REGENT AYER WILL SUBMIT A MINORITY REPORT

CANNOT BE PERSUADED THAT THREE NORMALS ARE BETTER THAN TWO—WILL ADVISE LEGISLATURE TO DROP OFF ANOTHER SCHOOL FROM PRESENT LIST.

Salem, Or., Oct. 13.—Despite the efforts of the other members of the board, W. H. Ayer, regent, steadfastly maintained his attitude toward reducing the number of State Normal Schools to two and even one, and in spite of the arguments of some of the other members, he will submit a separate report from the majority, setting forth their views upon the normal school question to the next Legislature.

The total amount of the budget, prepared and adopted by the board of regents, for the maintenance, repairs, building equipment and salary rolls of the three Normal schools, Ashland, Monmouth and Weston, for the next two years is $328,560, segregated as follows: Library fund, $2,000; for the purchase of additional lands, $2,500; maintenance, $45,000; buildings, $150,000; salaries of employees, $120,000; administration fund, $85,000. A motion was adopted limiting the amount to be expended annually for salaries of faculty and all employees of each school to $20,000 per year, and the number of members of the faculty in any school to 21. The salaries of the presidents of the schools were limited to $2,500 per annum, and those of the principals and instructors to not over $1,500 to $1,000, respectively.

Mr. Ayer coincided heartily with all the views expressed by the other regents for the upbuilding of the Normal School system in the state. He repeated his ideas were calculated for the best interests of the perpetuation of the normal school system, and that he regarded them as an absolute necessity for the raising of the standard of the public schools. He advocated however, the concentration of money and students in fewer Normal schools so as to bring them up to the highest point of efficiency were the best results could be obtained. He declared there were not enough pupils attending all the Normal schools in the state to fill two first-class schools of 200 pupils each, and that when one school was filled with pupils to add another.
