

A Careful Man Protects His Family

By carrying a Life Insurance Policy. This is a wise plan and we have no criticism to offer.

The first necessity for a family however is a HOME. If you have gone this long without one, you should not delay another day. MATERIAL of all kinds is advancing, but is still reasonable. If you need a home and don't take advantage of this opportune time to build then get the insurance anyway for you surely are a DEAD ONE.

HEAVY FROST DOES BIG DAMAGE TO HOP CROP

Heavy frosts occurred last night and the night before and as a result the hops that had not yet been picked are badly injured, according to reports received at The Guard office today. At Seavey Brothers' big yard on the McKenzie the hops were turned brown by the frost, but it is thought that if they are picked immediately there will be no great damage, although they will not be as marketable as those that were picked before the frost came. Seavey Brothers will have about a week's picking yet.

Reports from other parts of the county indicate that the hops are ruined in some yards and picking ceased this morning in a number that had not been finished up. Ice about an eighth of an inch thick formed in basins of water in Eugene and surrounding country during the night.

MOVE TO OUST A MEDFORD COUNCILMAN

Medford, Or., Sept. 24.—To fill the law to the letter, as asked for in a petition filed with him for the recall of John D. Olwell, ward councilman, Benjamin M. Collins, recorder, will issue a call this week for a special election to be held on October 15. The petition was circulated several weeks ago and signed by many who afterward seemed desirous of having their names removed. In the meantime the petition has been gathering dust in the archives of the city hall, apparently lost until the original petitioners demanded action thereon.

It may be that a restraining order will be gotten out before the election call declaring it illegal. Mr. Olwell has three months more to serve.

FRANKLIN UNION IS DEDICATED IN BOSTON

The city of Boston was to be let out in small sums to apprentices in the trades during the period of one hundred years, and at the end of that time 100-131 of it was to be used for public improvement of the city and state. The first hundred years passed, and twenty-five more were consumed in debate as to the details of management and expenditure. At the end of that time the 100-131, amounting to about $100,000, was used to build the handsome structure dedicated today, and to the amount has been added by Andrew Carnegie an equal sum as an endowment.

The building is a handsome fire-proof structure of five stories. Class rooms are distributed throughout the building on every floor, and there are large draughting rooms, studies, laboratories and special lecture rooms for chemistry and physics. On the first floor are grouped the lobby, or exhibition room—the latter for the display of industrial material of various kinds—the offices of administration, the library and the large lecture hall, seating nearly 1000 persons, and designed carefully and scientifically to meet every requirement of proportion, ventilation, acoustics, light and convenience.

The lobby, or exhibition hall, is about fifty feet square and is treated in wrought iron and rare marbles. The frieze consists of a series of panels, each containing a painting to illustrate a trait of Franklin's many-sided character. Each group is flanked by smaller panels bearing inscriptions from "Poor Richard's Almanac." The paintings are arranged chronologically and thus afford a graphic biography of the great man by whose philanthropy the building was established.

The Franklin Union will be opened to students next Monday. Classes will be offered especially for foremen, mechanics, and others engaged in manufacturing or building industries. There will also be courses in shop formulae, steam, industrial chemistry, mathematics for builders, mechanics, machine drawing and industrial electricity.

ing effort gave a splendid interest to the occasion; to the teachers and pupils of the high, Central and Catholic schools for the beautiful manifestation of their patriotic spirit and their hearty demonstration of loyalty and welcome extended to our aged and crippled comrades—God bless them—and last, but by no means least, to the noble patriotic ladies of the Women's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R., whose loving hands provided and served the splendid banquet so generously and freely furnished to all the veterans and their friends. To the citizens whose generosity in subscribing funds for the occasion, a feeling of gratitude wells up in our hearts to you one and all.

A FRUIT CANNERY ASSURED AT ALBANY

Albany, Sept. 24.—A big fruit cannery for Albany is assured by the action of the Albany Commercial Club last evening. The club agreed to pay half the purchase price of the site for the plant, which will be erected by H. J. Moore, of Albany, and H. S. Giles, of Salem.

The proposed plant will have a capacity of 10,000 cans of fruit and will be in operation in time to handle the crop of fruit next spring. It is planned to steadily enlarge the output until a capacity of 10,000 cans of fruit is realized. The cannery will devote its work to fruit exclusively. Moore has been planning for the establishment of the plant for some time, and appeared before the Commercial Club last evening with a proposition to build a $10,000 plant if the club would pay half of the purchase price of $1800 for the site selected.
