Herald says that Lane
en padding its school
ly, but it is the kind of padding that Linn, with its heavy falling off in children of school age, should do. For instance, in Eugene alone there are not less than four hundred more pupils actually attending the public schools than there were a year ago. If Albany would get in and "pad" its school census in this substantial way there might be as great a demand for dwelling houses in that city as there is in Eugene at the present time.

We doubt if there is a judge in America who will dare O. K. the decision handed down by an English judge, that a husband is the owner of his wife's gowns. The average American considers himself in luck to be allowed the undisturbed possession of his trousers.

Doubtless the Commissioner of Pensions refused to make public the name of the man who returned a big wad of pension money on the ground that he was not entitled to it, for fear that the people would insist on electing him president, if they knew.

Congressman John Wesley Gaines says, "If Roosevelt saw a dog fight in front of the White House he would go out and mix up in it." Maybe John Wesley hasn't noticed it, but there are a lot of men partial to a dog fight.

That the craft of high finance is still being practiced in Gotham was proven by the sale of a half dime for $715 the other day. This particular half dime happened to have the magic figures 1802 on one side.

St. Louis has a courageous preacher, who isn't afraid of losing his job or getting his salary cut—he says marriage for gain is a crime. If his dope is correct, we sure have got a lot of criminals out of prison.

The weahter clerk has at last sent us a sample of what we may expect in the way of rain next winter. And the farmers are happy at the prospect of being able to get busy with their fall work.

With all our boasted progress in science and art, it must be acknowledged, however regretfully, that this year's vintage of campaign portraits are no better than the nightmares of yester-year.

Soon or late some humanitarian genius will devise a successful head-cooling apparatus for use in the closing days of a political campaign. It is needed right now.

Maybe we're wrong, but it is our opinion that the man who has not yet decided who he will support for president is open to the charge of having a wobbly sort of disposition.

Grease being one of the necessary ingredients of a palatable stew, it was only natural that Greece should figure in the mixture now simmering in the European dinner pot.

Wonder if this Baroness Goto, of Japan, who charges that all American women are discontented, isn't engaged in a scheme to make war certain?

Go out and hear John Barrett at the University assembly hall tonight. His addresses are always interesting and instructive.

We hope we never have to move another printing office as long as we live.

"THIS IS MY 59th BIRTHDAY." James O'Neill.

James O'Neill, the well-known actor, was born in Ireland, October 14, 1849, and when a small lad was brought to the United States by his parents. His first appearance on the stage was at the old National Theatre in Cincinnati in 1868, when he appeared in a small part in the performances of Edwin Forrest. For several years thereafter he played with stock companies in Baltimore, Cleveland and Chicago. In 1875, following a tour of California, he joined the Union Square stock company in New York and remained Today's Suggestion by Ellen Stan.

DAINTY WAIST OF NET.

THE directoire idea is carried out even in the separate blouse. Both semi-dress and tailored designs are seen, the pronounced feature of both being the tight, full length sleeve and high waisted effect. The decreased size of sleeve, as well as long effect, is a feature of all waists this season. Other than this there are few changes in the style of waists to be worn the coming season. Some of the plain tailored models are seen with yokes in the back that extend two or three inches below the ordinary shoulder seam in front, and others are made in bosom effects. Those developed in shirting fabrics are arranged so that the stripes run in a different direction from those on the rest of the waist. Frills are still popular and in some instances extend the entire length of the front plait, but the newest arrangement is to extend to bosom depth like the one on the waist in the accompanying illustration.

A marked feature of all the new waists shown is their extreme simplicity. Even those carried out in such materials as net and lace are built on plain tailored lines. The wash waist will continue popular throughout the winter, but waists of satin and soft finished silks to match the suit or skirt with which they are worn are favored. In cotton materials the polka dotted printings and hair line checks are much used as well as striped effects.

A mahogany colored net, with trimmings of lace dyed to match, made over a self colored silk, would be very effective for afternoon wear made after the design illustrated. The skirt should be of the same colored broadcloth, with fabric covered button trimming. The belt should be of wide soft ribbon to match, in girdle sash style, with the ends finished with a heavy knotted fringe. This should be fastened a little to the left of the center back under a rosette from which fall the sash ends.

This tucked shirt waist closes in the back and has long or three-quarter sleeves. The pattern for this waist is cut in seven sizes—from 32 to 44 inches bust measure. To copy this garment for the average person it requires 3½ yards of material 27 inches wide or 2⅝ yards 36 inches wide

REPUBLICAN RALLY MONDAY EVENING

A big Republican rally will be held at the court house Monday evening, when R. R. Butler of Condon, and Henry B. McKinney, Representative elect of Baker City, will address the voters on the issues of the day. Big preparations are being made for the rally and a large crowd is expected.

Mr. McKinney is well known here on account of his connection with the University of Oregon where he was graduated a few years ago. pir—ae man waonf aonw aonf aon
