

the methods of installing parts and to demonstrate the simplicity of construction and accessibility of parts of the instrument. That is very good as far as it goes, but what the people would really like to see is the workings of a telephone that can be used without having to ring up "central" a half-dozen times, when the answer is hurled back at you, "line is busy, call again."

Whenever Captain Haines, murderer of a New York magazine owner, finds time hanging heavy on his hands, he might send for Harry Thaw's expense account and carefully study the items. There is much food for thought in the several thousand items contained therein. It costs a lot of money to escape the electric chair on an insanity defense, for alienists' testimony, if it is the right kind, comes extremely high.

The campaign still remains as frigid as the proverbial iceberg. Some days ago we were promised something really startling in the line of sensationalism, but it fails to appear on the horizon. What is lacking is a lot of the old-time spellbinders to lend some interest to the occasion.

Estimated on the usual basis of figuring population from school attendance, Eugene has grown not less than two thousand in the past year. We should think that this would be only a conservative estimate judged by the number of new houses that have been built and occupied.

In view of the present prominence in politics of big officials, it smacks strongly of humbuggery to reduce the salary of a Denver letter carrier $200 a year because he was too active in politics. Poor devil; he must have guessed wrong.

Perhaps if Mrs. William Astor would listen to a few speeches in an English parliamentary campaign she would change her mind about America having all the politicians and England all the statesmen.

Hauling down the flag does not necessarily enrage anybody. This is proven by the reception of the president's order to do the hauling down stunt in Cuba on the 28th of next January.

This New York girl who is to marry the son of an English multi-millionaire ought to be credited with doing a little to even up things, even if that was not her object.

Now that all the sideshow elections have been pulled off and everybody is satisfied, or say they are, let the band start the music for the big show.

Lots of folks don't need a tip from Attorney-General Bonaparte to be convinced that he will retire from office on the 4th of next March.

BLAZING THE TRAILS

They dart from Dan to Beersheba— They leap like kangaroos. They breakfast out at Council Bluffs And sup at Syracuse.

One loops the loop to Fairview Ere the dawn comes with the day. The other makes a running jump And lands at Oyster Bay.

One searches out to Keokuk. One races up to Troy. One whizzes through Missouri And one covers Illinois.

The campaign growing strenuous— 'Twould break a serpent's back To follow all the trails now blazed By Hitchcock and by Mack.

One dashes out to Denver And one toils to Timbuctoo; One chases to Chicago Upon the atmosphere.

Ere the other gets half through. One jerks Taft out of Arkansas And moves him up to Maine; One boosts Bill Bryan out of Butte And checks him for Champaign.

One breakfasts down in Kankakee And sleeps in Jacksonville. One goes to bed at Fresno And wakes up at Bunker Hill.

The rails are red and burning hot. The air with smoke is black. And dust hangs heavy o'er the trails Of Hitchcock and of Mack.

The engines puff and smoke and wheeze— There is a whizz and whirr; As Hitchcock passes New Orleans— A hot and hazy blur.

Another snort and chug and toot. A mad and mighty cheer. As Mack goes by, a fancy streak Upon the atmosphere.

From Barton Rouge to Plymouth Rock The hazy highway bends; From Burlington to Baltimore— And ere the campaign ends The red horizon will be split— A long and winding crack. And Space will somewhere hold the trails Of Hitchcock and of Mack.

—J. W. Foley in New York Sun.

MEANEST WAY TO ACCENT ONE OF FOUR WORDS.

A problem which has floated back from Manhattan opens quite a wide field for debate as any of Browning's most intricate fancies. It has been a subject of hot discussion on more than one hotel veranda. It goes:

DID he kiss her? Did HE kiss her? Did he KISS her? Did he kiss HER?

Politics and Politicians

The initiative and referendum will be the main plank in the platform of William W. Allen, the independence League candidate for governor of Minnesota.

Aaron S. Watkins of Ohio, candidate of the Prohibition party for Vice President has reached Texas after a speaking tour that has carried him through most of the States of the South.

The national democratic managers have deemed it advisable to make a speaking campaign in the South and John W. Kern, candidate for the Vice-Presidency, has been picked to bear the brunt of it, beginning in early October.

A lively fight is developing in North Dakota for the seat of D. J. McCumber in the United States senate. Though Senator McCumber's term will not expire until 1910 one or two active candidates already are in the field.

General Stewart L. Woodford, who managed the Hughes Presidential boom, is authority for the statement that Andrew Carnegie not only wanted to see Governor Hughes named by the Republicans as their candidate for President, but helped to defray the expense of the movement to bring this about.

The Democratic campaign managers are said to have marked four Kansas congressmen for defeat in November. The Republican nominees placarded for defeat, according to the report, James M. Miller of the Fourth district, Phillip Pitt Campbell of the Third district, W. A. Calderhead of the Fifth and W. A. Reeder of the Sixth district.

In order to have a textile expert in the Sixty-first Congress in which tariff revision is to be undertaken at a special session, whichever party is successful in November, it is announced the members of the cotton, woolen, silk and retail trades have united on a candidate for Congress from a New York district. The man thus honored is Francis A. Adams, the textile editor of a New York paper.

Judge Franklin Ferriss, the special examiner appointed to take evidence in the suit of the Government against the Standard Oil Company, was born in Fern, New York, September 22, 1849, and graduated from Cornell University in 1873. After two years' study at the St. Louis law school, he began practice at the bar of that city and from 1893 to 1897 served as a member of the city council. He was elected judge of the 813 Judicial circuit of Missouri in 1898, which position he retained until 1903 to accept an appointment as general counsel to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company. SHIP FIFTEEN CARS OF APPLES FROM EUGENE Apples are beginning to come in at the headquarters of the Lane County Fruit & Vegetable Growers' Association and Secretary Holt is getting ready to begin shipping the fruit. A carload of box shooks came in Saturday and they are now being hauled to the headquarters and stored. A force of men will be put to work immediately to manufacture apple boxes. Secretary Holt says he thinks the association will ship at least 15 carloads of apples this fall, although W. G. Allen, of the Allen cannery, says there will be 30 carloads. The association has orders from Kansas and Louisiana, but it is not yet known what the price will be.

Secretary Holt says that only the best of the crop in this vicinity will be shipped. The association wants to make a reputation for Eugene as an apple center, and will ship only the best apples, those without a blemish.

ANOTHER CLOTHING STORE TO BE OPENED

BROWNSVILLE WOOLEN MILL STORE OF PORTLAND WILL HAVE BRANCH IN BERGER BUILDING.

John Fellerman, of Portland, is in the city today looking after the work of preparing the room in the Jake Berger building on Willamette street for a branch of the Brownsville Woollen Mill store of Portland, which will be opened some time next week.

Mrs. M. E. Watson, who is now part owner of the Electric and Dreamland theatres in this city, leased this room several weeks ago for another theatre, but decided later not to install it at present. She has sub-leased it to the Brownsville people at a good figure.

The new store will carry gentlemen's clothing and furnishing goods and blankets. Mr. Fellerman will manage the store.

Albany Democrat: The Eugene man who got drunk on Salem whiskey and was put in the Albany jail was discharged yesterday and left for home penniless. He declared that he had drunk his last drop of liquor, a good enough man when sober, a fiend when drunk—a sample of what whiskey does for a man. He had paid his fare to Eugene, but the conductor had sent in the ticket and would not honor it now. It is to be hoped that the man keeps his word and spends his money on his family rather than booze.
