Whether Walter Damrosch was right or wrong in saying that more classical music in homes would lessen the number of divorces we don't pretend to know, but all of us know homes that would be more comfortable for some members of the family with less ragtime music.

The Guard's voting contest to select a delegation of young ladies to attend the Seattle exposition should prove a very popular election. Not many counties in the state will send a large delegation of this kind, and it will be only another evidence at the big fair that Eugene and Lane county are on the map.

Meddling scientists won't even let the man born tired get a rest in peace. One of them has actually discovered a laziness antitoxin, which will make men like to work. A few doses might be used to advantage hereabouts.

Lane county's annual poultry show will be held in Eugene next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Commendable interest is being taken in the arrangements and a splendid exhibition may be looked forward to.

Maybe there will be some important legislation, aside from the appropriation bills, put through at the present session of congress, but if there is the gentlemen who are bossing the outfit will be badly scooped.

It's all very well to knock the selfishness shown at the tariff hearing, but when business propositions are discussed without a display of selfishness we shall be well into the millennium.

SUDDEN DEATH OF ELI C. LARIMER

Eli C. Larimer, a well-known citizen of Eugene, died suddenly at his home at 633 Oak street last evening, shortly before six o'clock. He had been in poor health for a long time, but yesterday he was feeling as usual and just before death came was preparing for supper. He was out on the porch when he fell and a few minutes afterward expired. Physicians were summoned, but they found that life was extinct. Eli Couler Larimer was aged 82 years, 6 months and 16 days. He was born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, May 29th, 1826. He moved to Indiana in 1846 and to Iowa in 1853. He crossed the plains to California during the gold fever in 1853 and went back to Iowa in 1855. He was married in 1858 to Miss Caroline Dixon. In 1872 they came to Oregon and settled near Halsey in Linn county. They moved to Eugene about 1887 and have lived here ever since. Besides his wife he leaves five daughters and one son. The daughters are: Mrs. Hester Armitage, near Springfield; Mrs. Ada McPherson, Springfield; Mrs. Lulu Andrews, Eugene; Mrs. Laura Fraver, Canada; Miss May, at home. The son, Isaac Larimer, who is the youngest member of the family, lives at Springfield. Three children are dead, two having died in Iowa and one in Oregon. Mr. Larimer was a member of the Methodist church in his early manhood and later joined the Baptist church, but never identified himself with the local church in Eugene. He was a sturdy pioneer of the thorough-going kind, and was a kind husband and true father. The funeral will be held at the Gordon's undertaking parlors tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with interment in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Why Papa and Mamma Ought to Trade at

TRIPLET'S

Papa and Mamma ought to trade at Triplet's because they get the best bargains for their money. And they are always met by polite clerks—and Triplets always has the very best and latest styles. I have seen in their store ribbons, laces, shoes that just fit the feet with corns and bunions. And what do you think—they even have things with wires and shoe laces in to make fat women look slim. And they have dolls. Oh, my; I wish I could get one of those in the window.

The Reason Why Papa and Mamma Should Trade at

TRIPLET'S NEW STORE,

Willamette st., bet. 9th & 10th

The reason why papa and mamma should trade at Triplets: In the first place, because they are honest—they do just what they say they will. My mamma bought some goods there some time in November, before the goods left the store one of the pieces was damaged. They had to send somewhere East after some more to replace it. It came all right; and mamma feels they treated her square.
 In the second place they sell their goods cheap. Their goods are all new and everything is in style. They have lots of things that a little girl like me would like for Christmas. I see in their window nice suits, coats and bath robes, and lots of pretty things I think would be nice for papa and mamma for Christmas.
