DR. LOVERIDGE DIES SUDDENLY THIS MORNING

Aged Episcopal Minister Passed Away Peacefully At His Farm Home

Rev. D. E. Loveridge died at his home between Eugene and Springfield this morning at 7 o'clock. Death came suddenly and peacefully. He had been ailing for a number of weeks, but was able to be about his little fruit farm yesterday, and rejoiced that he felt well enough to do a little tree pruning. He spent a restless night and was about to arise for the day this morning when he suddenly expired.

Daniel Edward Loveridge was born at New Milford, Conn., December 11, 1824, therefore being aged at the time of his death nearly 84 years. He was educated at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., from which institution he graduated, and was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. He was ordained to the priesthood of the Episcopal church about 55 years ago. Coming to this coast with his family, he served as rector of Trinity church at Portland for a few months and then came to Eugene. This was twenty years ago. He served St. Mary's church of this city as rector from that time until a year ago last June, when he retired from active ministerial life and went to his fruit farm east of the city. He was always an enthusiastic grower of fine fruit and each season for years he has grown and marketed some of the finest ever grown in Western Oregon, especially grapes.

Dr. Loveridge was a minister of ability, was beloved by all his parishioners as well as by all who knew him. He leaves three daughters, Miss Emily, of Portland, and Misses Ruth and Myra, of this city, besides three grandchildren. Mrs. Loveridge died in 1903.

No funeral arrangements have yet been made, pending the arrival of his daughter, Miss Emily, from Portland, tonight.

OREGON LOSES TO WASHINGTON FIFTEEN TO 0

Line Plunges and Handling of Punts Wins Game for the Visitors

NO SCORE MADE IN THE FIRST HALF

Oregon Takes Defensive Except During Last Half, When She Makes Yardage

The University of Oregon lost this afternoon in a gruffly played battle with Washington by a score of 15 to 0. No score was made in the first half. In the early part of the second half Washington, by a series of terrific line plunges, scored. No goal. Ten minutes afterward twenty yards from the goal line, a forward pass, swiftly executed, scored again. No goal. A bad pass near the end of the half put Washington within two yards of the goal line, and after three trials the backs pushed it over. No goal.

Oregon chose to play on the defensive except during the last part of the second half, when she made good yardage. Washington won by sheer weight, handling of punts, and punting.

There was a large crowd of spectators, filling the grandstand and bleachers.

Both teams had men somewhat bruised by injuries, but when the players entered the gridiron arena determination dominated every move and every line of the teams and of the individuals. Oregon appeared considerably smaller than the Washington huskies. However, that is something that was partly due to Oregon's suits. For even Whitworth looked to the spectators larger than Oregon last Saturday. The small stripe of the jerseys and blue color deceived the eye.

The field of play was unusually clear. Brief use of sideline passes was demanded by Manager Melvin and the special policeman under his direction. Even the possession was very stationary in the first five or six minutes of the game.

The field was in splendid condition after the rain of yesterday, and not muddy. The special policeman complained about the wetting from the coaching box, but he had to hold them in the heat during the game.

One of the sales of real estate made by J. N. Morris, of the Red Star, was that of 42 acres of fine fruit land at Pleasant Hill, to D. L. Harden, the architect, and J. J. Harding and father of Stoughton. They will plant the tract with three-year-old English walnut trees that will soon make a show.

No vacation will be given the University Thanksgiving week, but those students desiring leaves of absence will be granted them. The faculty last night held a meeting at which it was decided to refuse the petition of the students for two days and a half extra time. The absence will count just the same as at times for the same length of time, and will not be counted against the students' cuts. All students intending to go to Portland are requested to hand their names in at the University office.
