INSTANT RELIEF OF ITCHING HUMOR. Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw—Feet Too Swollen to Get Shoes On—Sleep Completely Broken by Intense Itching and Burning—Well in Two Days and Says That

CUTICURA IS AMONG HIS HOUSEHOLD GODS "God bless the man who first compounded Cuticura. Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I had to split my drawers open to get them on and could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. One morning I remembered that I had a bit of Cuticura and tried it. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. I only wish I had used the Cuticura Remedies in the first of my troubles. They would have saved me two or three weeks of intense suffering. During that time I did not sleep an hour at a time, but was up applying such remedies as I had. Henceforth the Cuticura Remedies will be among my household gods, rest assured. George B. Parley, 50 South State St., Concord, N. H., May 11, 1907."

MONUMENT DEDICATED TO IROQUOIS VICTIMS

Chicago, Dec. 30.—The fifth anniversary of the Iroquois theatre fire in this city was observed today by the dedication of a monument erected in Montrose cemetery by the Iroquois Memorial Association. In memory of the 600 victims of the terrible catastrophe. The monument, a handsome shaft of granite, marks the burial place of one unknown woman who perished in the fire. The dedication was accompanied by impressive ceremonies. Tonight the annual memorial service for the victims takes place in Willard hall, with addresses by Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones and others. The Iroquois theatre holocaust was the most appalling disaster of its kind in the world's history. The fire originated on the stage of the theatre during the matinee performance of December 30, 1903, at a time when every part of the house was crowded with the usual holiday audience of women and children. The theatre was practically new, having been opened only a few weeks previous to the fire. The attraction was a spectacular piece entitled "Bluebeard," which had been running there since the opening night. It is believed that sparks from one of the spotlights ignited some of the flimsy pieces of scenery in the wings and in a few moments the blaze spread upward toward the flies. Some of the actors and stage employes tried to beat out the flames, but did not succeed and the signal was given to drop the fire-proof curtain. Owing to the fact that a rope, with which the "aerial ballet" was manipulated, had been so fastened that it obstructed the movements of the curtain, the latter could not be lowered for some time. When it was finally released the fire had made such progress on the stage that the employes became panic-stricken and opened a large double door in the rear of the stage, leading to the court behind the theatre, through which the scenery was brought into and out of the theatre. The terrific draft caused the asbestos curtain to bulge out into the auditorium. In a few minutes it tore and fell, and immense volumes of smoke and flames poured into the playhouse. At that time most of the seats in the house had been emptied by the panic-stricken spectators, and they were crowding through the exits as fast as they could. When the smoke and flames poured into the auditorium, sweeping the whole interior, hundreds were overcome. They fell in heaps right at the exits, and were suffocated by the hot air and smoke. Those on top of the pile were scorched beyond recognition. The situation was greatly aggravated by the fact that the ushers fled for safety without stopping long enough to unlock and unbolt the fire exits provided for on every floor. The spectators, finding the safety exits bolted and locked, were compelled to seek release from the fiery furnace behind them through the main exits on the Randolph street side. While crowded around these exits during the jam they were overpowered by the smoke and flames and perished. Only a few saved their lives over the fire escape which they reached from the balcony. The fire was soon under control. At first it was not thought that the loss of life had been great and the full extent of the disaster was not realized until the firemen reached the upper floors of the house, where they found the dead piled six or eight high, and headed for the exits, and those on top terribly burned. The scenes that followed beggar description. The police department took charge of the removal of the hundreds of bodies and they were taken to the various morgues and undertaking establishments where they were laid in rows on the bare floors, to await identification. Many of the bodies were so terribly burned that recognition was possible only through bits of clothing or pieces of jewelry or possibly a gold-filled tooth. In the course of time all of the 600 victims were fully identified with the exception of one woman, whose identity has always remained a mystery. A subscription and her remains were buried in Montrose cemetery. At her grave today hundreds of sorrowing people gathered to take part in the ceremonies attending the dedication of the monument. Tear-stained faces were in the crowd and during the services sobs accompanied the words and prayers for the victims, memory of whom was still fresh.

NEWS MELANGE FROM COTTAGE GROVE AND VICINITY Personal and General Items From South Lane City

Miss Lottie Veatch, of Eugene, is spending the holidays with her sister Mrs. Fred Churchill. Duke Knox is getting out 400 Comice pear trees on his place east of town, filling up the space between his two old orchards north of the O. & S. E. railroad track. A. S. Buchanan, a brother of Mrs. H. H. Veatch, arrived at this place recently with his wife from New York, to spend the holidays at the home of his sister. S. B. Moss having sold his home and four acres of his farm east of town, is building a nice new eight-roomed cottage on the remaining part of his fruit farm. William Perman and Frank Clements, of Roseburg, have been spending the holidays with Cottage Grove friends. Mr. Perman received a large number of D'Anjou pear trees with which to plant his ten-acre tract near this city. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Abrams and Miss Francis Howard, of Cottage Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Abrams of Eugene went to Salem Thursday to spend the holidays with O. O. McClellan and family. "Bill" Monroe, an erstwhile bad man, came in to "clean up" the old town the other day, and he did—with a street broom and a ball and chain. He found out that Marshal Snodgrass is doing business at the same old stand, the "pinching" of bold, bad men being one of his specialties. W. T. Kayser returned home from Portland last week, where he served 29 days as a federal trial juror instead of a grand juror, as formerly stated. Mr. Kayser says that while the jurors were kept pretty busy and locked in the jury room 24 hours on one case, they had time enough to visit most of the places of interest about the metropolis. This week a deal was consummated in which W. T. Kayser becomes sole owner and manager of the Cottage Grove Transfer Company, Frank Garoutte retiring after having been engaged in the business with Mr. Kayser for some time. Mr. Kayser is a hustler and will take care of the local dry business in first-class shape. Mr. Garoutte has not announced his future business intentions.—Leader.

PRELIMINARY PAVING WORK AT ALBANY

A couple of representatives of the Warren Construction Company, of Portland, arrived last evening, and are making arrangements to begin work on the Albany pavement before January 1, as provided by the contract. They will be here several days, securing a place for their rock crusher and material, and formally starting the work. The actual work of paving, though, will not begin until the weather settles sufficiently in the spring, when it will be pushed and the seven blocks completed by the first of July, as provided by the contract.—Democrat.

IRVING ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.) Irving, Dec. 30.—E. G. Briggs and wife spent Xmas with Mr. Briggs' parents in Irving. Mrs. D. Frisbie visited in Eugene several days last week. Miss Beckley came home with her to spend her vacation here. The Grange held a very interesting session at the hall Saturday. The society is gaining in numbers rapidly, and expects to build a hall soon. Ell Bond had the misfortune to lose a good horse Sunday night. It climbed into the manger, thereby breaking a leg. Mrs. Thos. Campbell and son Wilbur were guests of Irving friends recently. The Irving boys have organized a band and are going right along. Quite an interest is being manifested in the same. Our best wishes are with them. Misses Josephine and Eleanor Jensen attended the wedding of their brother at Millersburg last week. The year 1908 will soon be past, with all the joys and sorrows incident to life. Yet we are loath to part with the old year, to enter into another, unknown and untried. We have many bright places in the past to dwell upon with pleasure, and only by a life of faith and trust could we contemplate the future. The experiences of the past should enable us to improve the future and make ourselves happier as well as those with whom we come in contact. "Happy new year to all."
