

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

No case of contagious blood poison is ever cured until the last particle of the virus has been removed from the circulation. The least taint left in the blood will sooner or later, cause a fresh outbreak of the trouble, with all its hideous and destructive symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. No other medicine so surely cures contagious blood poison as S. S. S. It goes down into the blood and steadily and surely drives out every particle of the infection. It absolutely and perfectly purifies the blood, and leaves this vital fluid as fresh, rich and healthy, as it was before the destructive virus of contagious blood poison entered the circulation. S. S. S. quickly takes effect on the blood, and gradually the symptoms disappear, the health is improved, the skin clear of all spots, sores and other blemishes, the hair stops coming out, the mouth and throat heal and when S. S. S. has cleansed the system of the poison no trace of the disease is left. S. S. S. cures contagious blood poison because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, tested and proven for more than forty years. Book on this disease with suggestions for home treatment, and any medical advice sent free to all who write.

MONTANA MEN INTERESTED IN WALDO LAKE

A. R. Black Sells interest in Irrigation Reservoir for $35,000

SELLS UNDEVELOPED PART OF ENTERPRISE

New Man Will Proceed to Develop Balance of Lake Reservoir Capacity

As forecasted by The Guard last summer, F. H. Ray and his associates, of Helena, Mont., have purchased a large interest in A. R. Black's Waldo Lake reservoir, irrigation and power enterprise.

Deeds filed for record today show that for the consideration of $35,000 A. R. Black has sold and transferred to F. H. Ray the undeveloped portion of his Waldo Lake enterprise. Mr. Black reserving an interest therein to the extent of 38,500 acre feet of developed reservoir capacity and an annual, free and perpetual right to the use of 38,500 acre feet of water from the reservoir. The deeds have been in escrow in the bank until the final payment was made.

As soon as the weather and the snow in the mountains will permit, Mr. Ray and his associates, who are well posted on irrigation development and the benefits to be derived therefrom, will proceed to develop the balance of the Waldo Lake reservoir capacity, and store flood waters for future use, for power purposes and irrigation. Sufficient development on those lines will enable the Willamette valley to support a larger population than Southern California, and will also encourage and hasten the building of competing railway lines to Eugene.

Three Years' Missionary Work
Mr. Black has strongly advocated irrigation in the Willamette valley and diligently prosecuted the work of this enterprise for over three years under adverse conditions. He has been ridiculed for advocating irrigation in this valley and for spending money on what many have seen fit to term a foolhardy undertaking. He has also undergone many hardships in the construction work in the mountains. That he persevered under such conditions and brought the enterprise to the present degree of success entitles him to much credit for his foresight and energy.

Mr. Black's reservation of said 38,500 acre feet of water annually is amply sufficient to irrigate 30,000 acres of land in the Willamette valley. There are over two million acres of arable land in the Willamette valley which irrigation will greatly benefit. The commercial advisability of irrigation in this valley is no longer a question. It will be a great and lasting benefit, establish a foundation upon which new developments will be made and insure permanent prosperity. The following paragraph plainly illustrates that flood water stored in a reservoir sufficient to annually irrigate 30,000 acres of land in this valley is a very valuable property:

Water rights for irrigation from the United States reclamation works are sold at an average price of $36.65 per acre. The Willamette river is a navigable stream and the United States government will not permit the diversion of water for irrigation to the detriment of navigation. The entire low water flow of the Willamette river is applied to power purposes, which is a beneficial use, and has become a vested right. The courts respect and uphold vested water rights based on priority of application to beneficial use, hence the great value of flood water stored for future use is self evident. Notwithstanding the above, the entire Willamette valley can be irrigated without transgressing upon vested rights, by storing flood waters, which now run to waste to the ocean, in reservoirs in the foothills on both sides of the valley, and toward the head of the streams. The precipitation in eight months of each year is amply sufficient to fill such reservoirs. It is commercially advisable to construct such reservoirs on account of the great future demand for irrigation in this valley. The people will eventually be compelled to do so in order to support the increase in population in the Willamette valley by production from the soil.

HOPKINS DIVORCE SUIT AT SALEM

Salem Statesman: Late last evening papers were filed in the case of H. L. Hopkins vs. Joyce E. Hopkins, in which the moving party asks for an absolute divorce from his wife on the ground of wilful desertion since the summer of 1907. None of the details of the family trouble are mentioned in the papers, the parties being socially prominent and well known, especially in Salem, Albany and Eugene. Carey F. Martin appears as attorney for Mr. Hopkins.
