Miss Gladys Hampton, one of the younger set, entertained a number of her friends on Friday evening. The first part of the evening was spent in the parlor playing games, and later the young people were taken to the attic, which had been converted into a witch's den. There in one corner of the room was the witch's tent where Miss Pink Maurer, dressed as a witch, told fortunes. Punch was served by Miss Gladys Wilkins, while Miss Gladys Hampton and Miss Myrtle Lill passed dainty refreshments. Those invited were: Lucille Dunn, Minnie Chambers, Echo Hawk, Katharine Watson, Margaret Hetlich, Juanita Wilkins, Gladys Wilkins, Orbie Natwick, Myrtle Lill, Pink Maurer, Sophie Herrick, Beatrice Hales, Mary Chambers, Evelyn Bristow, Dale Chessman, Wayne Willoughby, Robert Green, John Stack, West Smith, Glenn Newell, Jack Morrison, Ivan Anderson, Edward Gray, Clay Watson, Edwin Dorr, Roy King, Bryant DeBar and Paul Jenkins.

This afternoon Miss Helen Kuykendall gave a Halloween party to a number of her little friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kuykendall, on West Tenth street. The decorations were in keeping with the time, consisting of autumn leaves and numerous jack-o'-lanterns. Several hours were spent by the children in playing parlor games, when supper was served by Mrs. W. A. Kuykendall, Mrs. W. Kuykendall and Miss Helene DeLano. The little folks present were Frederick Gilstrap, Mildred Newland, Helen McCormack, Kenneth Cockerline, Gertrude Livermore, Elizabeth Griffin, Lazelle DeLano, Winifred Long, Warren Kays, Willis Kays, John Miller, Glenola Brockman, Carl Miller, Wilfred Miller, Hildred Inman, Reta Durkheimer, Bertha Wood, Earl Matlock, Minnie Mogenssen, Lucille Frasier, Wallace Hemenway, Ruth Bartle, Marion Gilstrap, Eloise Barnard, Cecelia Lee, Ida Callison and Ivan Ludaman.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. L. L. Goodrich informally entertained with four tables of five hundred. Mrs. Prentice won first prize and Mrs. Fields, of Portland, the consolation. Mrs. C. A. Hardy assisted Mrs. Goodrich in serving. Those invited were: Mrs. Frank Osburn, Mrs. E. O. Potter, Mrs. Kuykendall, Mrs. Prentice,

L. Chambers, Mrs. P. E. Snodgrass and Mrs. C. A. Burden.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Page entertained the Tuesday Evening Whist Club and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Osburn this week. Mrs. Osburn won the first prize while the consolation fell to Mr. Edmunson. Mrs. Lilley assisted Mrs. Page in serving dainty refreshments.

The Kays home, most lavishly decorated with autumn leaves, presented a very pretty scene on last Saturday evening when Mrs. Kays received in honor of her daughter, Miss Leone Kays, and announced the engagement of Miss Kays to Mr. Henry Jacobs, of Chicago. About seventy friends were welcomed at the door by Miss Norma Hendricks and Miss Lola Godard, of Portland. Miss Myrtle Kays and her assistants, Miss Pearl Luckey, Miss Minnie Uhlman, of Portland, and Mrs. Lloyd Bellman, served in the dining room. Miss Kays is to be married in St. Louis on November 25th and will make her home in Chicago, where Mr. Jacobs is manager of the Prang Art Institute.

The girls of the Tau Pi sorority tendered President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell a reception at their beautiful chapter house at Alder and East Thirteenth streets last Saturday evening. During the hours from 8 to 11 a large number of the members of the student body were present to show their appreciation of the Tau Pi show their esteem for President and Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. Duff, the house mother, and Miss Neita Harding received, while the dining room was presided over by the Misses Ruth Dunaway, Mary Steiner and Gladys Farrar.

The Thimble Club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Archie Livermore. Needlework occupied the afternoon, after which Misses Elina and Norma Hendricks assisted Mrs. Livermore in serving a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Straight, Mrs. Frances and the Misses Hendricks were guests of the club.

Mrs. J. B. Willoughby entertained the Wednesday Afternoon Whist Club and a few guests this week. Mrs. Amos Wilkins was the prize winner at cards. Mrs. Willoughby was assisted by Mrs. Alexander. The guests invited were: Mrs. Zeiber, Mrs. Loomis, Mrs. Linn, Mrs. Willoughby, Mrs. Straight, Mrs. Whitson, Mrs. Mink, Mrs. Hobbs, Mrs. Alexander and Miss Loomis.

Mrs. M. F. Griggs was hostess to the Priscilla Club on Thursday afternoon. Following a couple of hours of needlework, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Griggs and Mrs. Schwing. Miss Beckman (Kansas) was the guest of the club.

Mrs. Hamilton entertained the Methodist Aid Society last Tuesday afternoon. Following the regular business meeting Mrs. Hamilton and her aids, Mrs. Lash and Mrs. Gould, served refreshments. There were about forty ladies present.

Last evening Miss Lucille Yorlan and Miss Ruth Davis entertained a number of their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis on West Tenth street. Their friends were: Esther U'Ren, Claire Earl, Myrtle Tripp, Margaret Rhodes, Willie McGee (Creswell), Floyd Lawton, William U'Ren, Ray Cleaver (Creswell), Paul Davis, Wayne Willoughby, Francis Yorlan and Leale Lowley.

The Halloween party given by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wetherbee and Mr. and Mrs. A. Livermore on last evening was one of the jolliest of the week. Various amusements suggestive of Halloween were provided for the guests. In the descriptive contest Mrs. C. B. Willoughby won the first prize and Mrs. Page the consolation. Mrs. Wetherbee and Mrs. Livermore served supper in the dining room, after which the lights were dimmed and ghost stories were told until a late hour. The Livermore home presented a very ghost-like appearance with its numerous jack-o'-lanterns, black cats and dimmed lights. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Linn, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kays, Mr. and Mrs. R. McMurry, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Yorlan, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Page, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hollenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Cockerline, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gilstrap, Professor and Mrs. F. S. The informal dance given in the armory last evening was a great success and was highly enjoyed by a large number of varsity students.

Fads and Fashions

(Guard Special Service).

New York, Oct. 31.—It is undoubtedly true that a majority of the street costumers turned out by the French makers this season have the Empire skirts, but there is, after all, a large percentage of the simpler tailored costumes, the skirts of which they leave to the coat the responsibility for supplying the shortened or merely straightened waist. The most trying feature of the average French street style is the exaggerated plainness and tightness of the skirt back. This effect is becoming when associated with the straightness of back line that goes with erect and pronounced slenderness—something, unfortunately, that not every woman can boast of.

The skirt opened up the side to show an underskirt, a simulated underskirt or, in extreme cases a more or less shapely leg, has become so common that the later models in dressy suits do not insist upon that feature. But long lines of buttons, apparently or actually buttoning the skirt sides or front are as popular as ever, and in some cases, such as a buttoned arrangement, as it nears the skirt bottom, opens to show inset plaits or a braided panel. Whatever the skirt trimming may be it is adjusted to emphasize the long lines of the frock, and in the long skirted street gowns, as in the house and evening gowns, diagonal arrangements of skirt trimming often find employment.

At the close of the summer season an effort was made to eliminate blouse or shirtwaist suits, but the attempt was not successful and at present there is every indication that suits with separate blouses will be worn as much as ever during the coming winter season. Many of the fashionable shops display a large variety of these models of attractive design. One of the new features in the ready-to-wear yards is the display of colored lace and net blouses to match tailor-made. Coarse fishnet is the favored mesh for such models, which are made up over white, with garnishments of silk corresponding in color with the lace. These blouses are made with full-length sleeves, that are tucked or shirred from shoulder to hand.

The model most in evidence in the new fall waists is a simple shirtwaist with tuckings of some sort, long sleeves, front opening in the center or at one side and finished with big pearl buttons. There is, of course, considerable importance attached to the cut for such a waist as this must fit trimly and be carefully tailored if it is to have style.

The slender design of a separate waist the more scrupulous should be the attention in detail. The blouse-maker who has accomplished this fact and profits by her understanding has mastered one of the chief secrets of a successful business. It is not merely the originality of ideas, but attention to the minute detail of cut, trimming and ornamentation and the relative knowledge of what is becoming and artistic that has made men like Worth, Paquin, Beer and other creators of fashion famous.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY DEFEATS WILLAMETTE

Pacific University, Forest Grove, Oct. 30.—Pacific University today won the football championship among the non-conference colleges of Oregon by defeating Willamette University of Salem, by a score of 4 to 0. Because of the splendid showing of the Methodists against the University of Oregon, Pacific's victory was somewhat of a surprise, and reveals unexpected strength of the local team.

The score which was made by a drop kick from the field, indicates fairly well the relative merits of the two teams, although Pacific had the advantage throughout and several times menaced the visitors' goal line. One other field goal was attempted from the 20-yard line, but failed, and the Salem team, gaining the ball, punted to safety. The contest was particularly clean, only one penalty being called for, and that of Pacific on an offside play.

PRESIDENT GOMPERS MAKES LAST APPEAL.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today announced that he was sending for distribution among the union labor people throughout the country a special issue of the American Federationist, containing articles defining labor's attitude in the present political campaign. Mr. Gompers today also sent telegrams to practically every labor organization in the country, urging his labor followers to "redouble activity and alertness and to stand true to the great cause for human freedom involved in this campaign."
