UNIVERSITY

THREE HUNDRED YEARS OLD

Madrid, Sept. 21.—Under the auspices of King Alfonso and the Prince of the Asturias, there was opened today a most interesting celebration to mark the 300th anniversary of the founding of the famous University of Oviedo. Representatives of universities and learned societies throughout Europe are attending the celebration, which will extend over a period of several days. One of the interesting features of the program will be the unveiling of a statue of the founder of the university, Fernando Valdes y Salas, archbishop of Seville.

CITY NEWS

F. J. Schofield is shipping a carload of bones to Portland for fertilizer.

The concrete work on the new Cherry block was begun this morning.

Over one hundred students arrived from the north on the afternoon train today. Most of them were from Portland.

Today was a busy day for school book dealers, their places being crowded with children from morning until night.

Six carloads of merchandise for the Eugene merchants arrived here this morning. This is more than usual at one time.

It is said the street car company is contemplating putting on another car at night, giving the same service between 6:20 and 11 pm in the day time.

George Fordham, a laborer, was fined $10 and costs in the police court this morning for being drunk and disorderly Saturday night. The amount was paid.

Mrs. Tollman is not going East, she having received word that her mother is better and it will not be necessary for her to go.

Drs. Bartle and Sealefe today performed a successful operation upon the six-months-old child of Frank Fisk for a tumor of the spinal cord.

W. L. Butler, who has been working at Wendling for some time past, is moving to Portland, where he will enter the poultry and fish business.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Commercial Club meets Wednesday evening in the club rooms. A good program will be given. All strangers in the city cordially invited. Mrs. McMurphy, president.

Frank Northrup and family have arrived from Wayne, Neb., and will become permanent residents of Eugene. They are located in the Denhart residence at the corner of East Tenth and High streets.

Herman Schmidt, the Lane county representative of A. C. Ruby, the horse dealer, of Portland, has just sold to parties in Marshfield a fine Belgian stallion for $4000. It weighs 1980 pounds.

Mrs. Grace Ivy, of this city, today filed in the circuit court a suit for divorce from her husband, Claude Ivy, alleging desertion. She asks for the custody of their minor child. I. N. Harbaugh is her attorney.

The remains of O. R. Bean, the pioneer of Siuslaw, who died in March, 1890, have been brought from Mapleton to the Masonic cemetery of Eugene, where they have been buried beside those of his wife.

One or two of the new brass raspators in the waiting room of the new depot have been stolen during the past two days. There are a good many holes around and it is probable that it is the work of one of them.

Bonylle's Monthly, published at

Portland, has written to Manager Hartog, of the Commercial Club, for a 1200-word write-up of Eugene for the magazine, which will devote a page in the near future, free of charge, to push Eugene along.

Rev. D. E. Olson, of this city, has just completed a revival meeting at the Christian church of Puyallup, Wash., with 200 additions to the church. Twenty young men there have been dedicated to the ministry and they will attend the Eugene Bible University.

Otto's grill was opened to the public Saturday night and a big business was done. The formal opening was held Sunday evening when a table d'hote dinner was served to several hundred people. Everybody who has eaten at the place have praised the service and the quality of the meals served.

The Astoria Chamber of Commerce has adopted the Eugene Commercial Club's idea for envelopes for the business men—that with the inscription "Eugene is the place for you." The Portland Commercial Club has also copied the idea and is using the name "Oregon" instead of the city.
