THEODORE A. BELL ADDRESSES EUGENE PEOPLE

SPEAKS ON POLITICAL ISSUES OF THE DAY FROM DEMOCRATIC STANDPOINT—EUGENE THEATRE CROWDED AND EVERY ONE PLEASSED WITH SPEECH

The Eugene theatre was crowded last night with men and women to listen to the first big political address of the campaign in Eugene. Theodore A. Bell, of Napa, Cal., who was the chairman of the National Democratic convention at Denver, was the speaker. He held his audience and all who heard him, no matter of what political faith, were unanimous in the expression that it was one of the best political speeches ever delivered in Eugene.

L. M. Travis presided at the meeting and introduced Mr. Bell. In his introductory speech he said in part: "The greatest reward of attending the Democratic national convention which convened in Denver last July 1 found to be the opportunity of seeing and hearing the great men of militant Democracy there assembled. Each state had her great orator and statesman—but among the states it seemed to me that the convention selected as more brilliant than the rest Nebraska, with her Dunn; Oklahoma, with her Senator Gore; Kentucky, with her Ollie James; New York, with her Judge Parker, and last but not least, California, with her favorite son, the speaker of this evening. It is with great pleasure that I introduce to you Hon. Theodore A. Bell, of California.

Mr. Bell's Address

Mr. Bell said in part: "During the last four years two elements have appeared in the Republican party, the reformers and the reactionaries. The reformers have not succeeded in obtaining control of their party machinery, and the corporation element is still under control of the Republican party in both the state and nation. The reactionary element wrote the Republican National platform at Chicago, and nominated Sherman for vice president. Some doubt may exist as to whether Taft was acceptable to this element, but it is impossible to vote for Taft without approving the Republican platform, and accepting Sherman as vice president. The reforms that have been advocated by Roosevelt are not given a place in the Chicago platform, but were rejected by a large and overwhelming vote. Taft is bound by his party platform and it is useless for him to attempt to amend this platform, in his letter of acceptance. The people are demanding the election of United States senators by the direct vote of the people, an income tax, the physical valuation of the railroads, publicity of campaign contributions before election and revision of the tariff in the interests of the American consumers. Yet none of these measures can be accepted if Taft is elected president because the Chicago platform has omitted them all. Taft has openly declared his inability to any law that will compel the banks to secure their depositors against loss while this is made one of the leading issues in the campaign through the declaration of the Democratic National platform. The people generally are favoring a bank guaranty law. They believe they have the same right to demand security from banks when they deposit their money as the banks have to demand security from the law. The result of a bank guaranty law will be to keep all money of the country in active speculation.

More than five hundred million dollars have been drawn from deposits by the people during the last year and a being hoarded, and hidden away because people fear to have their money in the banks. A bank guaranty law will be a great asset, alive all panics, and runs special payment in every panic is fear and when the people are no longer anxious about their deposits the unusual demands upon the bank's resources will not occur. A similar law is working very satisfactorily in Oklahoma and as popular has it become in that section of the country that the Republican party of Kansas has been it necessary to declare in its platform the support of Mr. Roosevelt's plan open Bryan Mr. Bell said in part: "I am sure you are all aware of the fact that in the campaign of 1904 the Republican party was defeated because the people were behind Mr. Bryan. He produced no profit and has undoubtedly

J. M. Martin and H. D. Briggs are opening a gas-fitting establishment in the Sherman Hotel blacksmith building on West Seventh street.

J. B. Harris is setting up a fine monument over the grave of his wife in the Mulkey cemetery. It is of pink granite on a gray base and weighs 4000 pounds.

C. M. Hyskell, "big man" of the Oregon Valley Land Company, will be here tomorrow. See him at the office of Zimmerman & Rugh, 22 West Eighth street.

Ex-Sheriff Fred Flak will build three apartment houses on the old Ford property at the corner of East Eleventh and Oak streets. They will accommodate 14 families.

James Hayes, representing E. Clemens Horst Co., shipped a carload of hops for New York yesterday. He bought 50 bales from John Goslar at 7 cents per pound.

E. H. McCune, formerly a clerk in Friendly's store here, was married at Pendleton yesterday to Miss Adeline Schiffer, of that city. Mr. McCune is in business at Albany.

W. O. Heckart has bought from Mrs. Van Scoy a lot on Hilliard street between East Eleventh and East Twelfth, and will at once begin the erection of a modern bungalow there.

A Socialist local was organized at Springfield Monday night with 16 members. M. J. Lewis, a noted Socialist speaker, will be in Eugene next Sunday and address an open air meeting.

Grant Holcomb, of Springfield, deputy game warden for Lane county, calls attention to the fact that the Guard erred the other day in stating that the open season for killing Chinese pheasants opened on September 15. It should have read October 1.

Zimmerman & Rugh, local agents for the $200 farms now being sold in Southern Oregon, have succeeded in getting the head man of the company to come here tomorrow. He was at the land opening in Colorado last month. Don't fail to have a talk with him. He will be at our office at 22 West Eighth street.

The committee recently appointed by the Commercial Club to take up the matter of raising $15,000 for a promotion fund for the coming year met last night and discussed the matter at length. It adjourned until a future time, when sub-committees will be appointed and the work of soliciting will begin.

A force of men, including Homer Barkin, Claude Hansen, Clarence Baupre, Claud Buchanan and Joe Gorup, left for McKenzie Bridge today in company with Forest Supervisor Seltz, where they will work on the government trail that is being built across the summit of the mountains leading south from there.

A team belonging to S. Smeed was killed yesterday by running away and colliding with the electric railway trolley which crosses the road near Springfield. The team had become frightened at a train at Judkins' Point. The driver jumped off the wagon, thereby saving himself injury and possibly death.

The Guard was in error when it stated yesterday that S. W. B. Haynes, the Eighth street barber, had been arrested for making repairs to his residence in violation of the law. He simply put in a false floor at his barber shop and had no idea that he was violating the law. He thinks he will be easily cleared when the case comes up for trial tomorrow.

J. R. Coleman and W. E. Smith will at once build cement walks in front of their properties, on Pearl street in the rear of Eli Bangs' corner lot at the intersection of East Ninth street. J. M. Howe today received a telegram from Dr. Kingston at Grand Forks, B. C., regarding the condition of his son, Owen, who is ill there with typhoid fever. The telegram reads: "Owen's condition fairly good. Will wire if change for worse occurs." This is the first news Mr. Howe has received for several days, and he is not well informed as to the length of time his son has been sick, but hopes at any time to receive a letter giving full particulars.
