THREE RIVAL CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT THERE

Mitchell, S. D., Sept. 28.—The Corn Palace exhibition has long held rank as one of the big annual fixtures of South Dakota, but this year's show, which opened here today, will undoubtedly eclipse all of its predecessors. No rosy-hued statements of the press agent are needed to convince one of this fact. Sufficient in itself is the announcement that during the first three days of the exhibition there will be speeches from three of the candidates for the presidency of the United States.

The first of the trio if William J. Bryan, who came to Mitchell today to fill his engagement to speak at the exhibition. Tomorrow the speaker will be William H. Taft, and on Wednesday the all-star program will wind up with an address by Eugene W. Chafin, the Prohibition nominee for president.

It is expected that each of the presidential candidates who makes a speech will have an audience of at least 20,000. Thousands of visitors are already in the city, and each arriving train is adding to the crowd. The exhibition is considered one of the most remarkable displays of farm products ever shown in the Northwest. Fine specimens of corn are on exhibition from nearly every county in South Dakota. Pumpkins weighing in the neighborhood of 100 lbs. and many other farm products are included in the display. In addition there are numerous free attractions for the entertainment of visitors.

Jellico, Tenn., Sept. 28.—A bloody affair occurred at Anthras, near the Tennessee-Kentucky line. The little Baptist church congregation was just leaving the edifice when fired upon by a gang of drunken men from a "blind tiger" nearby. John D. Bennett, J. W. McKinney and Edward Thomas were killed on the church steps and Rev. McKind shot and mortally wounded in the churchyard. A man named Gibson was also shot, but not dangerously wounded.

There is no telephone communication, and as Anthras is five miles off the railroad the names of the men implicated in the shooting have not been learned.

GROVER DID NOT WRITE ARTICLE ON MR. BRYAN

New York, Sept. 26.—The New York Times today prints the following communication from F. S. Hastings, executor of the estate of the late Grover Cleveland, denying that the late president wrote an article, which appeared in the Times and which represented Cleveland as favoring the election of William H. Taft to the presidency:

80 Broadway, Sept. 25.—To the Editor of the New York Times—Sir: Since our interview of September 22, which was followed on September 23 by the publication in the Times of a statement then made by me relative to the article attributed to the authorship of the late Grover Cleveland, which was published in the Times on August 30, I now desire to say that there since came to my knowledge evidence which leaves in my mind no doubt of the fact that the said article was not written nor signed by Grover Cleveland, and therefore is, in my opinion, no longer entitled to credit as his production.

Mrs. Cleveland, in my judgment, was right in regard to it, when she positively declared to us since its publication: "I do not believe it is genuine." I therefore hasten to inform you of my conclusion regarding the article and beg to express the hope and belief that you will promptly give to this communication the same degree of prominence in the Times that was given to the statement made by me in your issue of September 23.

Yours respectfully,
F. S. HASTINGS.

Mrs. Cleveland, assisted by personal friends of her husband, conducted a searching inquiry to learn whether the article was authoritative. The

JAMES K. THOMAS CONFESSED TO MURDER OF WIFE

Bellingham, Sept. 28.—James K. Thomas today confessed to the police of the killing of his former wife, Mrs. J. K. Thomas, in her little home in South Bellingham. He says the act was done in self defense, as his wife pulled a gun and forced him to shoot her in order to save his own life. The tragedy occurred July 19.

After killing his wife he put the body on the bed and went asleep, not awakening until 9 o'clock the following morning.

He claims both had been drinking. Then he went to town, bought more liquor and returned two days later and buried the body under a stump. He says he did not burn the body, but that the cinders found were from the burnt stump of the tree.
