

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

RAILROAD KING NO LONGER THE SILENT SPHINX OF YORE

EDWARD H. HARRIMAN.

San Antonio, Tex., March 10.—The news stories sent out from San Antonio regarding Edward H. Harriman, who has been encamped for some time past at Hot Wells, a suburb of this city, no doubt read like wild imagination to those acquainted with the great railroad magnate. But they are true, and therein is the wonder of it.

For Harriman, the astute, the unapproachable, the bugaboo of interviewers for many years, became of a sudden a changed man. Today he is one of the most approachable men in the public limelight of the United States. Just what brought about this change of front in Mr. Harriman is a matter of mystery to the newspaper men of Texas.

Refuse to be interviewed by a reporter? Not Mr. Harriman. "Step right into my tent," he says. "What was it you wanted to ask me about—our railroad policy as concerns Texas, you cry? And lo! Mr. Harriman, the erstwhile sphinx, discusses almost garrulously with a common reporter just what he thinks it will be best for a certain road under his control to do during the next twelve months; hints that Texas legislation is a little too severe to warrant him in spending much money in this state for the present; denies that his daughter Mary is going to wed Robert Walton Goetz, the Illinois Central director, who was for several days a member of his party, though admitting that as regards this particular matter most of the talking will be done from "the New York end of the line," meaning Mrs. Harriman; laughs when told of how Mr. Goetz was arrested by a San Antonio policeman for speeding in an automobile—in fact, almost anything that the newspapers want Mr. Harriman to talk about, he has talked about, and he has talked fully, frankly and freely, without any evident attempt at subterfuge or evasion. To one newspaper man who called at his tent, Mr. Harriman presented his latest photograph, double cabinet size, and exquisitely executed in sepia; to another he extended a hearty invitation to dinner, which was accepted.

When Mr. Harriman reached San Antonio he was suffering rather severely with twinges of a rheumatic affection in one of his shoulders. Originally his intention was to remain for only a few days, but so efficacious was the south Texas ozone and the simple life of which the financier at present professes to be enamored that his rheumatism at once gave evidence of a hasty flight, and he decided to prolong his stay. And it is the genuine simple life that Mr. Harriman has been leading. As far as practicable he eschewed business, drove railroad building and schemes of empire from his head, and spent his days automobiling, golf and other outdoor pastimes.

That this giant of finance has an extremely human side, which is not hard to touch, was made evident soon after his arrival here, when a reporter asked him if he would not like to go with Mr. Roosevelt on the latter's trip to Africa. With a blinding memory of the president's recent characterization of him as an "undesirable citizen," Harriman replied, with a sardonic smile, "Yes, I would greatly enjoy a trip to Africa, but I believe I would much prefer to choose my company on such a trip."

The gist of the wizard's utterances while here is seen in one single utterance itself: "We have made all of the Harriman roads good roads. It is the best system in the world today and we are constantly working to make it better. We are not taking money out of the country; we are putting more money into development. The railroads are the greatest force of civilization at work today. In olden days the population was thinned by civil wars. Now the country is crowded and the people must find new homes. I take it that it is scarcely necessary to point out the part which railroads play in opening up new country."

IN MEMORIAM.

Written in memory of little Isabel Raney, who departed this life March 5, 1909, aged nine months to a day. She leaves a mother and father and one brother. Isabel was a sweet baby, loved by all who knew her. Jesus said "Suffer little children to come unto me." May God bless the bereaved parents.

Farewell, little Isabel,
You have crossed the dark river
Where kindred and friends
Are with you forever.

God took our little darling,
Just bidden here so soon,
And kept her with the angels
In Paradise to bloom.

We miss her little prattle,
So innocent and bright,
When we come in at morning,
Noon and then at night.

No more we hear her little voice,
No more her dear face we see,
But little Isabel, darling,
We will always remember thee.

No papa hand so kind,
No mama hand so true,
Could assist thee, little darling,
Leaving this world of woe.

But others kindly stood there
Beside the little bed
To make the way more easy
And to hold their aching head.
A FRIEND.
