioned in the title and set forth in the body of the bill, and voted on as one bill when they comprehend the same subject matter and lead to no conflict. In the point at issue there was absolutely no conflict, but the sections were so inter-related that one could not have been of any force unless the other was voted on at the same time, and therefore there was no conflict. Judge Harris confirmed the legality of the bonds.
Yesterday's baseball scores: Los Angeles, 12; Portland, 9. San Francisco, 12; Oakland, 2.
A survey of the Yaquina oyster beds has been made by Eugene Wyant for the state board. The figures show that there are at present 81.7 acres of natural beds and 34.39 acres of private beds. There are still 1000 acres available and fitted for oyster culture.
DELICIOUS BANANA CREAM.
This recipe is highly recommended by one of our correspondents; try it for dessert tomorrow.
Peel five large bananas, rub smooth with five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one teaspoon sweet cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c package of Lemon JELL-O dissolved in 1-2 cups of boiling water. Pour into mold and when cold garnish with candied cherries. Serve with whipped cream, or a good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all grocers at 10c per package.

Advertisements, Like Clocks, Should Keep Running
A store's advertisements tell the people what is "doing" at that store—what is new, what is inviting, why today is a good time to visit the store. People look for the ads to tell them these things just as naturally as they would look at a clock to tell the time.
Sometimes a clock does not run—sometimes a store's ads does not run. A "run-down" clock or ad are about equally unsatisfactory, unserviceable, misleading.
Curious thing about it is that a merchant who would think it absurd to have a run-down" or out-of-repair clock will, sometimes, deliberately let his ad stop running. It's not wise, nor good business, nor defensible on any known grounds—but it is sometimes done.
