GENERAL NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Little business of importance is forecasted in Congress for the coming week. In official circles the arrival of the Taft party in Panama and the beginning of the inspection of the canal work there will occupy attention.

The navy will be interested in the launching of the giant battleship Delaware, which is to go overboard at the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company Saturday.

The ships of Admiral Sperry's fleet will rendezvous the first of the week at Negro Bay, Morocco. At the end of the week they will reassemble at Gibraltar in readiness for the homeward trip. They are due at Hampton Roads on February 22, when they will be reviewed by the President.

William J. Bryan will visit Tampa Thursday for the purpose of speaking at the annual Florida State Fair, which will open in that city the preceding day.

The efforts to secure the submission of a Statewide prohibition amendment in Texas will be fought out in the Legislature of that State, the House having agreed to take up the measure for further consideration next Thursday. Test votes already taken have shown the prohibition faction to be several votes short of the required two-thirds necessary to secure the enactment of the bill.

Musical organizations in Europe and America will hold celebrations Wednesday in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, the famous German composer.

Representatives of all the civilized nations will meet in international conference in Shanghai to discuss measures for checking the cultivation and sale of opium, particularly in India and China. The United States has appointed commissioners to the conference and will take a prominent part in the proceedings.

The National Automobile Show for the West will have its opening in Chicago Saturday and will be continued through the following week. Announcement is made that the exhibition will be the largest and most notable of the kind ever held outside New York.

Dr. Charles W. Elliot, the retiring president of Harvard University, will leave Boston the end of the week for an extensive tour of the South and Southwest. In the course of his trip he will attend reunions of Harvard ### clubs and speak at universities and colleges in Texas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

SOCIAL QUEENS RUN PASADENA HOTELS

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 30.—To borrow the words of an exalted authority, Pasadena society women had the old stunt of "running a newspaper for a day" beat to a frazzle today, when they took charge of the big Maryland Hotel and operated it for a day for the benefit of charity. All of the regular employees of the hotel went on vacation, while well known society women took charge of the desk, the dining room, billiard room, kitchen, baggage and parcel room and all other departments of the big hostelry. Young debutantes fetched ice water and performed the duties of "bell hop" while their mamma and older sisters looked after the culinary end of the establishment and saw to it that no guests received accommodations without payment in advance. From chambermaid to chef all of the employees for the day were women well known in Pasadena's most exclusive circles. While the women were actuated by purely charitable motives, the charity did not extend to the hotel "beat." With the new managers in charge it was a case of settle or get out. The proceeds of the venture will be used to build a home for Pasadena trained nurses.
