PRESBYTERIANS DEDICATE THEIR NEW CHURCH

SPLendid $20,000 HOUSE OF WORSHIP CONSECRATED TO PUBLIC SERVICE — REV. W. H. FOULKES, OF PORTLAND, DELIVERED THE DEDICATORY SERMON.

The new Central Presbyterian church building was dedicated yesterday with appropriate services. The services, both morning and evening, were largely attended, the building being about full each time. Over a thousand people were seated at the morning service and perhaps more in the evening. So good are the acoustics of the building that every word of the speakers was heard in every portion of the building.

Rev. H. L. Nave, pastor of the Cottage Grove Presbyterian church, delivered the morning sermon. It was a masterful effort, full of excellent thought. The services were marked by special music prepared for the occasion by the choir under the able leadership of Mrs. W. L. DeLano.

NEW CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BUILDING

The choir consists of the following: Soprano, Miss Daisy Gilbert, Miss Lila Prosser; alto, Miss Mary McCormack, Mrs. J. I. Powell; tenor, M. F. McClain, Rouben Steelquist; bass, Mr. Davis, Mr. Lewis.

The scripture lesson was read by Rev. I. G. Knotts, of Albany, and the prayer by Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Portland, who delivered the dedicatory sermon at the evening service.

At the morning service the sum of $2,900 was raised and at the evening service $500 more, which places the church in splendid financial shape. The building cost approximately $20,000. The sum raised yesterday puts the congregation practically out of debt.

Long before the evening services began, the large auditorium of the church was filled. After the musical numbers, scripture reading by Rev. C. A. Wooley and prayer by Rev. Henry Babcock and an anthem by the choir, Rev. Mr. Foulkes was introduced. His theme was "Without Sound of Hammer or Axe," which he handled in a splendid manner. His address was eloquent and inspiring.

The day was a glad one for the congregation and their pastor, Rev. H. N. Mount, who has been untiring since he began his pastorate here in his efforts to provide this splendid home for them.

TUBERCULOSIS SPECIALISTS MEET AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Sept. 25.—After a week spent in the disposal of preliminary matters and in arranging the final details of their three weeks' program, the delegates to the International tuberculosis congress have settled down to work in earnest. The formal opening of the congress took place this morning in the main auditorium of the new National Museum, a large hall admirably adapted to the deliberations of such a large and representative body. Eminent representatives of twenty-five governments of America and Europe filled the auditorium at 11 o'clock when the meeting was called to order. The session was presided over by Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, who was chosen to represent President Roosevelt on the occasion. Secretary Cortelyou delivered an interesting address in which he cordially welcomed the delegates and dwelt upon the importance of the subject they have assembled to discuss.

Beginning with the sessions tomorrow the congress will divide into sectional conferences for the consideration of various phases of the "white plague" problem, its prevention, treatment and cure. Later in the week the delegates are to assemble for one general meeting to be addressed by President Roosevelt. The exposition which is being held in conjunction with the congress is attracting much attention from the general public, the visitors daily numbering into the thousands. The exhibition occupies one entire floor of the mammoth National Museum, and among the exhibits are charts and maps showing the extent and growth of the campaign against tuberculosis, location of dispensaries, hospitals and associations where treatment is given, and the methods used. The walls are covered with photographs and pictures showing the progress of tuberculosis and the various stages of curables. Tuberculosis literature has been provided by the ton, and elaborate displays of window tents, cots, beds, all sorts of outdoor appliances, models of buildings, sanitarium, hotels and homes for the purpose of treating tuberculosis in all its stages.
