D CUTICURA INDISPENSABLE

Children—Little Girls Suffer with Itching Eczema Which Covered Back of Heads—Had a Tender Skin, Too.

PROMPTLY CURED BY DERFUL OINTMENT" years ago my three little girls ir last form of eczema. Itching eruptions formed on the backs of their heads which were simply awful. Before I used Cuticura, I used to cry almost constantly, but their sufferings were ended. The first application of Cuticura Soothed them, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, they were entirely cured. I have used Cuticura Remedies for children's heads with Cuticura Soap and then applying the wonderful Cuticura Ointment, and this four years and I can say that they have never failed to cure. I have another little girl who is so plump that the folds of fat on her neck were broken and even blistered. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and the next morning the rash had disappeared. I am never without Cuticura Remedies yet when any of my family have any sores, I recommend Cuticura sufficient, as indispensable in every home, and its equal. Mme. Napoleon Lalonde, 141 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., Nov. 30, 1907."

ATWOODS ARE EXONERATED AT PORTLAND

But Coroner's Jury Discovers Ugly Facts Concerning Sanitarium

That girls 17 years with no experience whatever in nursing had under their care day and night patients who had just passed through serious operations of a serious nature was a part of the amazing testimony deduced at the inquest held on the body of Miss Pearl Lamb of Deadwood, Or., yesterday afternoon. The girl nurses were employed at the "sanitarium" of the Drs. Atwood at Tremont, where Miss Lamb died, it is alleged, as the result of a criminal operation.

The Atwoods, father and son, who have already been bound over to appear before the grand jury on a charge of maintaining a public nuisance, were exonerated from responsibility for the death of Miss Lamb, as they produced a signed statement made by her in which she declared that an operation of a criminal nature had been performed by a physician in Eugene before she asked the Atwoods to treat her.

"Miss Lamb kept me running for water all the time; she couldn't get enough water," said the girl nurse, Julia George, aged 17, who had left a cannery to get a "job" in the Atwood sanitarium, when questioned about her care of Miss Lamb.

"Were you told to give her water or not to do so?" asked the coroner.

"No sir," replied the witness.

Two girls who had been employed in the sanitarium for a short time were put on the witness stand, and their replies to questions asked, them showed very clearly the absence of ordinary precautions as to the care of patients, especially those who had just passed through operations, as had Miss Lamb when she "kept the nurse running for water all the time."

Within the past two months the coroner has held two inquests in which the Atwoods were deeply concerned, but in both instances the doctors escaped being held responsible by producing statements signed by the dying patient or a member of the family which declared the original operation to have been performed by another physician.

Both Dr. C. H. T. Atwood, the father and Dr. C. H. Atwood, the son, as well as Dr. A. B. Estock, who had been called in when Miss Lamb suddenly grew worse, testified at the inquest yesterday. The testimony given by the three doctors differed widely from that of Dr. N. W. Jones, who had examined the body for the coroner, especially as to the injury which had resulted in death.

Miss George, the nurse, who at of the George girl, who said that had worked eight days in the sanitarium, having left the cannery the week before. As she said, Dr. Atwood "gave her a job in the sanitarium." Though she first declared she had nothing to do with the patients, but make the beds and carry clean food and water, further questioning revealed the fact that this 16-year-old working girl was the entire attendant of the sanitarium that although she went to bed at nine o'clock, she was on duty day and night, the patients ringing a bell if they needed her.

Agnes Oppel, aged 17 years, living at Tremont with her parents, had worked in the sanitarium three weeks. Her mother had taken her away after the recent investigation of the place began.

Miss Oppel, who looks younger than 17, astonished the jury by saying that she had been present at all operations performed during her stay in the sanitarium.

Perhaps the most astonishing of all the testimony was the statement of the eGorge girl, who said that Miss Lamb, who had been under chloroform during the operation performed October 9, the day after she arrived at the sanitarium, was left to lie on her bed unattended until she recovered consciousness and was able to ring the bell. The nurse declared that she did not then know that any operation had been performed.

The younger Atwood admitted on the stand that a number of signed statements similar to that made by Miss Lamb, who first called herself Gladys Johnson, had been received and kept in their office. Some of these, he said, gave the names of the doctors who had performed the original operations. The elder Atwood was recalled to the stand and said that all statements involving other physicians had been destroyed by him.

The verdict was that death was the result of a criminal operation committed by some one unknown to the jury.—Journal.

EATON BINDERY ADDS NEW MACHINERY

Pratt, of Portland, is Foreman of His Up-to-date Shop

Allen Eaton, who established an up-to-date bindery here more than a year ago, has met with so much encouragement that he has installed a ruling machine and other equipment for the production of better work. Last summer he kept five employes at work on jobs of the most difficult nature.

In addition to the new machinery, Mr. Eaton has obtained the service of Mr. Harry Platt from Portland as foreman of the shop. He was for five years head finisher for Glass & Prudhome ,the well-known blank book makers of Portland. Some of the finest blank books in the court house and business houses here, were turned out by Mr. Pratt while he was in Portland. He is an expert with the ruling machine, and the print shops of Eugene, in co-operation with the bindery, can undertake anything in book-making.

The Eaton Book Bindery is now able to handle any kind of binding in any quantity, not only for Eugene, but for the whole section.

TRY THIS MIXTURE FOR RHEUNATISM

To make up enough of the "Dandelion treatment," which is claimed to be relieving nearly every sufferer who uses it for backache, kidney complaint, sore weak bladder and rheumatism; get from any one good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce of Fluid Extract of Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Those who have tried it claim that it acts gently but thoroughly on the kidneys, relieving backache and the bladder trouble and urinary difficulties before you realize it. Many cases of rheumatism are known to have been relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

This simple remedy is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids, and waste matter, which cause not only rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffer from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you much misery and suffering after while.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE HAS HOPES OF BEATING OREGON

Coach Forbes is Working His Men on Broad Principles and Methods

Whitworth College will attempt to defeat the Oregon eleven tomorrow in the fourth game for the University team this season. If Whitworth wins, as she seems to think she may, it will mean great things for the standing of the team. Oregon supporters look upon the contest as exceedingly interesting. The development of the forward pass this week, may be demonstrated fully. In practice against a team which knows the signals, Forbes' plays have worked smoothly and successfully.

In case Oregon has an easy game, a great number of men will probably receive a tryout during the contest. Forbes now has about twenty men on the training table, and enough men on the first squad to compose two full teams.

His methods of coaching mean much for the future teams. Football knowledge is more generally decimated among the players than for many years. A few nights ago, a new man came out, who had never had on a football suit. There was no hope of his being of any value this year, and little likelihood of him becoming a first squad man next year. Yet Captain Moullen took him under his direction, and started him on some of the rudiments.
