HARRISBURG NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

(Special Correspondence.)
Harrisburg, Nov. 5.—The election here Tuesday was of a very orderly character. Many farmers came in the afternoon. The election board was kept quite busy for about four hours, the count being completed about 9 o'clock and the announcement made that the two Harrisburg precincts had given a majority for Taft of four votes. This is the first time in the history of the town that a Republican candidate for president has received a majority of the votes cast. Since the election is over, the community is settling down in their usual sensible manner. The inevitable is accepted without wrangle, hot words of the campaign are forgotten. Both Republicans and Democrats are proceeding with their avocations with the same friendly co-operation as if there had been no political contest. All realize that federal government affords the best protection for its citizenship of any nation on the face of the earth, and all hope that the rally around the flag may be continuous and of one accord.

Our public school, under the management of Professor Mark A. Paulson, is remarkably prosperous. He says that we can boast of having the finest and most up-to-date school building of any city of its size in the state. He is negotiating the advisability of putting in the third year of high school work, which in another year will demand the fourth year's work, raising our high school to first class. This is as it ought to be.

It seems to be overwhelmingly demonstrated by the people that Mr. Bryan is better adapted to the avocational side of life than he is to the practical or useful.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lockard, of Moscow, Idaho, are here for an extended visit with relatives and friends.

Miss Beale Cummings, of Portland, returned home the first part of the week accompanied by her sister, Miss Vera Beale.

Miss C. C. Morris and J. B. Harriet took the election returns to Albany Wednesday morning.

"If only we" men have been much in evidence on our streets this week.

The late Mrs. and Jack Frost have received normal health conditions in this section, which means but little sickness.

FREE ART EXHIBIT.
I am glad to announce to any who are interested that on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week there will be an exhibit at the opera house of a large number of original Japanese water colors all of which show well the characteristics of the Japanese art. Many of these are the I have ever seen.

LAUNDRY ASSOCIATION EFFECTS ORGANIZATION

D. D. Olmstead, of Salem, Is Elected President—Eugene Gets Two Officers

The Willamette Valley Laundrymen's Association effected a permanent organization at its meeting in Eugene Saturday afternoon by electing the following officers: D. D. Olmstead, of Salem, president; E. L. Fisher, of Eugene, vice president; A. L. Simpson, of Albany, secretary; W. H. Hodges, of Eugene, treasurer.

A committee on by-laws and constitution was appointed as follows: O. C. Baker, of Roseburg; Oscar Woodson, of Cottage Grove, and E. L. Stranage, of Corvallis.

As stated in Saturday's Guard, the object of the meeting was to discuss matters pertaining to the interest of the trade, among which was the matter of purchasing supplies in bulk for all the laundries in the association and establishing a central distribution depot. Meetings will be held twice a year. All the steam laundries in Western Oregon south of Salem are included in the membership of the organization.

DIED

In Eugene, November 9, 1908, Isom Yeager, aged 70 years, 6 months and 8 days. He leaves a wife, Mary M. Yeager, and five children, as follows: Mrs. Amanda M. Lagerott, of Eugene; W. L. Yeager, of Eugene; Mrs. Alice H. Woodden, of Portland; Mrs. Dorinda R. Crosby, of Eugene, and Mrs. L. E. Hodges, of Eugene. Mr. Yeager served in the civil war from October 18, 1861, to April 14, 1864, and he belonged to J. W. Geary Post, No. 7, G. A. R., of this city. The funeral will be held at his residence in East Eugene at 10 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Myron A. Thomas was born August 12th, 1850, near Silverton, Marion County, Oregon. Died Nov. 8th. He was married to Sarah Lizzie Watson, February 19th, 1874, who still survives him. Two children were born to them; both of whom are living, Marcelous M. Thomas and Mary Deadmond. He also leaves three grandchildren, seven brothers and two sisters, to mourn his death. Mr. Thomas had been ailing for about nine months and passed peacefully away at 3 o'clock, p. m., Nov. 8, 1908.

Oh our loved one, how we miss him,
Human tongue can never tell,
And our hearts are almost breaking,
When we hear that funeral knell.

He was ever a loving father,
Tender husband, faithful friend,
And although he suffered greatly,
He was patient to the end.

As we stood around his bedside,
Waiting for the call to come,
We knew that God in heaven,
Would safely take him home.

Loving father, tender husband,
We will see his face no more,
But we know that he is waiting
On that bright and peaceful shore.

When life's sorrows all are ended,
We will clasp him by the hand
And we will be with him forever
In that bright and better land.
A FRIEND.

A MIGNON FOR VILLARD HALL

The field of musical instrument making, which has shown such an enormous development during the past few years, has again been enriched by a new invention which may be said to mark an epoch in musical history.

The "Mignon", sometimes called the "Waltz" is the name given to this new device. Its mission is that of unfolding before the public the art of piano playing, as illustrated by the great masters. It furnishes a direct reproduction of the performance of the virtuoso, not by means of a phonograph, but on the piano itself.

In order to attain this end exceedingly sensitive appliances have been constructed especially for this purpose. During the performance of the pianist these appliances retain his play with all its subtleties and individual characteristics, so as to afterwards re-execute it most accurately by means of the "Mignon", reproducing instrument.

The eminent importance of this invention by the popularization and study of piano music becomes more evident. It will now be possible for the amateur or artist to derive with real enjoyment into the study of classic compositions and their composer, because the music thus reproduced embodies the conception of the artist who gave it expression, and gives to the student of music the opportunity of seeing with our mental eye his sensitive soul.

The Mignon for Villard Hall arrived in Eugene last Saturday and was taken to the Stevens & Ruffin Piano House and unpacked. It stands two feet high and five and a half feet long, weighs about 1200 pounds and is an attractive looking instrument. It was moved to the University today and installed in Villard Hall, where it will be heard for the first time next Wednesday morning at assembly at 10 o'clock. Mr. Bruce of Portland will be present and have full charge of the Mignon demonstration.

A general invitation is extended to the public to be present, enjoy the music and see and hear by the demonstration the most wonderful musical invention of the age.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR MEETS

DENVER AUDITORIUM.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 9.—In the Denver Auditorium, where the Democratic convention assembled last July and named William J. Bryan for president, there were gathered this morning hundreds of representatives of the workmen of America. They were the delegates to the twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor and among them was represented every trade and every industry of the United States. It was an assemblage of brawny, fine-looking, intellectual representatives of the toilers, and one that must have immediately impressed itself on the minds of the scores of spectators who filled the galleries and balconies of the big hall.

Promptly at 10 o'clock President Samuel Gompers mounted the platform, accompanied by the other officers of the Federation, members of the executive committee and fraternal delegates representing the Western Federation of Miners and the organized labor bodies of Canada and Great Britain. The appearance of President Gompers was greeted with loud and prolonged cheers, many of the delegates rising and continuing the enthusiastic greeting for several minutes. After quiet had been restored, welcomes were expressed in behalf of the State of Colorado, the city of Denver and the labor unions of the municipality, and appropriate responses were made by President Gompers and several of the delegates.

The annual address of President Gompers was the chief feature of the opening day's proceedings. The address was one of considerable length. Though it required more than two hours in its delivery the delegates manifested not the slightest sign of impatience and gave it close attention from beginning to end. The salient points of the address were greeted with loud applause, and when Mr. Gompers had finished he received a hearty ovation. Naturally the most interesting paragraphs of the address were those dealing with the participation of the Federation in the recent campaign and election. Injunctions, the boycott, eight-hour legislation and undesirable immigration were treated at considerable length, and in Mr. Gompers' customary vigorous style. The spread of child labor legislation was commended and the delegates were urged to renewed efforts in the work of organizing labor and disseminating labor propaganda.

The address of President Gompers was followed by the annual reports of Secretary Frank Morrison and Treasurer John B. Lennon. The report of the executive committee also was presented. The convention is expected to remain in session at least a week as many matters of importance are slated for consideration and action. The indications are that the present officers of the Federation will be re-elected without opposition.

Gompers on Politics.
In his annual address President Gompers treated the political situation at length, summarizing the subject as follows:
"As already stated, we presented identical demands to the Republican and Democratic party conventions. In the one instance, that of the Republican convention, the declaration adopted were for the enactment of a law that would legalize the abuse and perversion of the injunction writ, this in direct opposition to what we had asked. The Democratic party, in convention at Denver, adopted labor's demands and incorporated them in its party platform.

"In view of the specific declarations of the men of labor throughout our country for many years, the repeated declarations and instructions of the American Federation at many of its conventions, some of which I have quoted, it devolves upon you, who come here and who have been in immediate and constant touch with the toilers of America, it is for you to say whether the course pursued to stand faithfully by our friends and elect them, whether they be candidates for president, for congress or other offices, is justified, and meets with your approval or your condemnation.

"The men of labor realize that our liberties as workers and as citizens are threatened; that our industrial efforts to work for labor's rights and interests upon natural and rational lines are outlawed, and that if it is in the desire and aspiration of America's toilers to work along these peaceful, natural lines of historic development, these rights and liberties must be restored.

"The men of labor are invoked to be up and doing. Their action should be consistent, persistent and insistent.

"Some over zealous partisans, and particularly our opponents, for a purpose, have declared that I am a Democrat and have always been a Democrat. It may not be necessary to make this explanation to you, but to correct any error now or of the future, I desire to emphasize the fact that though many years ago I counted myself a Republican, I have not been and am not now a Democrat, in a partisan sense. I owe allegiance to no political party. So far as in my power lies and in the light given me, I have always without fear of personal consequences, endeavored to perform my duty to my fellow workers to the best of my ability.

Treasurer's Report.
Treasurer Lennon in his report said:

"For a period of eighteen years I have been each year reporting to the conventions of the A. F. of L. as its treasurer. During that considerable period of time the trade union movement has encountered many obstacles, and in a large measure overcome them. The calamity howlers have always been in our midst, pointing out the near dissolution of the trade union movement. But in spite of all opposition, both from within and without, and despite all discouragements offered, the trade union movement has steadily made progress. Improved conditions have been secured. Wages have been advanced. The intelligence of the workers has made wonderful progress, and the solidarity of our movement is greater now than at any time in the past history of organized labor on this continent. With this knowledge before us, there should be no gloom or discouragement as to the future. Obstacles will be met, but the trade union will meet them successfully. The pessimists, I suppose, will always remain with us; but their lamentation will not be sufficient to retard the progress of organized labor."

His report showed the total income of the organization during the year to have been $207,655.28, and the expenses $196,937.35. Total funds on hand, $138,627.89.

ORVILLE CROW WRITES OF HIS ACCIDENT

Orville Crow, who recently had his leg broken by his horse falling upon him, writes of his accident as follows: "The fact is that on the evening of October 22, about 6 o'clock, as I was starting from my place to my father's, galloping somewhat down hill, the horse slipped and fell on his left side. My left leg was underneath and broken in two places. Both bones below the knee were fractured. I set to rolling and was heard about four miles distant, but the people who caught the sound thought it was hunters and did not heed. About 8 o'clock James and Willie Haskins came to my rescue, and Mr. Johnson, the postmaster, as you stated.

"They got their rig and with the help of Charles Hawkins and Riley Crow they put me into the rig and conveyed me to my parents' home. My brother, Harvey Crow, and my father, J. N. Crow, and Mrs. H. Crow, assisted Dr. Yorks, of Cottage Grove, in setting my leg. I am getting along as well as can be expected."
