GRAND OPERA SEASON OPENS IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 9.—With a list of high-priced songbirds and a repertoire well calculated to attract music lovers, though with fewer novelties than were offered last year, the Manhattan opera house swings open its doors tonight for the opening of its third season of grand opera. "La Tosca" will be the introductory opera and the occasion will mark the debut of Mme. Labia, a young soprano who has made her way as a singing actress in Germany. Mme. Labia will sing the title role. Also in the cast will be the French baritone, Maurice Renaud, and Signor Zanattello, who is to be Mr. Hammerstein's principal tenor this season. With the exceptions of Mme. Labia and Mme. Melba, the latter being engaged for ten performances at mid-winter, the principal names on the roster of the Manhattan this season are virtually the same as those of last year. Included in the list are Miss Garden, Mme. Tetrazzini, M. Dalmores, Signor Zanattello, Signor Colombini and M. Glibert.

Watched Fifteen Years.
"For fifteen years I have watched the working of Bucklen's Arnica Salve; and it has never failed to cure any sore, boil, ulcer or burn to which it was applied. It has saved us many a doctor bill," says A. F. Hardy, of East Wilton, Maine, 25c at W. A. Kuykendall's Drug Store.

Albany Apple Fair, Nov. 10 to 12.
For the above occasion the Southern Pacific Company will sell round trip tickets to Albany and return at one and one-third fare, on November 10th, 11th and 12th. All tickets limited to November 13th. A. J. GILLETTE, Agent.

LORD MAYOR'S SHOW HELD IN LONDON TOWN

London, Nov. 9.—The unemployed turned out in considerable force this morning to take part in the celebration of Lord Mayor's day, and the procession was marked by some unusual scenes. Crows of workmen and women were massed at prominent points along the route of the parade and here and there were bands of suffragettes distributing literature, but these demonstrations were entirely orderly, and outside of keeping the throngs from breaking over the sidewalks into the roadway the forces of metropolitan police that were massed along the route had little or nothing to do.

The procession was exceedingly spectacular, though in all its essential features and in the chief ceremonies that followed the program was identical with that carried out each year on November 9 from time immemorial. The general scheme of the pageant was symbolic of literature and music, in recognition of the fact that Sir George Truscott, the new lord mayor, is a member of the Stationers' and Musicians' Companies.

The procession followed the customary route to the law courts, where the new lord mayor was formally received by the lord chancellor. Thence by a different route the pageant wound its way through the crowded thoroughfares back to the Guild hall, where the customary lord mayor's banquet is held this evening, at which the foremost men in public life will be the speakers.

Sir George Truscott, the new chief magistrate of London, is fifty-one years old. He became alderman in 1895 and sheriff in 1902. He is prominent in commercial life, being the head of a large firm of printers and manufacturing stationers, and also identified with numerous other companies. He is possessed of immense wealth and will hardly need the salary of $50,000 which he will receive for his services of one year as lord mayor.
