FORECAST OF NEXT WEEK'S NEWS GIVEN IN BRIEF

Washington, Sept. 5.—The annual holiday dedicated to organized labor will be observed throughout the country Monday in the customary manner, with parades, speech-making and outdoor festivities.

William J. Bryan will spend the week in the Middle West. At Chicago on Monday he will be the speaker at a Labor Day demonstration under the auspices of the Injunction Reform League. The injunction plank will be the subject of Mr. Bryan's address. He will remain in Chicago the following day, to consult with the national committee and other party leaders in regard to the final details of the campaign work. Wednesday he will speak before the Democratic state convention of Illinois at Peoria, on which occasion John W. Kern and Adlai E. Stevenson will also be heard. Mr. Bryan will divide the remainder of the week between Illinois and several of the neighboring states.

Mr. Taft, refreshed by a week of recreation at Middle Bass Island, will go to Cincinnati, where he plans to spend the greater part of the time between now and election. An entire floor at the Sinton hotel has been reserved for the use of the candidate and his campaign aides, which fact is taken as an indication that he does not intend to remain idle during the two months he will spend in his home city.

An interesting political contest that has agitated the state of Washington for several months past will culminate Tuesday in a general state primary, the first to be held in that state. Nominations will be made for United States senator, members of congress and all state and county officers. As Washington is a Republican state by some 50,000 majority, it is taken for granted that the Republican nominations are equivalent to election. United States Senator Levi Anthony is a candidate for re-election, an idea opposed by Congressman Wesley L. Jones, who is reported to have a good chance of success. Governor Mead is a candidate for re-election, and his principal opponent on the Republican side is ex-Governor McBride.

The Democratic primaries in Brooklyn on Tuesday will be watched with keen interest, as the result is expected to show the relative strength between "Boss" Murphy and Senator McCarren, the arch-enemy of the Tammany leader in the latter's efforts to control the Kings county Democracy.

The Republican state convention in Connecticut will be held Wednesday and Congressman George A. Lilley, of "submarine investigation" fame, now seems assured of the nomination for governor.

Other political events of the week will be the Democratic state convention in Montana and the state conventions of Illinois Republicans, Prohibitionists and Democrats to ratify the recent primary results and adopt platforms.

The second annual congress of the Playground Association of America will assemble in New York Tuesday for a session of four days. The congress will bring together the mayors, park, school and health officers of the chief cities of the United States and leading educators and play experts, with the idea of stimulating every city in the country to make adequate playground provisions for its population.

The American battleship fleet will arrive at Albany, West Australia, about the middle of the week, and will remain there six weeks to take coal. Albany is a small place, the population being about 4000, but according to advices received from there the town is planning to do its share in entertaining the American visitors.

European events of the week that will be of interest to American readers will be the meeting of the forty-first annual British Trades-Union congress, at Nottingham, the sixteenth international congress of machinists, which will hold its sessions at the University of Vienna, the first international congress for the repression of adulteration of alimentary and pharmaceutical products at Geneva, and the Ecumenical congress at London. The last-named gathering is spoken of as the greatest Catholic event for centuries in England. It will be attended by eminent Catholic prelates from all parts of the world. Conspicuous among the Americans present will be Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore.

BUY ONLY BROOMS MADE IN EUGENE

Eugene needs manufacturers and is advertising for them, but the people will find that there is something else to do to get them than to merely wish for them. The town must support them or they will be slow in coming. Now some time ago a broom factory was established here. The merchants promised that if they would establish such an industry here they would use their brooms in preference to outside makes. Nevertheless, at the present time they are coming into the freight office daily shipments of outside brooms. The local factory supplies all the smaller towns of Lane county—Coburg, Springfield, Mapleton and Florence, for instance, using nearly exclusively Eugene brooms. The local merchants cannot be altogether blamed, as they have to supply public demands. The people are to blame. Every housewife should call for and insist upon a "made in Eugene" broom, when she buys. This is the best way to boost. One at first may not see it, but nevertheless, these manufacturers will not be too enthusiastic in advising other prospective capitalists in investing here when they have not the support of the town. Don't forget, use "made in Eugene" goods.
