FOR TEN DAYS YEARLY
SUBSCRIPTIONS COUNT MORE

The next ten days will no doubt be the most strenuous of the big exposition contest. The special offer of vote coupons for yearly subscriptions to the Daily and Weekly Guard will be taken advantage of by every candidate to the fullest possible extent. It means a big boost for everyone who gets out among her friends and succeeds in enlisting their active support, and the results achieved will have a great bearing upon the final result of the contest. Those candidates who build up a big reserve of vote coupons to swell their total at the close of the voting will be in a splendid position to win the trip to Seattle, and one of the grand prizes as well.

The trip is sure to be a great vacation when the summer weather comes and there can be no more delightful place for an outing than Seattle and its environs about Puget sound. The exposition, where all the achievements of the world, in art, science and inventions are gathered, will be an educational feature, made entertaining by the wonderful schemes for amusement that will be

OBITUARY.

Elia M. Kompp, daughter of J. M. and M. A. Kitchen was born at Irvin, Oregon, July 17, 1882 and died Jan. 21, 1909, aged 26 years, six months and four days. She was married to C. K. Kompp, October 25, 1889, whom, with one daughter, Gladys, 7 years old, a father and mother, one sister and a brother, together with numerous relatives and friends, she leaves to mourn their untimely loss, one sister having died six years ago. In early womanhood she was converted and had lived a consistent Christian life ever since and died in the same faith, having said to her husband a few days before her death, "I have left it all with the Lord, what more can I do?" She was sick about six weeks and suffered great pain, but bore up nobly until the last, and death came as a blessed relief to her, but oh, such a shock to those who were left behind! Her funeral was held at her late home at 31 West Sixth street on January 22, attended by a large circle of sorrowing relatives and friends and her remains were laid to rest in the family lot in L. O. O. F. cemetery.

ENLARGING LOCAL

TELEPHONE OFFICE

Company Will Occupy the West Room of Building With Business Office

The work of connecting the west room of the Elks' building, occupied by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., with the east room in which the telephone office is now located, was begun this morning and when the doors and arches are completed the business department of the company will occupy the west portion of the building, leaving the east room for the exclusive use of the operating department.

New switchboards are here and others are on the way. They will be installed as soon as possible and after the work is completed the good service which has so long been promised the Eugene public will be had. The service has been poor today on account of the torn up condition of the office and the noise made by the carpenters.

Needlecraft Shop, formerly 382 Washington street, now at 147 Sixth street, between Morrison and Alder, Portland. January needle work sales now on.

PORTLAND
PUBLIC MARKET
363 STALLS

The future great money-maker of Portland? Four-fifths of the stalls have been taken, but a few good locations still remain.

Owned and Controlled by Portland Men Independent of all Meat, Fruit-Growers, Dairy Trusts

Covers an entire block, two floors, 363 stalls, 30,000 square feet of space devoted to market stalls, 300,000 cubic feet additional space used for cold storage and ice making.

Moving Stairway to Second Floor

Reinforced concrete building, marble fittings. Refrigerated counters free. Located in an ideal market centre—Fifth, Sixth, Glisan and Hoyt streets—reached by all car lines for one fare—near East Side bridges and directly in front of the new East Side bridge.

One Street Section Reserved for the Farmers Building Now Under Construction. Opens in April

The stalls in the Seattle Public Market, which was opened one year ago, now each commands a premium of $2000 and upward. Portland needs just such a retail market as we are building and it will score a big success. Rentals, $18 a month and upward, including heat, light, janitor service, counters, refrigeration, etc.
