

Politics and Politicians

The Independence League of this state has nominated a state ticket headed by A. F. Ote, of Cincinnati, as candidate for governor.

Nine out of the sixteen Democratic nominees for congress from Oregon have Republican opposition.

David W. Hill, former speaker of the Missouri house of representatives, has announced his candidacy for United States senator on the Republican side.

The Massachusetts Socialists have nominated a complete state ticket, headed by James F. Carey, of Haverhill, for governor.

Elliott Root, secretary of state, has been chosen as a delegate to the Republican state convention which is to meet in Saratoga next week.

Congressman W. Bourke Cochran, of New York, has accepted an invitation from the Democratic campaign committee to deliver a series of speeches in the Middle West.

The Iowa "stand-patters" are said to favor Congressman Gilbert N. Hagen, of the Fourth district, as the best man to make the race against Governor Cummins for the United States senate.

Republicans of New England are to hold a big barbecue at Point of Pines, near Boston, on September 15. Congressman Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, will be one of the speakers.

The Republican state committee of Missouri is to have the services of Arnold Shanklin, United States consul-general to Panama, for a speaking tour of the state in September and October.

State Senator Archibald McNeill, of Bridgeport, Conn., who was a candidate for the vice presidential nomination at the Denver convention last July, has declined to become a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Connecticut.

The Association of Southern Democrats, composed of former residents of the South now living in New York City, which was quite prominent in the presidential campaign of 1892, has been reorganized to campaign for the Bryan and Kern ticket.

Editors of forty trade journals published in various parts of the country met in convention in Chicago recently, and after forming a permanent organization voted their support for Bryan and the Democratic ticket.

J. Elwood Cox, who has been nominated for governor of North Carolina by the Republicans of that state, is known as the "Bobbins King" from the fact that his factories make more bobbins for spinning cotton than any other concern in the world.

William D. Mahon, president of the International Association of Street Railway Employees, will be the Democratic candidate for congress against Representative Edwin Denby in the First Michigan district. Mr. Denby declared for the open shop at the time of the telegraphers' strike last year, since which time he has been bitterly opposed by the labor organizations.

John Hays Hammond, the new chairman of the executive committee of the National League of Republican Clubs, is probably the most famous mining engineer in the world. Only within the last year or two has he been active in politics. For a few weeks prior to the Republican national convention in Chicago last June he was a candidate for the nomination for vice president. Mr. Hammond is a native of San Francisco and was a class mate of William H. Taft at Yale University.

LOWELL ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.) Lowell, Sept. 9.—Mr. Goodman, our genial road supervisor, is repairing the roads near the Middle Fork school house.

There are a great many people on the go and the roads at this time of the year are thronged with teams and travelers of all descriptions, some enroute to Eastern Oregon, some hunters, some to Kitson Springs and the mines.

The Oregon Eastern surveyors are still camped at the Warner hot springs on Salt creek, and purchase will be until snow lies on the mountains and drives them out.

Hunters do not report very good luck killing big game so far, as it has been most too dry, although the short rainy spells have put out the forest fires, and from this time on we may look for better hunting weather.

Jake Neet, of Eastern Oregon, is visiting his children at Rush Island. Quite a number of Rush Islanders and the Lowells attended the Dexter church services held by the Rev. Mr. Baker the last Sunday of August and enjoyed the pleasure of two sermons and a sumptuous repast of chicken pie and other dainties too numerous to mention.

Some of the slashings of brush around Lowell have not been burned yet.

The late rains have been a great help to the late potatoes, corn and garden stuff. The fruit crop is good, but there was a light crop of wild berries.

They Take the Kinks Out

"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for many years, with increasing satisfaction. They take the kinks out of my stomach, liver and bowels, without loss of friction," says N. H. Brown, of Portland, Vt. Guaranteed satisfactory at W. A. Kay's drug store, 250

Advertisements, Like Clocks, Should Keep Running

A store's advertisements tell the people what is "doing" at that store—what is new, what is inviting, why today is a good time to visit the store. People look for the ads to tell them these things just as naturally as they would look at a clock to tell the time. Sometimes a clock does not run—sometimes a store's ads does not run. A "run-down" clock or ad are about equally unsatisfactory, unserviceable, misleading. Curious thing about it is that a merchant who would think it absurd to have a run-down or out-of-repair clock will, sometimes, deliberately let his ad stop running. It's not wise, nor good business, nor defensible on any known grounds—but it is sometimes done.

hands which can stretch across the sea to the eastward might do just as well by extending similar evidences of kin and friendship toward the west. After viewing Sperry's fighting machines, the Australians are reported to be desirous of having a navy of their own, rather than paying expenses for an imperial outfit which must be directed from London. Furthermore, there are hints of a bond of sympathy between the English of Australia and the Americans because of a certain unanimity of views concerning immigration of Orientals. These points are being developed with the voyage of the battleships, and there is natural curiosity to know what other political features may be elaborated before Sperry shall be sighted at Hampton Roads. Without meaning to be personal, it may be said that a stenographic report of some of the alleged "important" political conferences would consist largely of, "What will you have, old man?" "A little more of the same, please." Just now the professional politicians are complaining because voters are not active enough, and the day after election a bunch of them will be complaining of too much activity. Impossible to please everybody, you know. Attention is being called to a rule of the late Russell Sage never to lend one man more than $500,000, no matter how good the security was, we suppose as a warning to reckless lenders. However, we do not need such a rule. Baltimore may not have succeeded in wholly checking off the scandalous stories built on the shooting of one of its male citizens while in the company of a friend's wife, at Atlantic City, but it is entitled to credit for trying. We are not sure just how the St. Paul man steered Mr. Bryan into a music store and had a phonograph turn loose his own speech on him should be classed, but it is something, all right, other than a mere man. So far as we know, political workers have yet borrowed an idea from the drummers and introduced a button, bearing the injunction, "Enthuse, darn you, enthuse," but that's not saying that they won't. "THIS DATE IN HISTORY." C. "THIS IS MY 55TH BIRTHDAY." Ove Gude. Ove Gude, who last December was selected to succeed the late Christian Haug as minister to the United States from Norway, was born in Dusseldorf, Germany, September 11, 1853. He is the son of Hans Fredrick Gude, a famous landscape painter. After completing his studies he began his diplomatic career in 1878, as attache to the legation of Norway and Sweden at Paris. Later he was attached to the ministry of foreign affairs, and was also attached to the legation at Berlin, to which place he was appointed in 1884. Later he was transferred to London as attache of the legation. In November, 1897, Mr. Gude was appointed minister to Madrid, and later transferred to Copenhagen. Though young in years as compared with the average age of men in the diplomatic service, Mr. Gude has earned an enviable reputation for his knowledge of international law and diplomacy. CITIES OF THE FUTURE (Pendleton East Oregonian.) Oregon is not always going to be a one-city state. Eugene, in the Willamette valley, Pendleton, in Eastern Oregon, and Medford in the southern portion of the state, and perhaps Marshfield on the lower coast, will grow into metropolitan centers and will be entitled to state institutions. So the tendency toward centralizing every interest and every institution in Portland or any other one city of the state should be discouraged. Oregon is a big state, with diversified interests, and will always demand a big, broad policy for the conduct of the state institutions and state enterprises. It will keep the rich red blood of state pride flowing more freely and more vigorously through her veins if the state institutions are distributed over the state where people in all parts of the commonwealth may enjoy the presence of the state's great machinery.
