REVIVAL MEETING HELD AT COBURG
Special Correspondence.)
Coburg, Dec. 5.—The revival meeting conducted by Evangelist Rev. David Lippert, assisted by his wife, have continued for the past three weeks with unabated interest. There has been a genuine work accomplished in these meetings, for they have been of great spiritual power.
God has certainly blessed Coburg with one of the best, if not the best, revival it has ever known.
Rev. Lippert is a plain, practical speaker. The kind of religion he teaches he describes as follows: "A great many people have not Christianity in a sentiment, but in a practical life. They have the Rev. and Mrs. Lippert's music. But more than one year ago Rev. Lippert had a successful revival at Lippert has a very voice. Much has been accomplished in the evangelists."

SEVERE ACCIDENT TO CHARLES McFARLAND
Charles McFarland, one of the employees at the Southern Pacific depot, was severely injured last evening about 5 o'clock, by a crate of plate glass falling against him in a car. His right arm near the wrist was broken and he was otherwise hurt. It was thought that he was internally injured, but after an examination, Dr. Kuykendall, the attending physician, stated that such was not the case. Mr. McFarland was helping to unload a shipment of plate glass for the new I. O. O. F. block when in some manner one of the big crates became overbalanced and falling pinned him between it and the side of the car. He threw up his arm to protect himself and in that way the right arm was broken.

NEW SERIAL, "THE DEVIL," NET WEEK.
The Guard's serial story, "Janet Cable," ends in today's paper. Next Saturday we will begin the publication of a new story, "The Devil."
This story is founded upon the drama which is producing such a sensation in New York City at the present time. Readers will find this story intensely interesting—and they may be able toathom the moral lesson that underlies it. Remember that the opening chapters will appear next Saturday.

OVER SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS' WORTH OF PLATE GLASS BROKEN
As the draymen and railroad employees were unloading the crates of plate glass for the new I. O. O. F. block last evening, one of them fell and five of the six big pieces of glass which it contained were broken. Each glass is worth $150, hence the loss is $750. The crate was hauled with the rest to the new block, where it was opened and left standing for examination by representative of the glass company in Portland. This was the crate that fell on Charles McFarland and broke his arm, as mentioned in another column. Each one of the pieces of glass is 88x162 inches in dimensions. Others in the shipment are 88x178 inches.
