Advertisements, Like Clocks, Should Keep Running

A store's advertisements tell the people what is "doing" at that store—what is new, what is inviting, why today is a good time to visit the store. People look for the ads to tell them these things just as naturally as they would look at a clock to tell the time. Sometimes a clock does not run—sometimes a store's ad does not run. A "run-down" clock or ad are about equally unsatisfactory, unserviceable, misleading. Careless thing about it is that a merchant who would think it absurd to have a run-down or out-of-repair clock will, sometimes, deliberately let his ad step running. It's not wise, nor good business, nor defensible on any known grounds—but it is sometimes done.

LABOR NOTES.

The building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, the organization of which was authorized and directed by the Norfolk convention, has been duly installed and chartered by the American Federation of Labor. Its offices are at Washington, D. C.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America was founded in the convention at Chicago, August 12, 1881. At first it had only twelve local unions and 3,042 members. Now it has grown to number 1,703 local unions in 1,275 cities and more than 161,200 taxpaying members.

The total labor force actually at work on the last day of May on the Panama Canal was 21,036. After a trial of eleven weeks the employment of convicts and local prisoners at highway building in the canal zone is said to have produced revenue exceeding the cost of keeping the prisoners, besides improving their condition.

The Trade Union Congress, in session at Nottingham, England, voted down a motion for amalgamation with the Labor party, which is controlled by the Socialists. Two fraternal delegates from the American Federation of Labor, who had come to watch the proceedings, were received by the Congress with great consideration.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will spend one million dollars in the construction of permanent headquarters in Cleveland, according to plans just announced by Warren S. Stone, Grand Chief of the organization. This sum includes the cost of the ground required for the structure. The brotherhood will erect its new home and office building at the corner of St. Clair avenue and Ontario Street in that city and contemplate the erection of a skyscraper. The plans will be completed in a few weeks and construction will begin next month.

"This is My 81st Birthday."

John T. Rowbridge, the well known author and poet, was born September 18, 1827, in Monroe county, N. Y. He lived on a farm until he was 17 years old, after which he taught school in Illinois and in Lockport, New York. At 16 his first printed bit of verse had appeared in a Rochester paper. In 1847 he went to New York with a volume of verse in his pocket and a collection of prose sketches. After many rebuffs the young literary aspirant finally succeeded in getting some of his prose sketches into a magazine and before long he was able to earn his livelihood by his ever busy pen. At 21 he went to Boston and in that city and vicinity he has continued to reside ever since. In the early years of his residence in Boston Mr. Rowbridge enjoyed the intimate friendship of many great figures in American literature, among them Longfellow, Whittier, Emerson, Lowell and Holmes. In 1853 appeared Mr. Rowbridge's first book entitled "Father Brightshoes." Of the fifty or more books that the author has written since that time all are alive and many of his boys' books have had new editions each year.

SALEM WANTS PURE WATER.

(Salem Daily Journal.) The Capital Journal believes in the doctrine of public ownership of public utilities.

This applies especially to such service as WATER SUPPLY OF CITIES. We are not prepared to undertake a large variety of publicly-owned public service corporations.

Let us make a success of municipal water supply and do a good clean big job of that. Let all small jobberies be cut out and let us GO STRAIGHT FOR A SUPPLY OF MOUNTAIN WATER.

For the Capital City of the state the best is none too good as the whole state is interested.

An abundant supply of pure water brought in from an uncontaminated source FOR GREATER SALEM IS WHAT IS WANTED.

A measure that is just and broad, and fair to all the people and to the state, is what is needed.

The city of Salem WOULD BE THE BIGGEST BENEFICIARY BY bringing in mountain water.

This city would advance rapidly in population, in desirability as a home city, with mountain water.

The state institutions would be SAFEGUARDED FROM EPIDEMICS from fire and from drought.

The time has come to act in this matter and the best class of citizens should interest themselves.

But primarily and fundamentally the people should not sanction anything short of public ownership and mountain water.

THE EUGENE DAILY GUARD.

PRINTING CO., INC. Charles H. Fisher.

Some people are eternally and overlastingly trying to frown down the prize ring. If there were no "champs" in the country, where would the melodramatic theatre recruit its stars? There is Bat Nelson, for instance. When he had conquered the invincible Gans, there was a theater manager at the ringside ready to give him his own price for appearing in his house as the leading man. Of course, Nelson is not an actor, but that makes no difference. All he is supposed to do is to appear at the opportune moment, rescue the heroine from the clutches of the villain and make off with her in his arms to the wilds of the wings.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is at last forced to fight on the defensive, and lays all the blame for arbitrary ruling upon the house rules. He is probably going the way of David B. Henderson, who was forced out of the speaker's chair and public life as well, by the revolt against his tyranny. The despotic power exercised by the speaker over congress for years has been a reflection upon the boast of free representative government and his absolute reign should have ended long before this.

An Eastern editorial writer consumes more than a column of space and exhausts the English language on the subject of "Shall the Japanese dominate Asia?" The answer can be made in a paragraph. The people of the Pacific states who are acquainted with the characteristics of the Japanese know that he will dominate anything that he can, be it in America, Asia or Europe. There is no limit too his ambition and greed. He is out for all that is in sight.

The growth in attendance at the state fair only indicates the population of Oregon is increasing. Only a few years ago, a crowd of 30,000 would have been considered large, even in Portland. This year an ordinary circus, such as comes every season, had 12,000 people under the canvas for a single performance—in Eugene and it was remarked on the streets during the day that there didn't seem to be much of a "circus crowd" in town.

Somebody has figured out that an ordinary man can utter 7500 words in an hour. A crusty old bachelor-editor, in commenting on the above, says that nobody has attempted to compile statistics on how many words an angry woman can utter in the same length of time.

"Why are there so many adages like 'The best man seldom wins,' to console the loser?" asks a reader. That's dead easy, brother—the winner doesn't need to be consoled. Come again, the lachring is always out.

Naturally, the political big guns are in demand as spellbinders. But that is not necessarily of political significance—it may only be curiosity to see and hear the men who are most conspicuously in the limelight.

Former Senator Sullivan of Mississippi, publicly says he is proud of having led a mob which lynched a negro. There's no telling what some men will be proud of.

"Significant, though not conclusive," was Frank Hitchcock's oracular reply, when asked his opinion of the Vermont election. Can you beat it for sidestepping?

ESSAY ON EDITORS.

A little boy was given the stunt by his father to write an essay on editors and here is the result: "I don't know how newspapers come to be in the world. I don't think God does for he hasn't got nothing to say about them and editors in the Bible. If the editor makes a mistake folks say he ought to be hung, but if a doctor makes any mistakes he burles them and people damn say nothing because doctors can read and write Latin. When the editor makes a mistake there is lawsuits, and swearing and a big fuss; but if a doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or anybody knowing what it means; but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. Any old college can make a doctor or lawyer or preacher; an editor has to be born."—Exchange.

TO HUNTERS AND CAMPERS

If you are thinking of going into the mountains hunting or fishing, call up Red 1741, or call at 463 Olive street. tf

A man may use a wart on the back of his neck for a collar button, ride in the back coach of a railroad train to save interest on his money till the conductor gets around, stop his watch nights to save wear and tear, leave his "in" or "it" without a dot or cross to save ink, pasture his mother's grave to save corn, but a man of this sort is a gentleman and a scholar compared with the fellow that will take a newspaper two or three years and when asked to pay for it puts it into the postoffice marked, "refused."—Bill Nye.
