O. A. C. CONTEST HOLDS VERY GREAT INTEREST HERE

CORVALLIS PROSPECTS SLIGHTLY FADE—OREGON HAS TWO MONTHS FOR PREPARATION—YALE SYSTEM AGAINST MICHIGAN.

While perhaps no harder than other contests, the interest of the University students in the football prospects lies in the O. A. C.-Oregon contest on the Saturday preceding Thanksgiving. Last year's defeat added to the zest of the season and as O. A. C. takes the same view, the greatest game of the year for the two state colleges and the whole state of Oregon will be the annual struggle, which will be played in Portland on November 21.

O. A. C., up to the present time has been thought to have much brighter prospects than Oregon, for it was expected that the larger part of her men would return. A Corvallis paper of a late date states that both tackles, Bennet and the giant, Jamison, will probably not return. Rhinehart, one half-back and Emily, one, end, also will probably be absent, with one or two of the center trio, a guard or cenrte, and Hanan, a Roseburg player, also will not play. Altogether there will be six veterans against Oregon's five.

However, Norcross, of the farmers, has the advantage of knowing his men, and having their fullest confidece. Coach Forbes, on the other hand, has everything to develop outside of the five regulars.

Both teams ought to be about equal in kicking ability, Wolff bearing the reputation backed by repeated performance as being as good as Clarke and Moullen.

Forbes A Master.

While different in build from Norcross, and in almost everything, both men apparently have the same quality of getting along with their men and keeping them good humoured. Judging from the few nights' practice, Forbes, while strict, will be kind to the measliest scrub on the squad.

"Billy" Woods, substitute quarter back last year, will not try for the team this year on account of an injured knee, which was hurt last fall.

Ben Grout, a last year's substitute guard who played considerably on the first team, will not return to college until the second semester.

"Mike" Walker, who is working in Roberts Brothers store, was thought to be a candidate for the line position with a particular good show, but failed to enter college, business being more attractive.

Thus the situation appears that O. A. C. has a slight advantage in experience, which may possibly be overcome by Oregon's fine bunch of new material. The final victory will probably fall to the system which proves the best, the Yale or the Michigan. And on this fact the interest of hundreds of Eastern college men in the Northwest is based, some with O. A. C. and others with Oregon.

University Items.

The frame work of a temporary recitation building just across from the heating plant, is completed.

Despite the increased number of club organizations and the thorough canvas of the city for rooms and boarding places, many students are having trouble to find suitable quarters.

JEWISH NEW YEAR BEGINS THIS EVENING

New York, Sept. 25.—The setting of the sun this evening ushers in the celebration of Rosh Hashanah, or the festival of the New Year. This is the beginning of the year 5669 of the Hebraic calendar, which is traditionally supposed to count from the creation of the world. The festival is observed by the reformed and orthodox alike, except that the former observe one and the later two days. It is a season of rejoicing, and many families become reunited during its celebratino.

While New Year's day services are of a solemn character, as are the 10 days that follow, the most solemn day of the year is Yom Kippur, or the day of atonement, which will come as a climax to the ten days of penitence.

Elaborate preparations for the New Year and other holiday services have been made by the Jewish congregations throughout the metropolis. In addition to the regularly established congregations worshipping all the year round in places of worship owned or regularly rented by them, many improvised synagogues are needed for the New Year services because of the great number of Jews, on the lower East Side especially, who do not belong to any established congregation, but who desire to take part in the celebration of the festival. Therefore every available hall and place of public meeting on the East Side, many in Harlem and the Bronx, have been fitted up as temporary places of worship.

A handsome new synagogue is to be thrown open for the first time with the holding of the New Year's services tonight. This is the new Temple Ansche Chesed in Harlem. The services in this temple will be what is called the conservative orthodox, and an innovation will be a vested choir of mixed voices, the only choir of this character in any Jewish synagogue.

D. OGDEN MILLS' EIGHTY-THIRD BIRTHDAY

New York, Sept. 25.—D. Ogden Mills, the dean of New York's multimillionaires, was eighty-three years old today. Mr. Mills, though a native New Yorker, laid the foundation for his colossal fortune in California during the days of the gold fever and he still retains large interests in that state. For a man of his years he is unusually vigorous both mentally and physically. Recently he returned from England, where he attended the wedding of his granddaughter, Miss Jean Reid, daughter of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, to the Hon. John Ward.

WILMOT BLOCKS WELCH STREET RAILWAY FRACHISE

Albany, Sept. 24.—Because Councilman M. L. Wilmot of the Third ward refused to let the bill go to a third reading, the ordinance granting A. Welch a street railway franchise failed to pass the council last night. The commencement of the work on the street railway is thus delayed two weeks and the paving of First street is also delayed. Wilmot's action caused a stir in the council and members of that body indulged freely in caustic momment.
