PORTLAND MARKET REPORT

Portland, Oct. 22—While the wheat market for the time is quiet, with quotations generally about the same as those of a week ago, the undertone is strong, and a turn upward in prices in the near future would occasion no surprise in the local grain trade. An official of one of the leading exporting firms said today:

"The outlook for the immediate future of the wheat market is favorable, and I believe that the farmers in the Pacific Northwest who are still holding their grain have guessed right on the market prospect. While I do not wish to appear unduly bullish, I cannot but believe that higher wheat prices are coming.

"I believe it is the consensus of opinion of the local grain trade that the 1908 wheat crop of the three Northwestern states did not total over 35,000,000 bushels, as against an output of 60,000,000 bushels last year. There is little doubt now that the estimates made two months ago, which placed the 1908 crop at 42,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels, were too high. Latest calculations fall by a good deal to bear out the early estimates.

"Of this year's crop probably 75 to 80 per cent has already been sold. The remainder is in the hands of men who will not easily be scared into selling.

The harvesting of the Argentina and Australian grain will take place in December and January, and there is a chance for important developments before the crops of those countries are gathered. Already reports have come in of frost damage in some of the southern provinces of Argentina, and with the wheat markets of the world sensitive, as they are known to be at this time, because of the admitted shortage in different quarters, unfavorable reports from the south cannot fail to have a telling effect."

Egg Market Boosted Again

While only one firm was quoting local ranch eggs above 37 1-2 cents today, this place was asking and receiving 40 cents a dozen for the limited arrivals. Other firms were selling at former figures, but all interests expressed the opinion that the market was considerably firmer. While some believed the market had advanced to a sufficient height, the general opinion of the trade was that all local guaranteed stocks would be quoted at 40 cents a dozen tomorrow morning. To force this advance in local eggs there has been an advance of 2 1-2 cents in the price of the best Eastern here, the select quality selling in a limited way today as high as 32 1-2 cents, although some dealers were still quoting the old figures. While local stocks of eggs are very light, every one along the street knows that it is the holders of the Eastern stock that put the local product to a higher point in order that they can sell under them and make more money. The two cars of Eastern eggs which arrived yesterday have therefore found a good demand.

Chicken Market Is Higher

A higher range of values is quoted today in the local chicken market. Receipts are light, and the smaller buyers—and in fact some of the larger ones—are again in the market. The result is an advance of about 1-2 cent a pound in the price for all the grades.

Creamery butter market is holding firm, with only a fractional increase in local manufactured stock. Makers report demand and supplies just about equal.

Apples Move at Low Price

While the regular fall movement of apples has not begun in earnest, there is a small increase noted in sales during the past few days. Low prices are the rule, it taking something exceedingly good in quality to bring $1.25. Many sales around 50@75c.

Grape market is in very bad condition, and the Front street trade condemns the action of a local evening and morning paper in talking of high prices and a firm market just to help one house along the street sell its California product. The truth of the matter is that grapes are a drug on the market here. One car of the California product has been on the track since last week, thus indicating the lack of buyers. Low prices are the result, some sales of quite fair quality tokays being made to the trade today as low as 50 cents a crate. Nothing along the street will bring more than $1 a crate, and $1 stock is hard to find.

Hop Market Inactive.

The local hop market was practically without life yesterday, and reports from Salem were of no business passing. Jack McNeff, who came in from Yakima, says that of the crop of 8,000 bales in that section, 1667 bales are unsold.

Cheese Prices Tend Upward

Cheese is very firm in the local market and prices have an upward tendency. There is a strong demand from California for Oregon cheese, and also a fair inquiry from the north.

Butter was quoted steady to firm yesterday at the former prices.

Portland Livestock Market

While it still may be possible for receivers to secure as high as $6.50 for select hogs, nothing that brings more than $6.25 has arrived in the markets during the past 24 hours. After a period of steadiness, the Eastern markets today closed with a loss of 5 cents, thus indicating that the bottom of the present movement has not yet been reached.

Sheep market is quiet at former prices.

Mr. Hunt, of Hunt & Lacey, says of conditions: "The entire livestock market is in bad shape today, and buyers seem to be waiting until after election. Hogs are rather quiet but strictly prime stuff, weighing around 225 pounds, may still bring $6.50. Stuff of all kinds is coming too fast for the present demand."

"Every one is filled up with livestock," said Mr. Gould, of Benson & Gould, today, "and the markets are overloaded. It is hard to sell anything just now."

A year ago today hogs were weak; cattle and sheep firm; no change in prices.

Following is the general range of values on stock running in the yards for late shipments:

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the Civil War, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done is worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. Then I tried Electric Bitters and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic and they keep me strong and well." 50c at W. A. Kuykendall's drug store.
