BOOSTER MEETING IN CITY OF ROSES

Large Attendance and Prominent Speakers Are Present

Roseburg, Oct. 24.—With good road, a railroad from Roseburg to Coos Bay, and the advancement of southern Oregon industrially and educationally, as its objects, the Congress opened in Elks' Hall in this city this morning for a two-day session. President Dexter Rice, of the Roseburg Commercial Club, under the direction of which organization the meeting is being held, delivered an address of welcome to the visitors and to the large assemblage of spectators. Response was made by Col. E. Hofer, of Salem, who then assumed the permanent chairmanship of the congress and outlined its objects.

Mr. Hofer first introduced Mr. Francis H. Clark, representing the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Clark's address occupied the remainder of the morning and about one-third of this afternoon's session, which closed about 4 o'clock. Mr. Clark was followed by Dr. Andrew C. Smith of Portland, whose subject was good roads. In response to invitations from the chair, Judge J. W. Hamilton and Hon. Binger Hermann made impromptu speeches. Mr. Hofer then announced that President Campbell of the state university, would deliver an address at this evening's session, after which the meeting adjourned. President Campbell's subject will be "Higher Standards in the Public Schools." At both morning and afternoon sessions the greatest enthusiasm was manifested, and it's a safe assertion that this meeting will be productive of more good than any of a similar character ever heretofore held in Roseburg. This evening's program will include vocal and instrumental music, and after adjournment a banquet will be served in Masonic Hall by the Ladies of the Commercial Club to the visitors and club members.

DR. SCARBROUGH ON FRUIT GROWING

Believes That Willamette Valley Will Lead All Other Sections

Dr. L. D. Scarbrough is in the city from Creswell today, and added to the exhibits of the Commercial club some of the finest apples and prunes ever grown in Oregon. He has sold his entire prune crop of 400,000 or 500,000 pounds, evaporated, at a good price, f. o. b. Creswell, and has seven or eight carloads of first grade apples for which he expects a high price.

Dr. Scarbrough is one of the most successful fruit growers in the state, and believes that the Willamette Valley will eventually be the greatest fruit district, for apples, as well as prunes, in the West, because of the large area of land suitable for the fruit industry, far exceeding that of Hood River or Rogue River valleys. All that is necessary to make a success of the business here is proper cultivation and attention, combined with approved methods of picking and packing. The climate, because of its moisture is conducive to high coloring of apples, so the doctor thinks, as it brings out of the soil the mineral properties necessary for this effect.
