STRONG EVIDENCE
IS INTRODUCED
AGAINST HAINS

Flushing, Dec. 22.—Testimony of a character designed to corroborate stories of the killing of W. E. Annis which have been told during the T. J. Hains trial, was developed today from several of the prosecution's witnesses. William Knapp, one of the Bayside yacht club members, was given a vigorous cross-examination after testifying that while sailing toward the dock after the impromptu boat race had heard the shooting and saw Mrs. Annis running down the runway.

"I saw her moving across the float," continued Knapp. "Then she stopped and went back up the runway again. Someone took her by the arm at the runway. I could not see who stopped her because she was hidden by the jib of the Annis boat."
Mrs. Annis testified yesterday that Thornton turned her back with a revolver when she ran across the float toward her injured husband. John C. Stephens, a fellow club member of Annis' testified that he heard the defendant say after the shooting:
"I came to protect my brother and would have shot anybody that interfered." Both Knapp and Stephens asserted that there was a noticeable interval between the first and subsequent shots fired by Captain Hains at Annis.

ABOUT RUNNING
CENTURY PAPERS

Views of "Old Man Bennett" as Outlined in Recent Address.

From a paper read by Editor Bennett, of The Dalles Optimist, before the Oregon-Idaho Development Convention.

I am only small fry in the newspaper field. The 45 years I have spent in and around newspaper and printing offices have been wasted, thrown away, dissipated, lost, for I know absolutely nothing about a weekly paper, and a blamed sight less about a daily paper. I do not ask you to take my word for this.
All you have to do to find that I am telling the truth is to go to the places where I am running papers and ask the people of those places.
They will tell you that the Irrigator in those papers are no good, and and The Optimist are no good, and in those papers. They have a wide reputation. I give them the best there is in me, but the people of the towns where they are run will tell you (with the exception of a few choice souls who are too good for this world and will soon be in heaven), the people as a rule will tell you that my occupation ought to be digging post holes or shoveling smoke.

Of course I go to other points, other towns and cities, and the people wine and dine me and get me full of plaudits and say I am "IT." In very large type; but my neighbors know me for the fraud that I am.

And in thus stating my position I have given the meat and kernel of my argument, and that is that the people in almost every community in Oregon keep pretty busy cursing the local paper and its editor, and wonder how a man can stoop to publish such a measly sheet.

The average community seems to think that the local paper is a parasite, something to be endured but not encouraged. They will point across the state line to the next county, to the neighboring city, to any old paper in any old place, and tell you what a good paper it is and how fortunate a community is to have such a sheet; but they will at the same time take pains to tell you the paper in their own town is plumb cultus, and the editor a man who does not know the first principles of the newspaper business.

What would you do without your newspaper? How long would it be, if your present paper should close down, until you would be flirting with some other newspaper man to come to your town, and what promises you would hold out, and how you would fall down after he got out his first issue. I know all about you, I have seen the thing worked to a frazzle in Oregon, and know that the newspaperman is, as a rule, the least paid, the poorest paid, and the most grudgingly paid of all.

WOMEN TERRIFIED
BY NIGHT RIDERS

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 22.—When Mrs. Anna Jackson, one of the state's witnesses this afternoon in the night riders' trial was excused from the stand she turned to Judge Jones and said: "I will not leave the court room without armed protection. I know these men."

Mrs. Jackson told a vivid story of several visits of the night riders, corroborating details, as did other witnesses, and identified by name at least 27 members of the band. She was followed on the stand by her daughter, Miss Dora Jackson, 18 years old, who corroborated her mother's story. The last witness of the day was Will Russell, another alleged night rider, who has turned state's evidence.

Russel came to Union City after the Rankin killing and made a confession. He was trembling with fear and could hardly raise his voice above a whisper. Russel is under constraint guard, but believes that he will be killed in spite of these precautions. Russel's story was practically the same as that told by Fahringer.

Superintendent of Schools Jackson, of Linn county, hands us the enumeration of school children for Linn county showing a total of 6,939. Last year it was 6,573, giving an increase of 366, of which 199 is in the city of Albany.—Democrat.
