HOME LAND FIRST.

We can love the whole wide world
And pray it may be blest,
Yet there is no time when it's a crime
To love our own land best.

No fields so rich and broad—
No other skies so fair,
Earth's richest dowers, sweetest
flowers?
Look round! Behold them there!

The nation, glad to praise,
Joins in the glorious lay
That born of love is sent above
On this Thanksgiving day.

But the dearest not of all
To kiss the azure dome
Is the grateful prayer for Heaven's care
Breathed from the heart of home.
—Selected.

pany has reduced the price of kerosene to consumers is one of those half-truths that are often worse than lies, says the Sacramento Bee. It is true that the oil trust, not satisfied with the profits of wholesaling and refining, drove many jobbers and retailers out of the oil business, through its adoption of the tank wagon system of distribution and sale. This tended to reduce the retail price of oil, because nobody could compete with the Standard. And the great improvements in methods of refining, as well as the use of pipe lines and other labor-saving devices, materially lessened the cost of production, and so tended to lower prices to the consumer.

Those colored fellows down in Hayti are kicking up another rumpus over the best method of conducting the island government. The fellows who are out of office want to get in and those who are in seem to be bent on holding down their present jobs just as long as possible. In this they are very similar to the men afflicted with the office-holders' itch in this country, but we go about it in a manner not quite so violent. Instead of slipping a knife in his back when he is looking the other way, we handle the case of vanquishing a hated opponent much more humanely by ruining his reputation.

The French government has promulgated an order not to permit President Castro, of Venezuela, to land on French soil. Castro is journeying to the land of the frog-eaters for the purpose of undergoing a surgical operation, but it seems that the wily French fear that he intends it as an armed invasion. So they will not extend to him the glad hand, but he must return to his little two-by-four South American Republic and take it out in cursing the narrow-minded Frenchman. Castro has succeeded in making himself pretty thoroughly disliked by all the nations of the earth.

The "Pull together" spirit is what is making Eugene grow, and if kept up the city will continue to expand and prosper. Don't try to get everything your own way, but pull off your coat and work in harmony with the majority. That's the system that will win every time.

Booker Washington was a White House Caller the other day. He has not yet been a visitor to Hot Springs, and will probably not be. In fact, we understand the Virginia resort has no accommodations for negroes outside the servants' quarters.

We do not believe the members of the Oregon legislature are as bad as the Oregonian professes to believe they are. We do not believe they have any intention of breaking their pledge to elect the people's choice to the United States senate.

Anyway, Mr. Archbold hasn't a mollycoddle stomach. He testified under oath that his favorite breakfast was sausage and buckwheat cakes. How John D., whose diet is mostly skim-milk and "breakfast foods," must envy him.

As a patient which has survived the treatment of many doctors of many minds the Democratic party holds the record. If it could have been killed by quack doctoring, it would have been dead and forgotten long ago.

Severe winter weather is killing thousands of cattle on the ranges of Colorado and other mountain states. And here in Eugene the lawns are green and flowers are blooming out of doors.

When it comes to quick executions without bothering about trials, the Haitians are birds, whether officials or revolutionists. Yet there are men who advocate the annexation of Hayti.

Two and a half millions of deposits in the Eugene banks indicates a healthy local financial condition. Few other towns of 10,000 population can equal this showing.

And here's another extraordinary man. Lars Anderson, of Boston, who contributed $25,000 to the Taft fund, says he was actuated by personal friendship, and would not accept an office if it were offered him.

For a man who says, "I am no longer in business," Andy Carnegie's tariff views are attracting a lot of attention. Perhaps, because they have so radically changed.

China's baby emperor will not lack change of diet, as 30-count 'em,—wet nurses have been added to the royal household to see that he does not go hungry.

It must be admitted that many things due to take place "after election" have not yet materialized, and some of them may not, we fear.

Hope springs eternal in the heart of the candidate. No sooner is he sure he is beat than he straightway enters for the next heat.

Before this Russian scientist teaches everybody how to live to be 150 years old he should teach the younger generation a little respect for those who have lived to be 60 or more.

A STATE LAW AGAINST MINORS USING CIGARETTES

Probation Officer Quotes Code on Subject—Law Also Forbids Sale

Editor of the Guard: Inasmuch as there has been considerable discussion in regard to boys using tobacco and cigars, and as a matter of public importance, I desire to call your attention to the following sections of the code:
Sec. 1980. It shall be unlawful to sell, barter, trade, give or in any manner furnish to any minor under the age of eighteen years, any tobacco, cigars, or cigarettes in any form, or any compound in which tobacco forms a component part, without the written consent or order of such minor's parent or guardian; and when such minor has no parent or guardian, then in that case consent may be given by the county court, sitting for the transaction of county business, upon proper application in the county in which said minor may have his residence. Any person violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars.
Sec. 1981. It shall be unlawful for any minor under the age of 18 years to smoke or in any way use any cigar, cigarette, or tobacco in any form whatsoever in any public highway, street, place, square, or resort. Any minor violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than one nor more than ten dollars, or by imprisonment at the option of the court, two days for each offense.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN M. WILLIAMS,
Chief Probation Officer.

OREGON ELECTRIC WILL BE EXTENDED TOWARD EUGENE

"There is a strong possibility that the extension from Salem to Albany will be constructed during the coming year," stated General Agent G. W. Talbot, of the Oregon Electric, who was here yesterday with Traffic Manager G. F. Nevins and General Agent C. S. Walters. The latter took position yesterday as general agent of the Salem district to have charge of all the territory south of Wilsonville.

"It is merely a question of constructing an extension to Albany or completing a line to McMinnville. We would have put in the Albany extension this year had we not received such genuine disapprobation from the city council there, but conditions seem better now.
"We had fully made up our minds to build to McMinnville, after we had been turned down by the Salem people, but the outlook for the Albany extension and small difficulties along the right of way are so much smaller no doubt we may find opportunity to construct the Albany extension during 1909, and possibly both of the roads."
—Salem Statesman.

Rather than serve negroes, Harry Tracey and Charles Summers, waiters at the Royal restaurant, in Albany, gave up their positions. Yesterday at dinner Tracey refused to wait on four negroes who are singing at the Empire theater, and Summers refused to take his place. Both waiters refused to serve the negroes again and accepted the alternative of being discharged.

The proposed American exposition, to be held in London next year, has been thoroughly organized and special efforts are being made to part of the country.
