San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—In the Mission Street Pavillion tomorrow afternoon, before what promises to be one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a pugilistic event in San Francisco, Battling Nelson, the formidable Dane, will step into the arena to defend the lightweight championship against the man from whom he won the title in the same ring on July 4 last. His opponent will be Joe Gans, the veteran negro lightweight, who held the championship honors with ease until his second encounter with the Chicago lad.

The bout is slated as a forty-five-round affair. According to the articles, 70 per cent of the gate receipts will go to the winner and 30 per cent to the loser. The weight will be 133 pounds, stripped, ringside. Eddie Smith will referee the contest.

Reports from the Nelson camp today are to the effect that the Dane is in the best of condition and ready for the going to call him into the ring. Reports of the same rosy hue emanate from the Gans quarters. Whatever the true condition of the negro may be it is certain that he has trained for this fight as he never trained before. Several weeks in the mountains and a period of strict training in quarters are said to have put him in the best possible shape. The hard training in which he has indulged and the fact that he has been boxing better than he did when he worked for his previous battle with Nelson has given his admirers so much confidence that they are betting freely on him to beat the Dane. The indications are that there will be plenty of betting at even money at the ringside.

however, and that he lacks the dazzling speed which has governed his previous battles in this and other cities.

After the fight Owen Moran said to the assembled newspapermen: "I broke my right hand in the second round. After that it was almost useless. At that I think I won by a mile. I am willing to fight Attell 45 rounds, winner to take all."

BILLY PAPKE WINS HARD FIGHT AGAINST KITCHELL

Vernon Arena, Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—Stanley Ketchel, of Michigan, middleweight champion of the world, was knocked out in the 12th round at Jeffries' Vernon arena at 4 o'clock this afternoon by Billy Papke, of Illinois, who is now the middleweight champion of the world. It was a case of the Illinois thunderbolt against the Michigan cyclone, and the thunderbolt won. Both men entered the ring in apparently perfect condition. Ketchel had a decision over Papke in a previous ten-round bout, but neither had ever been knocked out.

Papke Ignores Formality

Both men are as clean-looking prizefighters as one sees, but the bout ended as one of the bloodiest in ring history. Ketchel came in wearing a tattered dressing gown and a worn hunting cap and trunks of green gauze. He had a feline stride, the smile of an unspooled boy, a fine brow, wide, clear eyes and a shrewd look of purpose. When Papke came in he also wore an old dressing gown and a boyish smile. Ketchel was freshly shaven, while Papke was unshaven. Ketchel wore the air of an undefeated conqueror and was plainly the great favorite of the crowd, which had been betting on him at 2 to 1.

When Ketchel stepped to the center for the second round it was seen that his right eye was closed. At the next intermission his seconds lanced the eye socket and sucked the blood, but Ketchel never again regained the sight of his right eye. Before the finish the other eye was all but closed, and for the last three rounds he staggered about the ring, dizzy, like a drunken man, practically blind.

The eleventh round was a repetition of the tenth, with Papke hammering Ketchel at will and the latter staggering around the ring, unable to see. The gong saved him just as he was knocked through the ropes.

After a minute of fighting in the 12th, Papke sent Ketchel to the mat twice, and the second time the Michigan boy was counted out.

Papke finished almost as strong as when he entered the ring. Ketchel presented a terrible spectacle. Both eyes were swollen into great black puffs and completely closed. His lips were swollen. His face was beaten and cut and puffed out of shape.

ATTELL AND MORAN FIGHT WAS DRAWN

Colma Arena, San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Abie Attell, the champion featherweight of America, and Owen Moran, England's premier boxer in that division, fought a drawn battle at the Colma open-air arena this afternoon in the presence of about 4000 spectators. Referee Jack Welch unhesitatingly grasped both lads by the hand, signifying that the fight was a draw. The decision seemed to please the crowd and there were cheers galore for each fighter as he wended his way from the ring.

Same But Even Fight

The fight, on the whole, was rather tame, but this was offset by the cleverness exhibited by both fighters. The fight was very even and was characterized by Moran's aggressiveness and Attell's cleverness in blocking and his all-around work from a defensive standpoint. The consensus opinion would indicate that the Hydrus has gone back quite a bit,
