TO ACT UPON IMPORTANT MATTERS IN INDIANA

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 18.—Coming as it does on the eve of election, the proceedings of the Indiana legislature, which convened in special session today, will be watched with more than ordinary interest. The ostensible object of Governor Hanly in calling the extraordinary session was to provide for necessary appropriations to carry on the business of the State, and what is regarded as of even greater importance, to take action in the "night rider" troubles of Southern Indiana. The governor declares that the conditions that have existed there have bordered on a state of anarchy and he fears that the troubles are about to recur, as the season for cutting the tobacco crop is close at hand. Other subjects will be taken up by the legislature, however, and the politicians of both parties are speculating more on these matters of prospective legislation than on the action that may be taken in regard to appropriations and tobacco raiders. The Democrats are preparing to make a fight for several measures, and their attitude toward the governor's bills probably will be determined by what the Republicans concede to them. They will make a great play at the special session against so-called extravagance and waste in the state administration, and while it is not expected that anything will be accomplished in the matter the discussion may have an important bearing on the present campaign. The Democrats will demand the repeal of the metropolitan police law and the enactment of a law guaranteeing deposits in State banks. As the Democratic platform declares for local option with the township or ward as the unit, the Democrats will oppose the county unit plan of Governor Hanly.

Rueben K. Greer brought to this office a stone weighing one and a-half pounds that was thrown over his premises from the quarry on the butte, lodging in Mr. Hovey's back yard, coming close to striking a little girl, Ethel McCarn, in the back. She is a sister to the one struck by a rock in Mr. Greer's front yard about a month ago. Mr. Greer says that rocks were thrown yesterday upon the top of the house of Mr. Stumons, his next door neighbor.

A traveling man who was at Cottage Grove yesterday told a reporter this morning of Mr. Brund, of the firm of Metcalf & Brund of that city, killing a large buck deer a few days ago with rock east of there. Mr. Brund was going along the road and seeing the buck in the brush near by he got out of the vehicle and picking up a rock in the road, threw it at the deer, having no idea that he would even hurt it. He was greatly surprised to see it fall to the ground and when he reached it the deer was dead. He struck it in a vital spot in the head.
