There is promise of an interesting fight in the Empire state this fall. Governor Hughes has made a great many enemies by his opposition to race track gambling and other reform laws, and his opponent, Lieutenant Governor Chanler, is likely to receive a large majority south of Harlem river in the Greater New York district, which is just as sure to be met with a big majority for Hughes up state, where he is remarkably strong with the farmers, and in the smaller cities. Both candidates are clean men personally, but Chanler has the advantage of a united party back of him, while the republicans are rent by factional quarrels. It is a bold, reckless prophet who dares make a prediction as to an election result at this time, and especially in the state of New York. We pass it up.

Those who profess to believe that cooking is a lost art should have seen the contest for little girls at a local business house in this city yesterday. The little tots, some under six years of age, turned out, under public scrutiny and in the most matter of fact way imaginable, biscuits that were every bit as "good as mother used to make;" and some way we can't help thinking that those little girls all have just about the right kind of mothers.

Eugene ought to have a fire alarm system that would be quicker and more reliable than the method of telephoning alarms to the station. Several times the location has been misunderstood and the firemen have gone in the wrong direction. We understand that an up-to-date system, with probably twenty boxes scattered over the city, could be put in for about $1600, and it would seem a wise thing to do.

Not so long ago many beautiful and uplifting editorials were written on the "passing of the political boss," but somehow or other most of the old bosses seem to be still in the game, with big stacks of chips in front of them.

From the objections they are raising to Lilley, the party candidate for governor, we take it that some of the Connecticut manufacturers do not love flowers even a little bit—republican manufacturers, we mean.

Mr. Higgen is now spellbinding in the south just as enthusiastically as though he really had a chance to get a single southern electoral vote. He may never be president, but we can't help admiring his nerve.

Oh, no; Diaz won't do a thing to the tax-lists of the 700-odd cities recently discovered in Mexico—he'll teach them what it means to exist without his knowledge, and the tuition fee will be heavy.

In arranging for speeches by Taft and Bryan at its coming convention, in Chicago, the managers of the Lake and Gulf Deep Water Association demonstrated that they know good advertising.

Wonder if the comptroller of the currency will hand out a line of temperance talk at the conference of national bank examiners he has called to meet in Washington on the 21st inst.?

When he takes to collecting things, we say he is a man with a hobby, but when he tries to collect bills, we call him a nuisance, and let it go at that.

Dealers in second-hand furniture also need advertising—hence the periodical appearance of the story of finding $10,000 in an old sofa.

The game of carrying states on paper is as easy and just about as effective as trying to get rich quick on a Tom Lawson tip.

Politics and Politicians

Louis E. Remington of Providence has been nominated by the Prohibition party for governor of Rhode Island.

James S. Sherman, Republican candidate for vice-president and Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, are to speak in Chicago on September 28 under the auspices of the Hamilton Club of that city.

The Idaho Republican convention, which met recently in Boise, turned down a proposed endorsement of a direct primary law by a vote of 160 to 120. An endorsement of county local option was incorporated in the platform.

Theodore A. Bell of California, who was chairman of the Democratic national convention at Denver last July, will take the stump in Oregon for the Bryan and Kern ticket next week. One of his addresses will be delivered in Eugene.

Nathan Straus, the millionaire merchant who has been selected as chairman of the Democratic Business Men's League, is a brother of Oscar B. Straus, Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor and who is counted on as one of the strongest supporters of Taft and Sherman. The two brothers, though they stand on opposite sides of the political fence, are almost inseparable companions and their vast business and financial interests are identical.

Frank B. Kellogg, who has been entrusted by President Roosevelt with the direction of the government suits against the Standard Oil Company, is said to cherish an ambition to succeed Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota in the United States senate.

The Democratic party of Porto Rico has nominated Jacinto Tesidor, a lawyer of San Juan, its candidate for the post of resident commissioner at Washington. This is the first time the Democratic party has participated in the island elections.

This is proving a disastrous year for members of the United States officers seeking re-election. The latest to go down in defeat is Levi Ankeny of the State of Washington. His toga will be worn after next March by W. L. Jones, at present a representative in Congress.

If William H. Taft is elected this November he will become President of the United States at almost the same age as John Tyler when the latter succeeded William Henry Harrison as the occupant of the White House.

Thomas R. Marshall, whom the Democrats of Indiana expect to put in the gubernatorial chair as a result of the November election, is putting up a lively campaign. For many years Mr. Marshall has been well known as a lawyer and politician in northern Indiana. One of his strongest cards is his personal popularity.

Great preparations are being made for the entertainment of the convention of the National Republican League at Cincinnati next week. Advice received by the local committee in charge of arrangements indicate a large attendance of delegates representing Republican clubs throughout the country.

The activity of the Independence party in naming candidates for governor and other officers in many States has rather surprised the leaders of the older parties. The party will have tickets not only in Massachusetts, New York and Illinois, in which the party has displayed most activity in the past, but in a number of other states as well.

"This is My 39th Birthday." James A. Calder.

Hon. James A. Calder, minister of education and provincial treasurer of Saskatchewan and one of the foremost men in the public life of that province of Canada, was born in Oxford County, Ontario, September 17, 1869. He went to Winnipeg in 1882 and was educated there, graduating from Manitoba University in 1889. Two years later he journeyed farther west to accept a position as principal of the high school at Moose Jaw. In 1894 he was appointed a school inspector and his jurisdiction extended so as to include the entire territory west of Moose Jaw. Later Mr. Calder became secretary to the council of public instruction which preceded the department of education. As deputy commissioner of the department and later as minister of education he did much to build up the public schools of Saskatchewan. When he assumed charge there were in all 560 school districts in the territory. Today there are no fewer than 2,000 and the number is steadily increasing. In addition to his work as an educator, Mr. Calder has attained considerable prominence as a lawyer.

Advertisements, Like Clocks, Should Keep Running

A store's advertisements tell the people what is "doing" at that store—what is new, what is inviting, why today is a good time to visit the store. People look for the ads to tell them these things just as naturally as they would look at a clock to tell the time.

Sometimes a clock does not run—sometimes a store's ads does not run. A "run-down" clock or ad are about equally unsatisfactory, unserviceable, misleading. Careful thing about it is that a merchant who would think it absurd to have a run-down or out-of-repair clock will, sometimes, deliberately let his ad step running. It's not wise, nor good business, nor defensible on any known grounds—but it is sometimes done.
