

RESIDENTS OF LANE COUNTY NAIL RITCHEY CREEK LIES

Leaburg, Or., Sept. 29, 1908.
Editor of The Guard:—It seems that some one from this locality should come to the defense of Ritchey creek, as I see by the morning paper of the 25th inst. that they have again brought up the subject by belittling that fine stream of water. They refer to The Guard as printing a picture of Ritchey creek showing a thin spray of water finding its way over the weir, and some dark spots in the "thin spray," as they are pleased to call it, as B. Coll. Now the fact of the matter is that the thin spray is 3 1/2 inches deep and those dark spots referred to are nothing but mountain trout from four to six inches in length and everybody knows that they will not stay in water that is not pure. I think the editor of the morning paper had better send up here and get some Ritchey creek water and clean his editorial glasses, as it is evident that they are contaminated with B. Coll whenever Ritchey creek is mentioned in his hearing.

Now, in conclusion, let me explain a little further. I am not interested one way or the other as to the proposed gravity system, but I am not going to let our part of the country be misrepresented in regard to the water, for we have as pure water here as there is in any part of Oregon, none excepted, not even the mountains.

Respectfully yours,
R. M. GOTT.

Mr. McNamar's Testimony

H. H. McNamar, who has lived on Ritchey creek for several years, called at The Guard office recently. He stated that the water is nearly ice cold and he has been using it for domestic and drinking purposes ever since he has lived there and there has been no sickness whatever in his family. Others who have used the water for years say the same thing.

Mr. McNamar stated that he measured the flow of water in the creek on August 6. There was a flow of 285 miners' inches in a fall of three inches to the rod, which was equivalent to a flow of 2,850,000 gallons per day. The stream is now running 350 miners' inches, he says, which will make over 3,500,000 gallons per day. It has never been any lower than when he measured it on August 6, he says. He is of the opinion that this is enough water to supply Eugene for many years to come, even if the population is doubled within the next two or three years, as many expect. He is also of the opinion that more healthful water than that in the creek cannot be found in the mountains of Oregon.

Other Testimony

Messrs. Fountain and Dean, two of the oldest and best-known residents of the Ritchey creek neighborhood, where they have resided for years, were in town recently. Asked about the water of Ritchey creek, its quality and quantity, both stated positively that no better water could be found in the Cascade range; that it was clear and cold, and that the stream was apparently fed by springs whose waters come direct from the melting snows in the higher ranges. As to quantity, these gentlemen stated that they had no way of measuring the water in the stream, but felt that there was all that a town like Eugene could possibly use. If there should be a shortage, however, another stream four or five miles this side of Ritchey creek furnished an abundant supply of excellent mountain water the year around, and the pipe line would pass through it.

These gentlemen are entirely reliable and their statements are made from actual knowledge. They have no personal interest in the matter, yet both declared that Eugene will be supplied with the best of mountain water in the Ritchey creek plan is carried out.

REPRESENTATIVE EATON ON RITCHEY CREEK

(Daily Guard, July 29.)

"The water of Ritchey creek is cold, of fine quality and the flow is over 5,000,000 gallons per day," said Alton Eaton, representative from this county, after investigating the source from which it is proposed to take Eugene's water supply through the gravity system.

"I had heard so many and conflicting reports about Ritchey creek and the matter of bringing the water to Eugene involving so much of an expenditure, that I was not satisfied to take a stand on the question without an investigation, so I visited the source of supply twice last week," said Mr. Eaton.

When asked what he thought of Ritchey creek and the proposed gravity system, he replied:

"Ritchey creek is one of the finest mountain streams to be found anywhere within miles of Eugene. The water is pure and cold and the stream is fed by many springs. The canyon on each side of Ritchey creek is steep and high, with the result that it is well protected and shut out from the sun. It is not a logging stream, the merchantable timber for the most part having been logged off, and what remains cannot be taken down this stream."

"I have been all over the Baker City system, which is fed by splendid mountain streams, just such ones as Ritchey creek, Roaring branch and two other streams which the pipe line will cross and which can be utilized at a very small expense. There is no reason why Eugene's water supply will not make our city famous for the water is as good as Bull Run, in fact, the quality is the same."

"How about the amount of water?" asked the reporter.

"I could not make an absolute statement as to how much water there will be. No one should guess at it."

which the engineers are making the only safe figures to rely upon, and they will not be complete until September. The day I was at Ritchey creek the flow was over 5,000,000 gallons; that is enough for a city two or three times as large as Eugene.

"I should not favor the supply unless final measurements showed it sufficient to supply any way three times our population. The other streams ought to do this, easily, but guess work won't do here."

"One of the best features of the project is that the contemplated pipe line can be extended from time to time as the city grows and ultimately the water of Lost creek could be used. There is surely no finer stream than this one, and while it will probably be years before it is needed, the city should build for the distant future in a matter of this kind."

STATEMENT TO
VOTERS OF EUGENE

To the Voters of the City of Eugene:—At a city election to be held Oct. 1st, certain proposed amendments to the city charter are to be voted upon. These amendments authorize the issuance of $500,000 in water bonds instead of $300,000, as the charter now stands. While general in terms, the specific object of the amendments is to authorize the city administration to expend about $300,000, in building a gravity pipe line to Ritchey Creek. The adoption of the amendments, therefore, means the approval of Ritchey creek, as the city's source of water supply. If Ritchey creek is a suitable source of supply it has not yet been established to the satisfaction of any candid mind. On the contrary, the evidence now produced shows the stream, as a source of supply for our growing city to be doubtful in quantity and more than doubtful in quality. Its watershed is in private hands, uncontrolled and uncontrollable by the city. To make the expenditure proposed in building an expensive pipe line to such a source of supply would, in our judgment, be a grave error, most likely to destroy the city's credit, and shake the reputation of the community for business sense and judgment. We ask all who have the city's interest at heart to join with us in voting down this ill-advised project.

B. L. Bogart, W. J. Warnock, S. D. Allen, E. J. McClanahan, F. M. DeNeffe, W. W. Calkins, S. M. Calkins, J. A. Barker, P. E. Snodgrass, Chas. L. Scott, W. B. Andrews, Charles A. Hardy, Geo. B. Dorris, Geo. Melvin Miller, S. M. Moran, Eli Bangs, J. S. Luckey, S. M. Titus, J. D. Buell, W. E. Brown, F. W. Osburn, J. F. Kelly, B. D. Paine, N. E. Bartlett, John L. Dillard, W. W. Brown, Archie W. Livermore, O. A. Campbell, A. E. Warnock, H. A. Dunbar, Thos. Roche, L. L. Lewis, the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company, Geo. H. Kelly, David Link, E. P. Chapman, W. F. Hoffman, C. H. Hales, Geo. Hall, Jr., A. M. Newman, S. B. Eakin, J. W. Harris, S. H. Friendly, J. Johnson, C. E. Loomis, D. E. Moran, F. J. Hard, G. H. Yerington, Alton Hampton, Geo. Long, O. F. Callison, J. J. Phillippi, O. L. Circle, I. H. Bingham, E. R. Mumme, R. McMurphy, M. F. Griggs, T. G. Hendricks, C. Marx, Geo. Marx, W. H. Vincent, F. R. Wetherbee, Jack Rodman, C. C. Coffman, H. F. Hollenbeck, R. M. Forbes, W. M. Renshaw, D. F. Barnard, M. Hanson, L. Simons, G. D. Linn, L. Gilstrap, W. J. Bowman, E. W. Loney, J. B. Coleman, J. W. Kays, L. L. Warnock, W. E. Russell, G. W. Griffin, R. A. Bab, P. N. McAllister, W. H. Potter, S. S. Spencer, J. M. Martin, Sid Smith, Alf Walker, Herbert Leigh, S. Smed, H. W. Dunn, F. E. Chambers, Dr. F. M. Day, J. R. Deal, R. H. Bowlsby, M. J. Schmetzer, Will H. Hodes, Norbert Aya, George Holtsman, Geo. H. Farrest, W. H. Luckey, Geo. V. Hall.

not Irma Moultaire's forte, and when she innocently ascribed the collection to the Egyptian section Brookfield interrupted with a correction.

Miss Moultaire, seeing that enthusiasm and not a desire to open a flirtation with her charges was his motive, courteously acknowledged the correction, and Brookfield, mounting his hobby, rode it hard and fast.

He had the trick of interesting his hearers, and Miss Moultaire, finding that the girls really were absorbed in his little lecture, thankfully retreated into the background.

She, too, found the chat interesting and was very sorry when the last case was reached and they found themselves at the foot of the stairway leading to the art galleries.

"Here is where I shall prove useless," he said to Irma, with a smile. "I thank you very much for letting me run on as you have. I love the collection. I was one of the exploration party that dug it up."

"We should—and do—thank you," disclaimed Irma. "I am sorry that our schedule does not permit us more time. I should be glad to hear the rest."

"Why not?" he suggested. "I am here almost every afternoon."

Irma shook her head smilingly as the little party went up the stairs, leaving Brookfield looking after them, but a couple of weeks later she found herself in the vicinity of the museum and with a little spare time on her hands in the intervals of her social duties.

Brookfield was leaning over one of the cases which an attendant had opened for him, but at Irma's approach he closed the case and hurried toward her. "You did find time to come?" he cried. "I have half an hour to spare," was the smiling explanation. "I thought you might be there. I wanted to ask you if you could give a lecture to my class on the exploration work."

"With pleasure," was the prompt answer. "If you will give me the address and name the day, I shall come with pleasure."

Irma named an evening and gave the address of the settlement house. Then they looked over the collection, and the girl marveled at the breadth of his information. His specialty was the Aztecs. He knew the entire field, and there was a genuine enthusiasm about Tom Brookfield which compelled reciprocal interest.

Almost before she realized it the evening time had come, and she had spent two hours in his company. She with time and temperature it had undergone a change. I am getting woefully tired of drinking boiled water and for relief I look through the window of the city council. Let us not hamper their efforts, but assist them as much as possible.

DR. CHESHIRE ON CASCADE RANGE WATER

(Continued from page one)

Yours for pure water,
W. L. CHESHIRE.

McKenzie Water Analysis

Portland, Or., Sept. 29, 1908.
To the State Board of Health,
Portland, Oregon.
Gentlemen:—I have to report examination of specimen of water received from Dr. Cheshire, of Eugene, Oregon. This specimen was received September 25, 1908, and had not been packed in ice for shipping.

Upon examination no B. Coll were found in 1 cc. quantities, but other gas producing bacteria were present, and the water should be regarded with suspicion. Would suggest that another specimen be sent, properly led, for examination.

Yours very truly,
RALPH C. MATSON, M. D.
Bacteriologist to the State Board.

Dr. W. L. Cheshire,
Eugene, Oregon.

Dear Doctor:—Above is a copy of report made to the State Board of Health by Dr. Matson, bacteriologist to the board, upon his examination of specimen of water received from you.

Yours very truly,
ROBT. C. YENNEY,
State Board of Health.

Settled Through The Settlement.

By LULU JOHNSON.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

No one watching the line of girls thread its way through the aisles of the museums would have imagined that the serious faced young woman who acted as guide was the rich Miss Moultaire. Indeed, judging from the brilliancy of appearance, the other girls looked far more the social star than did the lady of millions in her severely tailored dress and quiet hat.

To Brookfield, wandering among the antiques on the lower floor, Irma Moultaire looked a teacher conducting her fashionable charges on one of their prescribed educational tours. To him the fiery of the girls was real and the costly tailored gown of their self appointed guide a simple and unpretentious garment.

He could not realize that the elegant perfection of cut and cloth was the envy of every girl in the settlement class. The girls would have laughed aloud in their glee could they have read in Brookfield's thoughts the pity that he felt for their beloved leader.

This was the regular Saturday outing of the Settlement club, and Irma took great delight in piloting the girls to the museums and galleries, where she hoped real works of art in time would give them a truer sense of artistic values.

Every week she planned something for the girls, winding up with a little lunch at her home. For the sake of the luncheon the girls endured the art lectures. So both they and Irma were happy.

They passed before a case containing an Aztec collection. The labels were on the opposite side of the case, where Brookfield, who did not require labels, was standing. Antiquities were had sent away for cleaning, intending to walk home from the museum, so she permitted him to walk beside her.

From taking an interest in Brookfield's fall she was beginning to take an interest in Tom Brookfield himself. She found him well worth her interest by comparison with the idle men of her own set. Irma admired action, and though Brookfield had only just passed thirty he had been a worker for half his lifetime.

He had not become a monomaniac on his hobby, but he was a good general talker, and though they met only at the Settlement house or in the museum, a real friendship soon sprang up between them. Irma had a feeling that to invite him to her home would spoil it all, and his dense ignorance of the fashionable and affluent Miss Moultaire was not lifted.

He believed her to be a teacher in a fashionable school who gave a part of her time to settlement work, and they met on a plane of equality which was refreshing to the woman after the fortune hunting she had so often to endure.

One afternoon late in the spring Brookfield came to meet the class and escort them to a private view of a college collection. They had acquired some of his enthusiasm, and he had obtained private views of many collections for them.

Today he came, with a beaming face, and all the afternoon his high spirits were apparent. He never shared the little luncheons which wound up the expeditions, but today he detained Miss Moultaire for a moment.

"There is something I would like to say," he pleaded. "May I walk home with you, or do you have to go with the girls?"

"I cannot very well leave them," she explained.

"Then I shall have to tell you here," he said resolutely. "I can't keep it any longer. I am to be curator of the Cheeswick collection in the fall and at a salary enough for two. Will you share it?"

Only for a minute did Miss Moultaire hesitate; then she placed her hand in his.

"I will share it," she promised, with a radiant smile. "Come this evening, and we will talk it over."

She handed him her card with its engraved address and hurried after the girls, while Brookfield beamed upon her from the top step.

But the beam faded from Brookfield's face when Miss Moultaire came toward him in her reception room that evening. Instead of clasping her in his arms he held her hand an instant and then waited for her to be seated.

"You must think me a presumptuous fool," he began, "to ask you to share the paltry salary which this after-noon seemed so great. I did not learn until later who you really were. It seems that I have been very dense."

"You are still dense," suggested Irma. "Do you come to ask me to withdraw my promise of this afternoon?"

"You must know how impossible it would appear," he reminded. "I believed you to be a teacher."

"You were the teacher," she corrected. "You taught me what love really is. What does it matter that I have more than you?"

"I would not be considered a fortune hunter," he said slowly.

"And I will not marry one," she retorted. "It is because you are not a fortune hunter, because you love me for myself, that I said 'Yes' this afternoon, and I shall hold you to your promise. Instead of your being curator of the Cheeswick collection we shall have a collection of our own."

Silently he came toward her and looked down into the tender eyes. No word was spoken, but a message was exchanged, and Brookfield knew that such love was not lightly to be set aside by pride. Slowly he sank into the seat beside her and took her in his arms.

"I am sorry that you are not what I thought you to be," he murmured.

"And I," was her tender response. "am glad that you are what I know you to be."

"I'll try to be all you think I am," he promised as he bent to kiss the smiling lips.

And so Miss Moultaire's dream of fortune hunters had been settled through the Settlement.

"THEN I SHALL HAVE TO TELL YOU HERE," HE SAID RESOLUTELY.

not Irma Moultaire's forte, and when she innocently ascribed the collection to the Egyptian section Brookfield interrupted with a correction.

Miss Moultaire, seeing that enthusiasm and not a desire to open a flirtation with her charges was his motive, courteously acknowledged the correction, and Brookfield, mounting his hobby, rode it hard and fast.

He had the trick of interesting his hearers, and Miss Moultaire, finding that the girls really were absorbed in his little lecture, thankfully retreated into the background.

She, too, found the chat interesting and was very sorry when the last case was reached and they found themselves at the foot of the stairway leading to the art galleries.

"Here is where I shall prove useless," he said to Irma, with a smile. "I thank you very much for letting me run on as you have. I love the collection. I was one of the exploration party that dug it up."

"We should—and do—thank you," disclaimed Irma. "I am sorry that our schedule does not permit us more time. I should be glad to hear the rest."

"Why not?" he suggested. "I am here almost every afternoon."

Irma shook her head smilingly as the little party went up the stairs, leaving Brookfield looking after them, but a couple of weeks later she found herself in the vicinity of the museum and with a little spare time on her hands in the intervals of her social duties.

Brookfield was leaning over one of the cases which an attendant had opened for him, but at Irma's approach he closed the case and hurried toward her. "You did find time to come?" he cried. "I have half an hour to spare," was the smiling explanation. "I thought you might be there. I wanted to ask you if you could give a lecture to my class on the exploration work."

"With pleasure," was the prompt answer. "If you will give me the address and name the day, I shall come with pleasure."

Irma named an evening and gave the address of the settlement house. Then they looked over the collection, and the girl marveled at the breadth of his information. His specialty was the Aztecs. He knew the entire field, and there was a genuine enthusiasm about Tom Brookfield which compelled reciprocal interest.

Almost before she realized it the evening time had come, and she had spent two hours in his company. She

Salt Water Questions.

The capacity of the average small boy for asking questions is practically unlimited, but we do not remember ever hearing a more searching lot of inquiries than those propounded by a New York boy to his father, who had taken him for a steamer trip on the sound. Here is a partial list:

"Do they call this a sound steamer because of the noise?"

"Is that water down there any wetter than the water in the Atlantic ocean?"

"What makes the water wet, anyhow?"

"How many men could be drowned in water deep as that?"

"If a mamma fish couldn't get any worms in the water for the little fish, would she go ashore and dig for them?"

"Suppose a whale came along and sat for three days on an oyster, so that he couldn't open his shell, would it suffocate the oyster?"

"Doesn't the dampness ever give claims malaria?"

"Does it hurt to get drowned?"

"Is that big man with the gold buttons on his coat the papa of all those men who do whatever he tells them to?"

"Where are those men up there in the little house on the roof playing with the bicycle?"

"Where do all those swamps behind the boat come from?"

"Could a locomotive go as fast on the water as this boat?"

had sent away for cleaning, intending to walk home from the museum, so she permitted him to walk beside her.

From taking an interest in Brookfield's fall she was beginning to take an interest in Tom Brookfield himself. She found him well worth her interest by comparison with the idle men of her own set. Irma admired action, and though Brookfield had only just passed thirty he had been a worker for half his lifetime.

He had not become a monomaniac on his hobby, but he was a good general talker, and though they met only at the Settlement house or in the museum, a real friendship soon sprang up between them. Irma had a feeling that to invite him to her home would spoil it all, and his dense ignorance of the fashionable and affluent Miss Moultaire was not lifted.

He believed her to be a teacher in a fashionable school who gave a part of her time to settlement work, and they met on a plane of equality which was refreshing to the woman after the fortune hunting she had so often to endure.

One afternoon late in the spring Brookfield came to meet the class and escort them to a private view of a college collection. They had acquired some of his enthusiasm, and he had obtained private views of many collections for them.

Today he came, with a beaming face, and all the afternoon his high spirits were apparent. He never shared the little luncheons which wound up the expeditions, but today he detained Miss Moultaire for a moment.

"There is something I would like to say," he pleaded. "May I walk home with you, or do you have to go with the girls?"

"I cannot very well leave them," she explained.

"Then I shall have to tell you here," he said resolutely. "I can't keep it any longer. I am to be curator of the Cheeswick collection in the fall and at a salary enough for two. Will you share it?"

Only for a minute did Miss Moultaire hesitate; then she placed her hand in his.

"I will share it," she promised, with a radiant smile. "Come this evening, and we will talk it over."

She handed him her card with its engraved address and hurried after the girls, while Brookfield beamed upon her from the top step.

But the beam faded from Brookfield's face when Miss Moultaire came toward him in her reception room that evening. Instead of clasping her in his arms he held her hand an instant and then waited for her to be seated.

"You must think me a presumptuous fool," he began, "to ask you to share the paltry salary which this after-noon seemed so great. I did not learn until later who you really were. It seems that I have been very dense."

"You are still dense," suggested Irma. "Do you come to ask me to withdraw my promise of this afternoon?"

"You must know how impossible it would appear," he reminded. "I believed you to be a teacher."

"You were the teacher," she corrected. "You taught me what love really is. What does it matter that I have more than you?"

"I would not be considered a fortune hunter," he said slowly.

"And I will not marry one," she retorted. "It is because you are not a fortune hunter, because you love me for myself, that I said 'Yes' this afternoon, and I shall hold you to your promise. Instead of your being curator of the Cheeswick collection we shall have a collection of our own."

Silently he came toward her and looked down into the tender eyes. No word was spoken, but a message was exchanged, and Brookfield knew that such love was not lightly to be set aside by pride. Slowly he sank into the seat beside her and took her in his arms.

"I am sorry that you are not what I thought you to be," he murmured.

"And I," was her tender response. "am glad that you are what I know you to be."

"I'll try to be all you think I am," he promised as he bent to kiss the smiling lips.

And so Miss Moultaire's dream of fortune hunters had been settled through the Settlement.

Manicuring and
Hair Dressing
Hasting Sisters Register Bldg.
Front Suite

GARRETT & MITCHELL
Real Estate Brokers
Register Building.
Phone Main 108.

Eugene Cleaning
and Dyeing Works
Everything possible in cleaning and Dyeing.
Corner Sixth and Willamette Sts.
Phone Main 122

SHINN
THE SIGN PAINTER
77 West Eighth Street.

Smyths Transfer Co.
Baggage stored free for ten days.
W. H. SMYTH, Prop.
Phones—Main 32, Red 4912.

Notice to Creditors.
Notice is hereby given that, by an order of the County Court of Lane County, Oregon, duly made and entered of record on the 2nd day of September, 1908, the undersigned was duly appointed administrator of the estate of Luella A. Peabody, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present them with the proper vouchers to the undersigned at the law office of Woodcock & Potter, in Eugene, Oregon, within six months from the date of this notice. Dated this 3rd day of September, 1908.

RICHARD EASTON,
Administrator of the Estate of Luella A. Peabody, deceased.
Woodcock & Potter, attorneys for Estate.

Notice of Final Settlement.
Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern, that the undersigned executrix of the estate of Phillip Heller, deceased, has filed her petition and final account with the Clerk of the County Court of Lane County, State of Oregon, on the 4th day of September, 1908, asking said court to make an order fixing the time and place for hearing said final account, and objections thereto if any, and the court on the 4th day of September, 1908, issued an order fixing the 8th day of October, 1908, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day as the time, and the County Court Room in the Lane County Court House as the place for hearing objections to said final account, and to show cause why said final account should not be approved and said executrix discharged, and said estate closed.

MARY ELIABETH HELLER,
Executrix.
L. N. Harbaugh, Attorney for the Estate.

Administrator's Notice to Creditors
Notice is hereby given that George H. Roberts has been appointed administrator of the estate of John M. Roberts, deceased, by an order of the county court of Lane county, State of Oregon, on the 26th day of August, 1908, and notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same to said administrator at his home on the corner of west Seventh and Jefferson streets, Eugene, Oregon, duly verified as required by law, or at the law office of L. N. Harbaugh, at Room 5 over the First National Bank, Eugene, Oregon, within six months from the date of the first publication of this notice.

Dated this 26th day of August, 1908.

GEORGE H. ROBERTS,
Administrator.
L. N. HARBAUGH,
Attorney for Estate.

NOTICE OF GUARDIAN'S SALE
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the Probate Court of Lane County, Oregon, dated August 18, 1908, the undersigned guardian of the estate of Harry Weaver, Lester Weaver, and Susan Weaver, minor, was duly licensed to sell all the right, title and interest of the said minors, being an undivided two-thirds interest in and to the following described real property, to-wit: Beginning at the Southwest corner of donation land claim No. 51, Notif. No. 7026, in section 33, township 18 S., R. 2 W., run thence North 1/2 degrees East 15.25 chains; thence East 24 chains; South 15.25 chains, and West 24 chains to beginning, containing 36.60 acres.

Also, beginning at the Northeast corner of D. L. Cl. 51 Notif. No. 7028 in section 33, township 18 S., R. 2 W., run West 43.30 chains, South 15.10 chains, to South line of said claim, East 43.30 chains to S. E. corner thereof, and North 30 minutes East 15.10 chains to beginning, containing 64.40 acres, more or less, all in Lane County, Oregon, at private sale for cash in hand.

Said guardian will therefore pursuant to said order on and after the 21st day of September, 1908, receive bids for and sell at private sale the said land to the highest bidder therefor for cash.

JOHN M. WILLIAMS,
Guardian

Notice of Sale of Warrants
Pursuant to authorization duly given by the voters of School District No. 4, of Lane county, Oregon, at an election duly held in said district on the second day of May, 1908, the directors of said district will issue and sell the negotiable, interest-bearing warrants of the district to the amount of $15,000. Said warrants will be due twenty years after date, payable at the option of the district after ten years from date; will bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, interest payable semi-annually, and will be issued in denominations to suit the purchasers, but in no case less than $50. The public generally and each resident of the district in particular may subscribe for less bonds or any portion thereof not less than $50. Subscriptions should be filed by sealed bids stating the amount of warrants desired and the price that will be paid therefor, which bids should be deposited with the undersigned at his office in the city hall in Eugene, Or., not later than 5:30 p. m. on the 30th day of September, 1908, at which time and place the directors of said district will meet to open said bids and award said warrants to the highest bidder therefor. The directors reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

FRANK REISNER,
District Clerk School District No. 4, Lane County, Oregon.
Eugene, Or., Sept. 10, 1908.

HANDY BUSINESS DIRECTOR

Manicuring and
Hair Dressing
Hasting Sisters Register Bldg.
Front Suite

GARRETT & MITCHELL
Real Estate Brokers
Register Building.
Phone Main 108.

Eugene Cleaning
and Dyeing Works
Everything possible in cleaning and Dyeing.
Corner Sixth and Willamette Sts.
Phone Main 122

SHINN
THE SIGN PAINTER
77 West Eighth Street.

Smyths Transfer Co.
Baggage stored free for ten days.
W. H. SMYTH, Prop.
Phones—Main 32, Red 4912.

Notice to Creditors.
Notice is hereby given that, by an order of the County Court of Lane County, Oregon, duly made and entered of record on the 2nd day of September, 1908, the undersigned was duly appointed administrator of the estate of Luella A. Peabody, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present them with the proper vouchers to the undersigned at the law office of Woodcock & Potter, in Eugene, Oregon, within six months from the date of this notice. Dated this 3rd day of September, 1908.

RICHARD EASTON,
Administrator of the Estate of Luella A. Peabody, deceased.
Woodcock & Potter, attorneys for Estate.

Notice of Final Settlement.
Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern, that the undersigned executrix of the estate of Phillip Heller, deceased, has filed her petition and final account with the Clerk of the County Court of Lane County, State of Oregon, on the 4th day of September, 1908, asking said court to make an order fixing the time and place for hearing said final account, and objections thereto if any, and the court on the 4th day of September, 1908, issued an order fixing the 8th day of October, 1908, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day as the time, and the County Court Room in the Lane County Court House as the place for hearing objections to said final account, and to show cause why said final account should not be approved and said executrix discharged, and said estate closed.

MARY ELIABETH HELLER,
Executrix.
L. N. Harbaugh, Attorney for the Estate.

Administrator's Notice to Creditors
Notice is hereby given that George H. Roberts has been appointed administrator of the estate of John M. Roberts, deceased, by an order of the county court of Lane county, State of Oregon, on the 26th day of August, 1908, and notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same to said administrator at his home on the corner of west Seventh and Jefferson streets, Eugene, Oregon, duly verified as required by law, or at the law office of L. N. Harbaugh, at Room 5 over the First National Bank, Eugene, Oregon, within six months from the date of the first publication of this notice.

Dated this 26th day of August, 1908.

GEORGE H. ROBERTS,
Administrator.
L. N. HARBAUGH,
Attorney for Estate.

NOTICE OF GUARDIAN'S SALE
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the Probate Court of Lane County, Oregon, dated August 18, 1908, the undersigned guardian of the estate of Harry Weaver, Lester Weaver, and Susan Weaver, minor, was duly licensed to sell all the right, title and interest of the said minors, being an undivided two-thirds interest in and to the following described real property, to-wit: Beginning at the Southwest corner of donation land claim No. 51, Notif. No. 7026, in section 33, township 18 S., R. 2 W., run thence North 1/2 degrees East 15.25 chains; thence East 24 chains; South 15.25 chains, and West 24 chains to beginning, containing 36.60 acres.

Also, beginning at the Northeast corner of D. L. Cl. 51 Notif. No. 7028 in section 33, township 18 S., R. 2 W., run West 43.30 chains, South 15.10 chains, to South line of said claim, East 43.30 chains to S. E. corner thereof, and North 30 minutes East 15.10 chains to beginning, containing 64.40 acres, more or less, all in Lane County, Oregon, at private sale for cash in hand.

Said guardian will therefore pursuant to said order on and after the 21st day of September, 1908, receive bids for and sell at private sale the said land to the highest bidder therefor for cash.

JOHN M. WILLIAMS,
Guardian

Notice of Sale of Warrants
Pursuant to authorization duly given by the voters of School District No. 4, of Lane county, Oregon, at an election duly held in said district on the second day of May, 1908, the directors of said district will issue and sell the negotiable, interest-bearing warrants of the district to the amount of $15,000. Said warrants will be due twenty years after date, payable at the option of the district after ten years from date; will bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, interest payable semi-annually, and will be issued in denominations to suit the purchasers, but in no case less than $50. The public generally and each resident of the district in particular may subscribe for less bonds or any portion thereof not less than $50. Subscriptions should be filed by sealed bids stating the amount of warrants desired and the price that will be paid therefor, which bids should be deposited with the undersigned at his office in the city hall in Eugene, Or., not later than 5:30 p. m. on the 30th day of September, 1908, at which time and place the directors of said district will meet to open said bids and award said warrants to the highest bidder therefor. The directors reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

FRANK REISNER,
District Clerk School District No. 4, Lane County, Oregon.
Eugene, Or., Sept. 10, 1908.

SHERIFF'S SALE ON ATTACHMENT EXECUTION.
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an execution and order of sale issued out of the circuit court of the state of Oregon for the county of Multnomah, on the 22nd day of September, 1908, on a judgment rendered in said court on the 9th day of July, 1908, in favor of the Ames Mercantile Agency, a corporation, plaintiff, and against L. N. Reed and Amanda Reed, his wife, defendants, for the sum of one hundred thirty-two and 10-100 dollars, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from June 16, 1908, and the further sum of thirty dollars attorney fees, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 9th day of July, 1908, and costs and disbursements in which judgment, it was further ordered by the court that the property attached in said action and hereinafter described be sold for the satisfaction of said judgment in the manner provided by law, which judgment was enrolled and docketed in the clerk's office of said court on the 9th day of July, 1908, and said execution to me directed, commanding me in the name of the state of Oregon in order to satisfy said judgment, costs and accruing costs, to sell the following attached real property of said defendant Amanda Reed, being the property attached in said action, to-wit:

All of the SE 1/4 of the NW 1/4, the NE 1/4 of the SW 1/4, the W 1/2 of the SW 1/4 of Section 10, Township 19, Range 4 west, in Lane county, Oregon, containing 160 acres more or less.

Now, therefore, in the name of the State of Oregon and in compliance with said execution and order of sale, I will, on Monday, the 26th day of October, 1908, between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., to-wit: at one o'clock p. m. at the southwest door of the County Court House in Eugene, Lane County, Oregon, offer for sale for cash, subject to redemption, all of the above named defendant's right, title and interest in and to the above described attached real property.

Dated this 24th day of September, 1908.

HARRY L. BOWN,
Sheriff of Lane County, Oregon.

Administrator's Notice
Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, E. M. Duryee, has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of Rachel A. Crabtree, deceased, by the county court of Lane county, Oregon. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same to said administrator with proper vouchers at the law office of L. Blyeu, in Eugene, Oregon, within six months from the date hereof.

Dated this 2d day of September, 1908.

E. M. DURYEE,
Administrator.
L. BLYEU, Attorney.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE GUARD.

Tolman Studio
Best of work. Don't fail to see the pictures we are putting out now at half price.
518 Willamette Street

S. D. READ
DENTIST
Over Hall's Grocery
No. 518 Willamette Street

FOR BEST
Teas, Coffees, Spices
or Chinaware
Call at 30 East Ninth Street.
G. B. LOCKE, Mgr.

Eugene Electric Co.
I. O. THOMAS
Electric Wiring, Fixtures and Supplies
Phone Main 5. EUGENE, OR.